The Copper's Nark in Quebec

Of Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec it may be said, as it was said of Lytton, that "it is a delight to observe the tremendous struggles he makes to save himself and his country from being swallowed by the spirit of the times." His war against margarine affords an interesting case in point. For some time Quebec police have had the right to confiscate any car, truck or bus which is found to be carrying margarine across the Quebec boundary, and the sale of margarine in Quebec is illegal. Nevertheless, a lot of margarine finds it way into Quebec somehow, which suggests that people like margarine better than they like the laws respecting it. And so the Premier has hit upon a new plan; in future any citizen who gives information to the police which leads to the apprehension of anyone selling margarine will receive half the fine im-

It will be interesting to see whether this inducement creates a class of common informers in Quebec. The common informer has not had many opportunities in Canada, and he has been disappearing in other civilized countries. In an expensive operation to take 24 play-Britain during the nineteenth century there were people who made a living by informing; with a knowledge of the laws which were advantageous to them these "copper's narks", as they were then called, roamed the streets, looking for violations which would permit them to lodge information and collect a fee. It was a detestable trade, and at last legislation was undertaken to put an end to it. We cannot rejoice to see the profession of "copper's nark" revived in

Good Luck, Orfuns! Tomorrow in the Exhibition Park the Peterborough intermediate rugby team, known lustily as the Orfuns, plays one of the most important games of its fine career. It is meeting the winner of the Quebec league. Tomorrow's game decides hibition Park is crowded with boosters, the Peterborough Orfuns have a better chance of winning. We are glad to give a vigorous shout now, to encourage more shouts tomorrow.

This team really deserves the success that curious British statesman Lord it has already had, and in our prejudiced opinion, it deserves to win tomorrow and to go on to the final laurels to be got in the West. The players have skill, stamina and fine hearts. More than that, the team is virtually the only sporting team in major games in major leagues in the entire Dominion to be really and truly amateur. Not one player has received a nickel, from gate receipts, supporters or promoters or from any other source this season, for his playing. The team has been playing, and giving spectators, professional performance by amateurs. In fessional performance by amateurs. In ressional performance oy amateurs. Parliamentary Mailing Privileges

Following our remarks of yesterday about the decline in the postal service in Canada we have been attracted by an article in the Toronto Telegram which says that the free mailing privileges extended to government departments, agencies and members of Parliament cost the country about $4,000,000 a year. Mr. Watson Sellar, Canada's Auditorsays. If three millions of dollars a year

Parliamentarians must have some privileges, and the mailing privilege is an obvious one, even though some parliamentarians abuse it scandalously. But why should every piece of mail from every Government department travel Particularly, why should press agent's handouts, mimeographed by the thousand, be scattered over the country for nothing when, as is so often the case their final home will be the waste-paper basket of some busy editor or businessman, who has neither time nor inclination to read them? During the past twenty years the mails have become clogged with material of this sort, originating in Government offices, and posted at the people's expense.

A reason for this comes to mind. The building was not erected as a city building, but as a business block. It was built in 1863-64 and telegraph agency. Railway, and who never lost interest in this country; the other was his cousin, who afterwards, as Lord Minto, became Governor-General of Canada in 1898. These two young General of Canada in 1898. These two young men, according to the story told to me by the Earl of Powis, explored the Rocky Mountains on ponies, and then traded their ponies to the engineer in charge of the construction of the C.P.R. for a free ticket back to Ottawa, where their cousin, the Earl of Lansdowne, was then residing at Rideau Hall. For a time the Earl of Minto was military secretary to Lord Lansdowne. On their way back to Eastern Canada, these two young "explorers' stopped off at Toronto, and went to the house of the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir John Beverley Robinson for breakfast. The late Earl of Powis, used to tell with a humorous twinkle in his eye of the efforts of Lady Beverley Robinson to discover exactly who he was, and to what Herbert family he belonged Eventually she said to him: "By the way Mr. friend of ours, General Sir Percy Herbert? was to General Sir Percy Egerton later of the Indian mutiny. He was present at siège and fall of Sebastapol. He received a hero's reception when he returned to his native county from the wars. The late Earl of Powis, during his trip through the Canadian Rockies in the early '80's, collected some fine specimens of the plants which were growing on the mountains at that time, and like the keen botanist that he was, kept them carefully preserved in a cabinet in his study at Powis castle

POWIS CASTLE was the Welsh seat of the Earl. It is situated in the county of Montgomery, near the town of Welshpool. The express train which runs from Padding-ton station in London to the Welsh coast every day, makes its first stop, after the turn at Shrewsbury into Wales, at the town of Welshpool. As it passes out of the station, one sees sitting on the right, high up on the wooded hillside which overhangs the town, the red sandstone castle, called now Powis Castle, and in earlier times Castell Goch (the Red Castle). The history of the castle is alnost the history of Wales since the Normans came to Britain in 1066. It was as long ago as 1109 that Cadwgan ap Bleddyn, Prince of Powys, tried from his red castle to maintain a balance of power between his Welsh over-lord in Gwynedd and the new Norman power to the east. The struggle was a hard one and it was not until nearly two centuries later that his descendant Owen ap Gruffyd resigned into the hands of Edward I, and became one of the many feudal barons holding from the English crown. At that time the Weish Princes ceased to rule in Powys.

IT WAS IN 1587, that Sir Edward Herbert brother of the Earl of Pembroke, purchased Powis Castle and it was his son William 1629. King Charles visited the castle during those troublous times, and the canopied bed in which he slept is still preserved in the same bedroom and is shown to visitors to the castle with the rest of the furnishings. The then Lord Powis was later made a Duke, ligious strife, the castle was in the hands of Dutch owners. When, however, the son of the exiled Duke returned to his castle and estates, with the title of Marquis, he continued the work of the Rochefords, and greatly improved the castle and its grounds. A magnificent staircase was built, ceilings and walls were painted by Lanscroom, and noble terraces overlooking the Severn valley were erected These balustrated terraces are still a feature of what is undoubtedly the noblest castle in Wales today.

THE HERBERT FAMILY to which the Rt. Hon. George Charles, fourth Earl of Powis of the present line, belonged, is indeed a noted one To it belonged Lord Her-bert of Cherbury, and George Herbert, the famous poet, who was born at Montgomery castle, a family seat some seven miles from Powis, now in ruins. The Herberts have al-ways been warriors as well as large landowners, and many honours and titles have been bestowed upon them during the cen-turies. The honours of this noble clan of Marchmen makes a long list. They include the Marquisate of Powis, two earldoms with the title of Pembroke, two with that of Powis, and the earldoms of Huntingdon and Montgomery, Porrington and Carnarvon, the viscouncies of Montgomery and Ludlow, four-teen baronies and seven baronetcies. Montreal Lakeshore Flyers arrive this evening for the Eastern Canada intermediate "A" grid final with Orfups tomorrow aft at Morrow Park. The Q.R.F.U. champs and the O.R.F.U. vic tors will battle it out to a Saturday decision for eastern honors and the right to hit for Winnipeg next weekend in quest of the Canadian crown. The most important football fray in Peterborough for many years-and it should draw a record crowd. Coach Tony Kotowski and his players are grimly confident they won't let their followers fown, but they look for a hard-fought fray all the way. This is championship football by the two best "A" teams in Eastern Canada. Orfuns' numbers are listed on programs at the southend park, and P.A announcer Stan McBride will give a running commentary the game for those on hand.

Here are the names and numbers of Montreal Lakeshore Flyers—as given us by Dr. Chenoweth: Harry Shagrue (50), J. McKinel (51), J. Birmingham (52), D McDonald (53),

Whether or not you can put the snatch on a Grey Cup ticket, you will be able to buy a Grey Cup program this year, we hear.
They will be put on newstands next week to help keep radio football fans posted on Canada's biggest sports spectacle Nov. 29. The program is to be a combined football year book and program, containing lineups of Edmonton Eakimos and the eastern winnerheforehand, parade, statistics, players' pictures and all that sort of thing. It's the first time such a stunt has been tried and we thought it might interest a lot of folks in this district. That "Grey Cup madnegs" hits many thousands late in November each year who aren't ordinarily interested in football or even sports. It sort of cements four nation closer when east plays west for the big trophy

In downing the strong Kingston senior "B" puckisits twice in a row to open their season the Oshawa Truckmen, new entry in our group this season, showed they're going to be a real contending club. The Petes will know how strong they are when these clubs clash here tonight for the first time. Ab Barnes has these players in his lineup: Denny Pallister, Tommy O'Connor, Jack Marshall, Jack Naylor, Red Peters, Jack Thaler, Rocky Roach, Gar Peters, Ernie Dickens, (former N.H.L. player), Bill Berwick, Ron Nelson, Jerry Scott, Jack Tisdall, Jed Wilson, Gord Boniface, Bob Holden, Frank Hooper and George Samolenko. A lot of talent there, but then the Petes are tough to take on home ice, too. It promises to be quite a struggle.

Vics Take a Victory

The Triple Links were triple jinxed by the Vics of Kingston wn, Senior the junior shone in goal and set Oddfellows down. That's poem, or is it? Anyway, 'twas 7-2 for the Vics o'er Links last eve junior "B" play in the Limestone City, and goalie Senior was e main difference. Territorial play was quite even in a fast-stepping d rather rugged joust, 23 penalties being passed out. A fight broke out in the third with Senior, Wilson, Maracle and Twist all mixed up ern in if, first two drawing majors and last pair match penalties. Doug Cup ortimer's scrappy young hustlers made it a battle all the way, but bould only beat Senior once, and the Vics finished somewhat stronger Singston comes here in the return match Monday night.

Plenty of rubber flying at Civic Arena last gloaming as the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association opened generalizes with five tilts. First two were one-sided frays with Shamrocks downing the bantam Trojans 16-1, and midget Aces knocking off Norwood 12-0. Losing clubs no doubt will improve plenty ere the season advances much. Aces pulled out a 4-2 victory over the juvenile Marines in a good game, while Otonabee Wolves and midget Shamrocks fought to a 2-all draw. Final fixture for the night saw Havelock juves beat Shamrocks by a 7-4 count. There's a six o'clock cont tonight betwirt own.

Kingston Vics defeated Oddfellows 7-2 at the Limestone City Thursday night, in a fast, hard-fought and penalty-studded junior "B" hockey struggle before a fair-sized crowd. Referees Bill Holway and Art Casterton meted out 23 pen-alties, of which Oddfellows drew 10. Despite the score, the

Reynolds and Maracle in turn drew reproach for holding, high-sticking and tripping respectively. At 12.35, the flashy Mortimer boys hit pay dirt as Bill Twist, Gord Coyle and Clare Ferguson stormed the rival cage on a fast attack with the latter potting the disc on a wild scramble. Penalties to McCracken, Cherry, Senior and Gardner reduced the squads to four aside at the three-quarter mark as tempers flared; and Referees Bill Holway and Art Casterton meted out 23 penalties, of which Oddfellows drew 10. Despite the score, the game was keenly contested and fairly even on territorial play; but Kingston proved the better opportunists when openings came, whereas the visitors were outlucked on countless thrusts as Goalie Bob Senior gave a phenomenal display of goaltending to foil Oddfellows, best efforts, supported by the fine defending of Ted Reynolds, Ed Maracle, Tony Pettit and Monty Montgomery on the rearguard.

OPENED SCORING

Ed Maude opened scoring early for Vics when he took a short pass from Dick Cherry deep in Oddfellow territory and backhanded a fast one past Wingett. A minute later, Don Senior gave the homesters a further edge on a fast drive from the left wing boards. Oddfellows came backhard, as play steamed up with a measure of roughness as Floyd, Reynolds and Maracle in turn drew reproach for holding, highsticking and tripping respectively. mate, drew three to finish second and third.

The only other first place ballot went to Nelseans took over first place from the Montrealers by one point. This performance in Montreal Forum showed the Toronto boys were practicing what Smythe has been preaching.

The league shuffle wasn't confined to Montreal. In Chicago, Sid Abel's Black Hawks, bogged down by a three-game losing streak, came up with a 6-2 win over the luckless New York Rangers and slid into a second-place tie with the Canadiens.

And in Detroit the Red Wings showed some of last year's championship form by shutting out Boston Bruins 3-0. The victory sent the Wings one point and of the Bruins into fourth position with 15 points.

Or

Mantle, his sensational outfield mate, drew three to finish second and third.

The only other first place ballot went to Nelson Fox, Chicago second baseman, who finished seventh in the point totals.

On the basis of 14 points for a first-place vote, nine for second and so on down to one for 10th, Shantz totalled 280 points Reynolds had 183 and Mantle 143, followed by Yankee Yogi Berra with 104.

Cleveland spotted four men in the first 10, including Early Wynn (23-12). Bob Lemon (22-11) and Mike Marcia (22-11). Wynn was fifth, Lemon eighth and Garcia ninth. Al Rosen, third baseman with 28 homers and 105 runs batted in rounded out the Cleveland contingent in 10th place.

Terris Fain, the Athletics' first beseinan and battling champion for the second successive year, finished sixth.

In the second period Hawks rang up there quick goals by Jim up three quick goals by Jim Peters, Doc Coture and Gus Mort-son. The Rangers replied with only a single, by Nick Mickoski. Hawks filled up the scoring sheet in the third with one by young Pete Conacher.

SAWCHUK REGAINS FORM

Terry Sawchuk rang up his second shut-out of the season by turning back the Bruins at Detroit. But more impressive was the work of Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe. Lindsay scored twice and assisted on another goal, while Howe was credited with two assists. By gathering up these points the two wingers moved into a tie with Maurice Richard of Montreal for the N.H.L. scoring lead. All have 17 points.

ALL WORK OUT

The boys in all the forms have been working out in PT classes since school opened. They all covered the track at least twice during classes and from those tests runs the best 10 runners in each class were chosen.

All the boys left the starting line at the same time and were given points as they crossed the finish line. The team with the least points was the winner.

In chalking up the victory the 10A team totalled only 272 points, well ahead of the second place 10C lads with 328 and the third place team of 10B with 350 points.

The Grade 9 champion, also the fourth place team, was 9F2 boys with 419 points.

Manpower Build-Up Brings Bevy Of Human Problems

Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — The army's four of five applicants and took men with junior matriculation as brought an onslaught of human problems with it.

The degree of absenteeism has risen. The level of intelligence has skidded. Despré barriers, criminals and misfits seep in and have to be weeded out. Discipline comes harder. The problems of the married man are complex and encless.

This sort of thing is inevitable in any army whose character and size are suddenly and drastically changed. It remained for an outspoken battalion commander, Lt.-Col. H. V. Matthews of Toronto, to focus attention on it. He did so publicly in a speech which is likely to bring him a rap on the knuckles. Serving officers are not supposed to speak their minds like that in public.

At Kitchener, Ont., Tuesday, he said half the would-be recruits are the break down and have to be discharged, that there is a lack of cleanliness, apathy towards sports and much absenteeism and illiteracy among the soldiers.

HEADQUARTERS MUM

Nobody at headquarters is talking for publication, but the reaction among those who spend a lot of time dealing with these headaches goes something like this:

There is truth in what he says but it also is true that, despite these problems, the army has sent to Korea and Germany brigades which are said by foreign observers to be unsurpassed in quality and skill.

The change that has overcome the army since Korea makes these problems inevitable. Before Korea, it was a small 20,000-man force of specialists designed as a nucleus for wartime expansion. Today it is a 48,000-man operational force with 13,000 men abroad. Its fighting units have multiplied fourfold.

In an address to the 125 cadets after a march past, Mr. Massey said the college is a place where men of three services and two cultures come together to be deucated for a common task.

"This education is intended to fit you once more to defend our western Christian civilization whose roots, French and English, go far deeper than the bitter but passing struggles of the 17th and 18th centuries," he said.

NFED EVIDENT

Mr. Claxton said the need for the new college is evident

"At the time of Korea, the number of officers in the active forces of Canada was just over 7,300.

"Since then there has been qualified and appointed a total of 9,752, bringing the officer strength to the figure of 14,744, or double what it was 2½ years ago.

"That has meant, and means, additional demands and additional career opportunities for young Canadians."

HANNOVER (Reuters)—A total of 686 married officers and men of the Canadian 27th infantry brigade left for home yesterday after a year's service in Germany as part of North Atlantic treaty forces.

Many friends were at the station to see them.

Maj. G. J. Baird of Regina, commanding the first returning batch, said: "In 10 days we shall be back in Canada."

The commander of the 27th brigade, Brig. Geoffrey Walsh, who is returning home next month, saw the contingent off.

Their replacements—662 officers and men—arrived here within a few hours. Among them were Brig. J. E. C. Pangman, 42, of Toronto, who will take over from Walsh in December.

The United Church in Action is the underlying theme of the United Church of Canada Missionary Exposition now taking place in Peterborough.

Peterborough is one of seven Ontario cities to play host in 1932 to this latest educational project of the church.

The purpose of this exposition in its coast-to-coast presentations during tie next year is to show the average church member the work the United Church is doing in Canada and other countries of the world.

The four phases of the church's work, teaching, preaching, healing and helping, are being portrayed in pictorial exhibits, a pageant and films.

EXHIBIT AT TRINITY

The headquarters of the exposition is Trinity United Church where the exhibit, consisting of scenic displays and electrical models is open to the public today, Monday and Tuesday in the afternoons and evenings.

The exposition opened Taursday night with a supper for the official board members of all the United Churches in the Peterborough, Lindsay, Oshawa and Cobourg presbyteries.

Tonight a supper will be held at George St. United Church for the young people of the four presbyteries. The evening's speakers will be the Rev. Robert Morris, by Toronto, and Bob Chapman, of Peterborough.

Saturday is Children's Day at the exposition. A special program to the presentation of the caps and western Canada.

The Exposition team includes the Rev. Arthur Kewley, secretary of the Missionary and Maintenance Department who is team chairman; Prof. C. W. David, of India; the Rev. Floyd Honey, returned missionary on furlough from Africa; and Miss Helen Currie, of the Missionary of the Miss

Cigarettes Loot For Pirates

The modern-day pirates made themselves at home for 10 days on the freighter, keeping the crew locked in the hold.

Spain, for repairs.

Subsequently, the Tangier maritime police seized a landing barge trying to slip into port for fuel and are holding its nine British, American and French crew members and a Dutch captain. No cigarets were found aboard and no charges have been made against the crew, being held incommunicado.

Algerian authorities discovered the 150-ton former British mine-layer Highland Lassie beached and abandoned near Djidjelli, a port 150 miles west of Bone. Aboard were stores of coffee and pipe to-bacco, but again no cigarets.

Regina's Business Booms, Up 95% For Part Of 1952

REGINA (CP)—Is business booming in Regina? Definitely, say clerks and managers of this city's retail stores. In some cases, sales have doubled over last year.

Reflecting the recent announcement that department store sales in Saskatchewan were 95 per cent higher for a given week than for the same week in 1951, Reginaretailers agree that things haven't been so good for a long time.

"Everybody seems to have money," said one salesman. All point to this year's record crop, added to the gathering in last spring of the crop left snowed

Between 11 and 12 in the morning and in the afternoon, between 4 and 5:30, the peak load zooms, largely because of the number of power consuming household gadgets being used.

Commissioner Dr. G. R. Langley pointed out that the commission is charged on the basis of peak load, rather than consumption. He suggested that "if we could forego any rate increases until the end of the year and appeal to the public to keep consumption of electricity down during the hours of 11 to 12 and to 5:30, we may not have to increase in the assessment of buildings for the tax basis of 1953.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA (CP)—A Toronto corporal provided the answer to a question that puzzled officers studying the Oct. 23 battle of Gibraltar Spur.

LCpl. Mel Nixon also produced proof that the attack, which caused 76 casualties in "Baker" company of the Royal Canadian Regiment, must also have been costly to the Chinese.

The puzzler was: How did the Chinese, who followed right in behind a 3,000-shell barrage, get into position so fast? The best guess was that they lay under the lip of the spur crest all day, waiting for the bombardment to go in.

USED SIX CAVES

Nixon, however, discovered that the Chinese actually tunnelled six caves into the forward slope of the crist, roomy enough for between 20 and 35 men each.

The caves Nixon found apparently were used as dressing stations during the battle. They were full of equipment, presumably removed from casualties.

Assigned with Pie, Robert Sproule of Lavant Station, Ont., as daytime outpost patrol, Nixon remembered that two nights before a patrol had lost some equipment in the area. Looking for it, he found the bddy of a Chinese of ficer, the hand grasping a bugle, and saw a cave nearby.

Nixon told The Canadian Press:

"There were piles of bloodied bandages in them, and a tremendous amount of gear. There were shell dressings, hundreds of bloodied winer coats, and there were shell dressings, hundreds of theory are even Canadian-manufactured brang use and rifles."

OCLLECTS GEAR

After reporting his discovery Nixon made two trips back to the caves for gear useful to intelligence officers. Sproule covered him from their outpost.

Then Lt. Col. Peter Bingham, R.C.R., asked over the telephone whether Nixon thought it possible of the chinese actually tunnelled six for the volunt tereside over the closely, Nixon returned to the caves a third time, examined the caves a third time, examined their lay-out carefully and drew a map.

Later, at Bingham's command post, Nixon heard the C.O. brief the officer who was to lead the demolition patrol, Lieut. E.

In this story, one of a series, D'Arcy O'Donnell, a veteran Canadian Press nariiamentary respectively. parliamentary reporter, describes what is in store for members of Parliament and discusses the prospects of an election.

OTTAWA (CP)—The seventh and possibly last session before a general election opens Thursday, Nov. 20, for Canada's 21st Parliament.

The legislative program at the moment is a government secret. If other pre-election sessions are a guide, it will contain little that is controversial and almost certainly some things pleasing to voters generally.

Another safe bet is that many of the speeches during the session will be directed more to voters at home than to listeners in the Commons. For a small fee, members obtain reprints of their speeches and mail them free to electors.

Fogged By Liquor Should Get Off Lawyer Argues

Constable Sherman Keliele testified he and Constable Grant Gillespie investigated an accident on Monaghan Rd., and Bolivar Sts., the evening of October 8. He said they followed a trail of liquid leading away from the accident north. It then was followed east on King St., north on Elias Ave., east on Charlotte St., south on Pearl St., and they lost track of the trail just after it turned west on King St., Constable Keliele said.

HIT CURB

As the cruiser was going west on King St., he said he noticed a car behind veer towand the north curb, strike the curb, bounce, then stop. Constable Keliele said he walked back to the car and found it was damaged all along the left side.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bond, Newcastle and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Adams, Orono, were guests the first of the week of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Adams.

walked back to the car and found it was damaged all along the left side.

He said Payne was alone in the car behind the wheel. The window was down, Constable Keliele continued and as he approached, he heard Payne say, "I was just going back to it."

He was "not sober enough to be driving a car, said constable Keliele in describing that Payne showed obvious signs of having been drinking. He smelled of beer and it took him a good three minutes of fumbling to get his driver's licence out of his billfold, the constable said. On the way back to the accident, he said Payne fell asleep.

Mr. Currelly tried to get the charge dismissed at the close of the crown's case. He argued there was nothing to connect Payne with the accident. Magistrate Philp said there was sufficient evidence to link him with the accident—the trail of liquid followed from the scene and the rad of Payne's car was damaged and there was his statement that he was going back, Magistrate Philp pointed out.

If Payne's statement connects aim with the accident, then he is not gulity because he was returning to the scene, Mr. Currelly replied, Magistrate Philp agreed.

the state, defence and possibly other departments.
His mission was regarded as preparatory to Eisenhower's conference Tuesday with President Truman. The purpose is to pave the way for a smooth transfer of the government from Democratic to Republican hands Jan. 20 Indications are that Truman directed his officials to co-operate fully in providing information to Lodge. Facts on the next government budget already are being laid before Eisenhower's special representative to the budget bureau, Joseph M. Dodge, who arrived Wednesday.

Three Charged In Scrap Theft From Army Camp

PEMBROKE (CP)—R J. C. Handford of the Crown Assets Disposal Corporation testified yesterday that the crown had sold only 60,000 pounds of scrap iron to Jack Jacobson, Brockville salvage dealer accused of taking about 600,000 pounds of scrap iron from nearby Petawawa military camp. Handford was the first witness hearby Petawawa military camp.
Handford was the first witness in the trial of Jacobson and two of his employees, D. C. Mawhinney and Amos Durant, charged with stealing material from the camp in 1850.

The crown company signed a contract with Jacobson for 60,000 pounds of scrap iron and steel valued at $22 a ton, Handford said.

BACON SQUARE (jow!)

(The smoked jowl is like side bacon, but a little fatter and slightly stronger in flavor. Less expensive too I might add quickly.)

Soak 2 cups dried, picked over navy beans in cold water to cover overnight. Drain, cover with fresh cold water add ½ teaspoon soda and simmer covered until tender. Drain again, reserving the liquid. Turn beans into 2-quart bean pot and add 1 small peeled enion. (Many a wonderful po' of baked beans has been made in a 5-lb. lard pail so don't worry if you do not own a bean pot.) Bury ¼ on the properties of the first sall in the pot, so that and the rind on dewn in the pot, so that and the rind and reserved per site and the rind and reserved per site and reserved per si beans has been made in a 5-lb. lard pail so don't worry if you do not own a bean pot.) Bury ¼ or p ½ lb. sliced Jacon square with rind on down in the pot, so that only rind is exposed. Put into a measuring cup 2 teaspoon sait, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard, ¼ teaspoon pepper, and ¼ cup molassés; stir well, then fill cup with boiling water. Pour over beans and mix in gently. Add sufficient of researed liquid, plus more boiling water if needed, to cover beans. Cover and bake 6 hours at 275 deg. Fahr. adding boiling water to barely keep beans covered as to barely keep beans covered as needed. Remove cover during last hour to brown beans. Wonderful on second day too.

Ingredients: One-half pound pink salmon; two cups white sauce; juice of one lemon; Worcestershire sauce; seasoning; two egg whites; Cine cup canned corn; bread crumbs.

Mix salmon, flaked, with thick white sauce. Add lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce. Season Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, and pour half the mixture into a buttered baking-dish. Pour in canned corn, sauted slightly, and then the rest of the mixture.

Cover with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a hot over unbs and bake in a hot over unbs.

DINNER DELICACY

Eggplant at dinner is a delicacy when prepared in this manner: Ingredients: One medium-sized eggplant; two cups corn flakes; cne-quarter teaspoon salt; one-eighth teaspoon papper.

Pare eggplant and cut. in one-half-inch slices. Soak in salted water for one hour. Drain thoroughly. Dredge in mixture of finely crushed cornflakes, salt and pepper. Saute on both sides in hot fat over medium heat until brown. Drain on soft paper. Yield: six servings.

For the main dish why not try pork chops prepared in this manner: Salt and pepper six thick chops and place flat in baking-dish. On each chop place one small and a cream style corn; one well beaten egg; pieces of pimento; salt and pepper. Will a pepper. Saute on both sides in hot fat over medium heat until brown. the custom. Hot meal dishes can be prepared during the morning, then heated up on a low burner for a few minutes just before the husband and children arrive.

Instead of leaving baking until the last minute, homemakers could do their pie and cake making earlier in the afternoon. Extra care should be taken to make sure heaters and ironers are switched off during both peak periods.

November and December are particularly bad months, because of long hours of darkness, and lights have to be turned on just when everyone is getting the evening meal.

Mr. Dobbin predicted that the peak will be higher this month than October, but just how high it goes, in the next few weeks, between now and the first of the year—will be the big factor the Commission will take into consideration in deciding whether or not higher hydro rates will be necessary in Peterborough in 1953.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y (CP)—
The problem of appointing a new secretary-general of the United Nations is being approached with caution and misgivings.

The necessity of getting agreement, among Britain, the United States, France, Russia and Nationalist China is the major hurdle to choosing a successor to Trygve Lie of Norway.

The difficulty is not only one of a Russian veto. Nationalist China previously threatened to veto any reappointment of Lie because before the outbreak of the Korean war he urged recognition of Communist China and membership in the U. N. for the foes of the Nationalists.

The plane was last heard from at 2:40 p.m. Friday, when its pilot reported to the Seoul control tower he was coming in for a routine landing.

Air Force spokesmen said there were scattered clouds at 1,200 feet—1,000 feet below the crest of the ridges—and it was possible the plane bored into the side of a mountain which the pilot did not know was in his path.

An investigating team from Tokyo flew to Korea and now is conducting an "exhaustive probe" of the disaster, the Air Force said.

winniper (CP) — Prices held to a narrow range and showed some hesitation yesterday on the winipped Grain Exchange in sympathy with declines on U.S. markets. The downward trend in U.S. grains was prompted by reports of moisture in the dry southwest. Despite all prices being lower at the close here, commercial demand was fairly aggressive, particularly in barley, which was taken by exporters. Domestic interests and shippers picked upoats. Flax uncovered some moderate buying by exporters and industrial interests. Rye trade remained local. Prices for Class 2 wheat were up one-half cent, while I.W.A. prices were down one-half cent. Our Licentious Soldiery?

The Reverend Harold Young of Toronto (formerly minister of George St. Church, Peterborough) says that reports he has received from the chaplains to the troops in Canada's 27th Brigade, now in Europe, are "disquieting" He says: "This is a masterpiece of understatement." Dr. Young is chairman of the Chaplain Service of the Canadian Council of Churches. Ever since Canadians went to Hanover and its environs reports have come back of disorderly conduct, night prowling, roistering. It is a tendency of any soldiers of any nation anywhere afield, when they are not actually in combat. This tendency is exaggerated when, as now, the soldiers are not resting from combat or preparing to meet a declared enemy. Canadian soldiers in Germany face a double threat to their ordinary orderly civilian Canadians have had little experience in general guard and garrison life in a foreign country, far removed from average Canadian civilian tabus. Canadian soldiers have proved themselves in every generation to be good fighting men; they have not demonstrated that they are as good in defence or garrison duties as, say, the British. They have to learn this wearisome work, with its irksome routines, disciplines and wastage of time It seems that they are not learning fast enough, nor are subordinating to their role as occupiers the tempers and animal spirits that have made them good fight-

The second upsetting element in the 27th Bridage's environment is the German civilian populace. The Germans were a defeated and destroyed people Among the victors and destroyers were Canadians. Canadian soldiers even the best behaved, are not likely to be received with cordiality, except by those Germans, men and women, who have given up all pretense to honesty. decency and upright spirit. There are natures. Reports coming to this country from various sources show that postwar Germany is pock-marked by immorality, licentiousness, thievery and other woes attendant on a disillusioned, disrupted people.

Into this Germany, on duties foreign spirits have been thrust. It is not to be wondered at that some of them, bored, far from the restraints of home, exposed in Canada, and carried away by the already in the Archives. gang-infection of khaki, have cut loose.

Obviously, the chaplain service and the army welfare service now provided the 27th Brigade are inadequate to meet neither by the representatives of the military in captain's uniform nor by the great bulk of papers going back to 1880, sat near me. In fact the first person to chew, the thing won't even have to sent to France by the Government of put into port.

French regime went only in the 1840's. He was none other than the Lower Canadian rebel leader of 1837, Louis Joseph Papineau. Papineau brought back with him ten volumes of transcripts of documents in the archives of Paris.

The circumstances indicate the wealth and poverty, problems and gaps and ravages of time in Canadian archives. Papineau could not get copies of the central records of the French administration. These records had been taken back to France by the Governor and Intendant of New France, in accord with the capitulation terms of 1760. They sophy it ranks with "We all breathe air." But at seventeen I suppose it is thrilling to think that everybody conceals something, perhaps something wildly romantic and desperate, pletely. They may have been destroyed pletely. They may have been destroyed by a fire there in 1786, or burned by revolutionaries—a great chapter of Canadian documentation gone for ever.

Earlier chapters of course exist, as in the records of the Hudson's Bay Company, and the Jesuit Relations. But even Papineau's transcribed documents suffered. Canada then had no official archives. Four of the ten bound volumes are still in the possession of the Literary and Historical Society of Quebec. The other six were put in the Library of Parliament, and were destroyed with the library when the Parliament Buildings in Montreal were burnt in 1849.

So through the years documents of great importance to Canada and her story have had vicissitudes, in collation and collection, in haphazard preservation and in finding them. In 1872 the Public Archives were established-by Parliamentary vote of only $4,000-to house public records known and already collected and to be a central repository for other documents. This helped the situation, but soon confounded confusion. Papers of historical worth came to it. So did much worthless, unindexed material.

Documents in other archives and state offices were laboriously copied for the Canadian Archives. The original "senior second class elerk" charged with looking after the archives-then a branch of the Department of Agriculture!-and his later status and assistance given him, could hardly cope with the tremendous task. Royal Commissioners of 1912 discovered that the holdings exceeded a million and a half cubic feet-"important and valuable documents . . . engulfed by rubbish "

The rubbish and cubic content have increased vastly. The Massey Commission, far from satisfied with the condition of state papers, reported last year that "the country is spending $350,000 a year in storing files of which probably at least fifty per cent. should be destroymany such crooked and twisted German ed." Cataloguing, and weeding-out are necessary, and also proper facilities to receive the really important papers and make them accessible. An important step towards this goal-and forever (it is hoped) to obviate misadventure, loss and destruction which have afflicted Canadian papers through the yearswas taken in 1950. Microfilming of docuto their natures, Canadian men of high ments was begun, not only to copy documents in the possession of other offices in Canada and abroad, but to set down on small film, easily managed, preserved to lax civilian standards undreamed of and stored, the pages of documents

The Journal of Samuel Marchbanks

CUNDAY: Was talking to a young w this afternoon who wore a handsome but very large and heavy ring, shaped like a mask of Tragedy; she was about seventeen, when Tragedy seems more attractive than Comedy, because one knows less about it, and has an appetite for strong flavours. Inside the ring was an inscription, "Wir tragen alle Masken"—we all wear masks This observation seems to me to be so true that it is something wildly romantic and desperate, behind their conventional appearance. It is only later that we realize that most are con-cealing something even less fascinating than the mask promises. Our faces are cheddrawn for thousands; our inner safe dep boxes contain a few corroded pence. Perhaps she did better than she knew to wear a mask of tragedy.

MONDAY: I am glad that the U.S. election is over. For nine months Canada has been like a household living next door to a been like a household living next door to a family which is expecting a baby; every twinge, every swelling of the ankles, every sick fancy has been reported to us, whether we liked it or not. We have been made parties we had it or not. We have been made parties to the uproarious and prolonged labour, and the shrieks of democratic parturition have almost deafened us. But now all is over; we know what sort of child it is, and how much it weighs, and we hope for a little peace. We have politely pretended to care, and of course we did care to some extent, but we can now permit ourselves to reflect that other people's politics is as tedious as other people's love affairs, or other people's religion. What chiefly interests me is the stress laid upon the character of a candidate's wife, or the reasons for his lack of a wife. And yet I have never heard of a wife of a U.S. Presiden who made much stir in the world, except for Mrs. Roosevelt who has achieved fame by saying through microphones things which most ladies of reasonable intelligence mutter through tea-biscuits.

TUESDAY: The Canadian Corps Association, I read with no enthusiasm, thinks that we should have another National Registration. I still have evidence that I was registered in 1940; the cleaning and pressing establishment which I patronized at that time made me a present of a handy little cardboard container, with its own name on the outside, and a place for my ticket in the Canadian union inside; through this humble but effective agency I have been able to preserve my identity. If memory does not play me false it was decided at that time that if national disaster befell, I could be snatched from my work as a writer for the papers, and set to work teaching school, or translating documents from a couple of foreign tongues or making speeches to keep up national morale. Since then I have toyed with visions of what would have happened if I had been put at any of these jobs: I would be a poor teacher, for the society of the young abrades my spirit; my knowledge of foreign tongues is of the sort which permits two on ancial mo three translations of even the simplest sen-that duty tences; as a morale-builder I am a fake. It Treasurer. is as well that I was never unleashed up my fellow-countrymen.

WEDNESDAY: A man of remorselessly statistical bent got at me this morning and told me that I have 8,760 hours to spend every year, and that when time for work, sleep, vacation, travel and meals has been deducted from that total I still have 1,930 hours every year—or 80 glorious, 24-hour days, to do with as I please. He then grinned and asked me what I did with them. Hating him for a pestilent pragmatic, I lied valiantly, but in my heart I know what I do with at least 60 of those days: I wait for people who are late for appointments; I read magazines and papers in which I am not really interested; I gape at movies which do not enthrall me; I listen to tales of woe from people for whom woe is too good; I trudge about the streets, pretending that I am thinking: I look at chess problems in the papers and wish that I could solve them; I wish that I had followed my early ambition and become a circus clown; I—but why extend the catalogue of futility? Yet I am a reasonably happy man, and I get modest pleasure even from my regrets for time past and opportunities missed. Only the mad or the very innocent expect to live richly every hour of innocent expect those 80 magic days.

day I fell into conversation with a woman, obviously from the country, who tion at the City Hall where no individual was pleasant enough, and I judged that she was suffering from some inconvenient but not serious malady. "You city people don't tric toilets and such". I marvelled at the quaintness of this idea, but did not feel capable of explaining the limitations of hydowith new eyes.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And again I say unto you. It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of heaven . . . Then answered Peter and said unto him, Behold, we have forsaken all, and followed thee; what shall we have therefore?

And Jesus said unto them, Verily I say unto you, that ye which have followed me, in the generation when the Son of man shall sit in the throne of his glory, ye also shall sit upon twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel. And every one that hath forsaken houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife or children or lands for my name's sake shall receive an hundredfold, and shall inherit everlasting life. (Matt. 19:24, 27-29.)

And there were dwelling at Jerusalem Jews, devout men, out of every nation under heaven . . . Then Peter said unto them, Re-pent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remiss and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost. (Acts 2:5, 38.)

Ye are the children of the prophets, and of the covenant which God made with your fathers, saying unto Abraham, And in thy seed shall all the kindreds of the earth be blessed. Unto you first God, having raised up his son Jesus, sent him to bless you, in turning away every one of you from his iniquities. (Acts 3:25, 26.) + + +

And by the hands of the apostles were many signs and wonders wrought among the people
... There came also a multitude out of the cities round about Jerusalem, bringing sick folks, and then which were vexed with unclean spirits: and they were healed every one. (Acts 5:12, 16.) + + +

Surely it is meet to be said unto God, I have borne chastisement, I will not offend any more: that which I see not teach thou me: if I have done iniquity, I will do no more. (Job 34:31, 32.)

INTERNAL AUDIT NOT GOOD ENOUGH Sir: In the recent past, the citizens of Peterborough have witnessed two outstanding instances of the City Auditor being the fin-ancial mouthpiece for the City, instead of that duty being performed by the City Let me say at once that there are no personalities involved in this matter so far as I am concerned, but merely a principle, which

The City Budget was planned and pre-sented by the Auditor. This should have been done by the City Treasurer. If the Treasurer is not capable of analyzing, presenting and answering questions on the City Budget, then the fault is squarely on the shoulders of those who put him there. Care should have been taken at the time of the appointment to see that he had all the qualifications necessary for such an important position.

Later when Dr. Langley made certain obervations on Utilities Commission financing, it was the Auditor who again answered the charge and not the Treasurer. This is wrong. The Treasurer should do these things, and not an auditor.

This brings up the matter of our city auditing, where we find the Auditor setting up the system, doing much of the work, and then auditing his own work. An internal audit is not good enough for a City the size of Peterborough. The idea is obsolete, The only proper audit is an outside audit by a person or firm quite independent of the audited

In short, what Peterborough needs is a Finance Commissioner of wide experience in the civic employ has sufficient understanding of this important phase of city manage ment. Here is something for the Council to face and correct.

Unable to locate the dean of Kawartha deer hunters, Bill Heard, 80, of Bridgenorth, because he is still away in camp the next best thing was to search for the youngest hunter. Harold Garner knew just the lad and on Thursday in company with Frank Hughes we drove up Catchacoma way and pulled up at the Rockcroft schoolhouse just at 4 p.m.

Twenty kids tumbled out at the final bell. We intercepted the Windover brothers, Norman, 12, and Bud, 6, who started off up the road home, a mere matter of a few miles. They got in the car and told us the latest news of hunting parties in that part of the country.

Norman can talk with more authority than most. Even at a tender schoolboy age, he is an expert. When he was ten he shot his first deer. Last year he shot three of them and today will be sitting out his was that daylight to bag another to match his $2 farmer's deer license.

DEER HUNTERS Norm and Bud Windover

A staid city alderman, so a story goes, steed to his deer watch manfully. But you know how cold and miserable that can be, most of the time. This hunter drew on all the tricks of his imagination to contrive ways to pass the time while keeping both eyes on the landscape. Finally, he took out his store teeth and was busily polishing them with his handkerchief when a deer bounded into range. In the general huffle scuffle the alderman somehow shoved the hanky into mouth, grabbed the gun, fired and missed. He also missed his snappers that were lying underfoot in the leaves

Deer hunters were so numerous in the Eastern Stony Lake triangle that they were saying "Excuse me" to one another as they walked to and from their watches. Don Hendren tells me.

A barbershop hot stove league of hunters listened to the proprietor tell of shooting a deer that had a horn growing straight out from its forehead. They almost succeeded in convincing the poor man that he was a law-breaker of the vilest order and that he was the only man in the world who had shot a unicorn for centuries

The up and coming teen-age generation of hunters - strolling boys with .22's-are a mighty sorry prospect. They go shooting on Saturday afternoons and pot anything that moves. It was great sport, for them, to shoot a family pet collie belonging to Archie Knott of North Monaghan and leave it lying there with a severed spinal cord until a veterinary surgeon put it out of misery. This is rotten

Are fathers such poor sports that they are incapable of steering their sons along the right path of sportsmanship?

I would suggest that an educational program by the conservation clubs is one of immediate need. Uninformed two-legged predators can be eventually controlled.

In another large camp of deerslayers a safety rule was made. All hunters going to and fro from their watches invariably bunched up together somewhere along the trails and it was decided that each man should unload his rifle. There were to be no accidents, the Master of the Hunt decided. It all worked out fine until one eve-No one had had a shot at anything and the boys were wandering home en masse. A big doe jumped into their midst scattering hunters in all directions. It got away. The camp rule was relaxed from that time forward, it is understood

.... While idly reading a 39-year-old Examiner file this week I was interested in a report of duck populations then on Rice Lake at this time of the year. Where the migrating birds rafted over the wild celery beds hunters and district folk tried to estimate their numbers. Apparently they were there in the millions and blacked out the sun as they flew to and from the water.

*That very afternoon I ran into Mrs. Harold Wilson of Highland View Lodge on Rice Lake, near Keene. She told me of a party of five American shooters that were coming to stay at her place for a few days of sport. Among their country to the leaves are covering a new or few days of sport. Among their number was a prominent world sportsman by the name of Russell Aiken—a friend of the Rooseveit sons. They were disappointed in their first go and upon driving to Malton Airport to meet another hunter friend they decided to cancel out their plans and push off elsewhere where birds were reported

Everything has to work like clockwork, even nature, for our tender young shoots and seed. American friends, it seems. To enjoy a few days of sport without getting full bag limits was not for them.

Flying back furiously in the third period here last night, the Petes earned a 5-3 O.H.A. senior "B" win over Oshawa Truckmen before a fair-sized early-season crowd. The hockey was by no means early-season style, both squads hustling hard throughout to dish up a dandy display. SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Edito

On two football fronts today Peterborough teams seek high hors. Bev Goulding's good P.C.V.S. squar is at Port Colborne for the sudden-death C.O.S.S.A. semor "A" final, a crown taken fairly frequently by the Garnet and Grey. Here in Morrow Park this att our Orfuns clash with Montreal Lakeshore Flyers. A sudden-death struggle to a decision for the Eastern Canada intermediate "A". championship. Winner of this tilt goes west next weekend to tackle Winnipeg for the Canadian crown. That's the picture as local football draws to a close for another year. No more will be seen here this semester, regardless of today's outcome.

This city certainly is turning out its share of titular teams in recent years. Getting to be quite an athletic centre indeed. Great stuff, though it does make for much extra work on the part of sports scribes. Seasons overlap regularly and one is following lacrossers well into the grid campaign, and then meandering along with a winning football club smack into the hockey season. You can't be in several places at once, so you must give precedence to the more timely and more important game in such cases. Since lacrosse finished, the gridders certainly rated special attention, but soon it'll be the puckists' turn once more. No rest for the weary . . .

Oddfellows Get Set

Next puck number on tap here is the O.H.A. junior "B" fixture Monday evening in Civic. Kingston Vics take on the local Oddfellows in their first tussle this young hockey season in Peter's borough They met the other p.m. in the Limestone City and Max Jackson's lads emerged victors. They'll find it tougher to take Doug Mortimer's men on home ice the first part of next week. Triple Link then trek to Lindsay-on-the-Scugog the very next night and are idle then the rest of the week. Two victories early next week would pull em right up around the top of the heap again. The Monday melee

You could go a lot further than Civic Arena last night or you could wait a lot longer in the puck season to see a better game than Oshawa Truckmen and the T-P-T Petes dished up Friday p.m. in the local arena. It ended 5-3 for Jim Ellis' squad, but regardless of that it was a fine fray. Both sides were really stepping all the way, fashioning smart pattern plays, checking effectively and getting top goaltending. Besides that, it was exceptionally clean. Each side counted once when the other had a man off-there were but three penalties in the game—so that indicates how well-matched they were. Every guy had to be on the ice and had to hustle. We enjoyed the tilt, surprisingly good for so early in the

Weekend's Games May See Shuffle In N.H.L. Standing

TOKYO (AP(— World flyweight champion Yoshio Shirai pounded out a unanimous decision here tonight over Dado Marino. Shirai staggered the former champion throughout the 15-round title fight but he wasn't able to knock out the Hawaiian-born Filipino.

It probably was the last night of a long career for Marino. He lost a long career for Marino. He lost a long career for Marino. He lost in the title to Shirai last May.

Every club but one in the National Hockey League could change its standing in weekend play with four points between fifth and first place. Toronto Maple Leafs are on top with 18 points. Montreal and Chicago are tied for second, one point behind, with Detroit fourth with 15 points and Boston Mith, four points off the pace. New York Rangers are far in the cellar with seven points.

Gall Craig, first among the Grade 13 academic scholarship winners, delivered the Valedictory Address.

She asked her classmates to consider whether or not they had been successful in acquiring an education. And what did they mean by education?

"It must consist of the acquisition of academic knowledge, but we still fail to be educated unless we have developed two abilities," she said.

"They are: 1. The proper use of our knowledge for the betterment of our fellowmen to enable them to work and play together in peace and security; and 2. a selfless attitude towards life—seeking the good things for others equally as for ourselves.

"True education, therefore, cannot be separated from the loftiest principles of living. It demands the highest moral development—honesty of thought, word, and deed. It began when we were little children and will continue as long as we live.

"Wherever we are, whatever our occupation may be, the opportunity to educate ourselves is always present," said Miss Craig. "It is the individual alone who can limit his education.

OPPORTUNITY

"In the past five years we have had a wonderful opportunity to secure knowledge of academic and technical subjects; a splendid chance to develop that moral quality which turns our knowledge into true education, as we worked and played together in extra-curricular activities (in school government, dramatics, music, literary work, school magazine and in opportunity to, school magazine and in limit higher and as we worked and played together in extra-curricular activities (in school government, dramatics, music, literary work, school magazine and in limit higher and a month of the propertury work, school magazine and in limit higher and the propertury work, school magazine and in limit higher and the propertury work, school magazine and in limit higher and the propertury work in the propertury work in the propertury work in the propertury work in the acquisition of th played together in extra-curricular activities (in school government, dramatics, music, literary work, school magazine and in sports)."

UK Coal Reserves Enough For Winter

RICH DEPOSITS

To meet the emergency, Britain, which possesses some of the world's richest coal deposits, even found it necessary to expend some of her hard-earned dollar reserves by importing coal from the United States. This was primarily to meet her own long-range export commitments.

States. This was primarily to meet her own long-range export commitments.

But all that has ended. There are more than ample supplies to satisfy domestic demands, even if the approaching winter is abnormally severe. And during the build-up the nation's export target has been progressively boosted to its present peak of 15,600,000 tons, double the figure of a year ago.

Since the export price of coal is up by approximately 25 per cent, foreign exchange earnings are expected to be increased to about £30,000,000 in 1951.

Fuel Minister Geoffrey Lloyd admits too many uncertain factors are involved to justify a positive forecast about future prospects.

"But if present trends continue," he said, "there is a possibility that next year we might. produce more coal than we did on an average in the years before the war and achieve a much bigger rate of increase of exports than this year."

LOST CUSTOMERS

Actually, the abundance of supplies almost came too late. Because of uncertain factors that brought and previous rises, boosts in export targets were delayed until the danger of shortages this year had based. By the time the government was in the market with increased supplies, many potential customers had already entered into contracts with other exporters, in the United States.

Observers are agreed there is a ready market in Europe for British from France, Germany, Belgium and Poland. They insist, however, the said, "there is a possibility that long-range orders will not be forthcoming unless increased production continues and customers are given assurance of prompt deliveries.

If that goal is realized, domestic coal rationing may end next spring with an annual administrative saving to the exchequer of some £1,500,000.

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON CP)—For the first time in years, British householders will have enough coal this winter to keep the home fires burning brightly.

With reserve stocks approaching 20,000,000 tons, highest since 1943, and nearly 3,000,000 tons above the minimum safety margin for the winter period, National Coal Board authorities have expressed confidence there will be no crisis this season.

The favorable fuel position has come as welcome news to the entire country which for the last two winters has had to get along on meagre coal rations, compulsory power cuts as well as dimouts during the more acute periods of shortages.

S1.35 For Labor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States government yesterday authorized ceiling-price increases ranging as high as 75 cents a ton on bituminous coal and $1.35 a ton on Pennsylvania a n th r a c i te to cover increased labor costs.

The office of price stabilization said the increases are based on the recent boost of $1.50 a day in miners' wages. This amount was approved by the wage stabilization board for bituminous diggers.

O.P.S. officials said that in the event John L. Lewis is granted the full $1.90-aday pay rise for his United Mine Workers, an additional boost in coal ceilings may be necessary.

How You Estimate Cost Of Building Your House

Almost everyone, after drawing up his preliminary plans of the house he wants, finds that his desires are a bit bigger than his budget will allow. One way of estimating the cost is to calculate the number of cubic feet in the house by multiplying the entire first floor area including walls, by the average height of of the house from basement floor to half the height of the attic.

This gives you the "cubage" the pressing this would be to say that rooms are planned to do double duty, and partitions are kept to minimum.

This sense of space and freedom is especially important in a small house. It can be gained by proper disposition of the elements of the room such as doors, windows, furniture and fireplace. Large windows, properly disposition to the learning that the proper disposition of the company of the proper disposition of the proper of the house from basement floor to half the height of the attice. This gives you the "cubage" which can be multiplied by the average cost per cubic foot in your locality at the current time. Ask your architect, builder or lumber dealer for current rates. This, of course, is only a rough estimate of the cost of construction. It is wise to have an architect or builder check your preliminary estimates before going further, for you may need to make drastic revisions. This suggests replanning for more intensive use of space, or as it is termed, "multi-use" of rooms.

The dining room is usually the least used space. Very attractive homes can be made by combining the dining room, with the living room, or with the kitchen. The kitchen-dining-room, a revival of an old practice that has many possibilities. Rooms of combined uses add a pleasant senso of spaciousness which is lacking in a home that is all cut up into little rooms.

More and more houses are being designed on this "open" plan idea. Another way of ex-

"Ye have not chosen Me," said Jesus to His immer circle of disciples, the twelve (John 15:16), "but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit."

Who were those whom Jesus chose and why did He choose them instead of others, many of whom apparently became disciples? Some of these Jesus trained and sent 70 of them, two by two, to prepare the way "into every city and place, whither He Himself would come" (Luke 10: 1).

And just as definitely as Jesus said to those of the twelve, "Come follow Me," choosing them as His close and constant companions, He definitely sent others back home (Mark 5: 18, 197, (Luke 9: 57-61).

By He Kingdom "not of this world."

that no one can answer that question. But one may make some conjecture by putting together various passages and incidents in the Gospel narrative and any light thus suggested is strengthened by the knowledge of what the twelve, omitting the traitorous Judas, ultimately became.

Apparently Jesus saw in those ultimate Apostles latent powers of leadership, ambitton, capacity for sacrifice, daring, adventurous spirit and solid strength. They seem to have had the vision of the Messianic kingdom, but it was of an earthly kingdom in which they were to have place and power.

Though their intense ambitton appears in that connection, revealing their deepest weakness in the passion to be first (Mark 10: 35-45), the solidity and spiritual nature of their strength became manifest in the way in which they ultimately learned the lessons of service and humility that Jesus sought so zealously to teach. It brought all their ambitton and strength into the faith, vision and consecration with which they

William Charles Knutson, 36, also of Jackson's Point and Walter Johnston, 23, of Toronto, who were arrested with Metrunitz in Lindsay early Sunday morning were also remanded. Bail for Knutson was set at $10,000.

Johnson was refused bail, because he is already on $5,000 bail on a charge of illegal possession of a gun.

The address touched lightly on a wide range of subjects: a nostalgic account of Peterborough back in 1913 and the progress that has taken place since then (both in Peterborough and the rest of the world); the present Canadian boom and the country's prospects; the correct approach to day-to-day work; education and intellectual training; and a final Beaver Lumber Co. yard here shortly before midnight last Saturday night.

Lawyer's Action Rouses Ire Bancroft Court

BANCROFT (ENS)—A charge of drunk driving against Simon Bowers, Bencroft, heard in Magistrate's Court here Wednesday was highlighted by expert evidence from Dr. Ward Smith, director of the provincial crime detection laboratory, concerning studies of the effect of alcohol in the human bloodstream.

Dr. Smith testified that a sample of blood, taken here after Bowers' arrest by Provincial Constables Hawkins and Hutchinson, on October 10 had been analyzed by him and showed an alcoholic content of 2.5 parts per thousand. This content, he stated, would render the accused intoxicated beyond any doubt.

After the Crown evidence was heard Bowers' lawyer, J. T. O'-Flynn, requested an adjournment.

After the Crown evidence was heard Bowers' lawyer, J. T. O'Flynn, requested an adjournment to the next court due to the failure of a witness to appear. Bowers claimed to have taken only two small drinks for medicinal purposes on the day in question. Magistrate Jackson complied with the request and adjourned the case to November 26th.

More than 100 policemen formed a wall to allow members of the Textile Workers Grain movements are being helped by warm weather. During the first 10 days of this month, 26,000,000 bushels were loaded at Prairie points, an average of 1,600 cars a day. The October average was 1,200 cars.

Winnipeg transport officials reported more vessels are moving from ore to grain on the lakes, and on one recent day 16 vessels Union of America (C.I.O.) into the plant of the Hamilton Cottons Company. Violence flared in a union jurisdictional dispute when, after a six-week strike at the Hamilton textile plant, some 220 returning C.I.O. workers were escorted by police through A.F.L. picket line. Two men were arrested and on one recent day 16 vessels and charged with obstructing police.

NEW YORK (AP)—Whatever your opinion of the work of novelist Rosamund Marshall—who writes lusty, busty best-sellers with titles like "Duchess Hotspur"—she's a novelist without peer in terms of quantity production.

For quite some time Miss Marshall, who lives in Vancouver, B.C., wrote at the incredible rate of a novel a week, using a minimum of five pen names.

She's a forthright and attractive blonde who faces life with enthusiasm and obvious relish. Currently she is a little subdued—nerves, lock.

Eight Opposition Senators With 75 Liberals 19 Vacancies In Chamber

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

Canadian Press Staff Writer OTTAWA (CP)-The Senate, an to initiate the discussion organisation groups. But the chance of such reform during the session opening Thursday, Nov. 20, appears remote.

SENATOR'S OPINION

Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader in the Senate and minister without portfolio in the cabinet, has said reform will be delayed until the next federal election, expected in the fall of 1953. Senator Robertson, stressing that the views were his own, said in an interview that the need for reform will arise only if the Liberal party, now in office for 17 consecutive years, is re-elected. Since Confederation in 1867 the government of the day has made the appointments to the Senate and the government of the day has made the appointments to the Senate and the senate linvariably supporters of the party in office have been chosen. All appointments are for life. The Liberals now have 75, members in the Senate and the government could appoint 19 more if it wished to fill vacancies. The processive Conservatives, in office for a little more than five years in the last 25, have only eight senators; the C.C.F. and Social Credit parties none.

OPPOSITION MAY SHARE

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senate, an integral part of Canada's parliamentary system, is gradually becoming a one-party chamber.

The Liberals would hold 94 of the 102 seats if all vacancies were filled. The situation has been developing for years and has been the subject of many controversial debates.

There have been suggestions that the government reform the system of making Senate appointments so as to provide representation of opposition groups. But the chance of such reform during the session opening Thursday, Nov. 20, appears remote.

"It is my guess," said Senator Robertson, "that if the Liberal government is re-elected it will do something to give other parties representation in the Senate"

He said the government could announce that after a certain date a percentage of the Senate seats finance a 10-year program of social welfare research at the University of Toronto.

Unemployment

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Labor ministers of the Ontario and federal governments were accused yesterday by a Labor leader of liking unemployment, and of having no intention of doing anything about it.

George Burt, Canadian Director of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) and president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, called both the Federal labor minister, Milton F. Gregg, and the Ontario labor minister, Charles A. Daley, representatives of "the boss."

In a couple of months the list of unemployed will begin to rise, Mr. Burt said, but the labor ministers "like unemployment. They don't intend to do anything about it."

The Labor organizer spoke during a CCF-trade union conference held here during the week-end.

New Political Forge Against Immigration

Despite the ardent desire of millions of Europeans to emigrate to Canada, despite the obvious necessity of helping Europe's recovery by taking immigrants, despite Canadian governmental immigration offices being set up in Britain and Europe and a surge of enthusiasm in Canada to welcome new citizens; despite all these, in no post-war years has the amount of immigration into Canada come close to the pre-Great War figures. Last year, for instance, 194,000 persons were admitted into Canada. In 1913, 400,870 immigrants came to Canada then a much smaller country, less organized and various in the opportunities for work. What is the explanation?

Official Ottawa mumbles that the same kind of arable land is no longer available: that the Canadian economy is becoming more and more industrializselective, and planned so as to create more jobs. The reason for Ottawa's caution and the smaller immigration now than forty years ago is political. It French; muffins to the English. We wish is suggested in an article in the current Lord Asquith joy of his muffins, but we issue of Queen's Quarterly, written by are content in our muffinless state. B. K. Sandwell.

In the last fifty years the world has moved from a condition in which most of the libertarian countries were anxious, and the rest were willing, to bring people into their territories, to a condition in which most or all of these same countries seem chiefly concerned to keep people out. The change began about the time when a con-spiratorial doctrine about the subversion of existing governments first acquired control of one great nation; but it was not wholly due to the success of Communism in Russia. It was due in no small measure to the rise to political power of the wagereceiving class, and the decline in the political power of the wage-paying class, which pretty generally ran things in the democracies prior to the First World War.

It took people from where their labour was superabundant, and placed them where it was in great demand and was bound to be enormously more productive."

Now, the wage-earning people are politically dominant. For opposite reasons to those of the property-owners, and equally selfish reasons, they (and of Canadian cheese. Whatever the motives of the propertyowners, the industrialists, the steamship companies and even the politicians with their desire for easily manipulated votes, and the immigrants themselves with their wish to bring in their relatives and fellow-townsmen from the Old World, the mass immigration into the United States had magnificent results in the last century. We have eaten both muffins and crumpets, but we have never fallen under their spell. We have found them dull and heavy at best, and horribly indigestible at worst. A crumpet, dripping with butter and honey, is the heaviest thing a man can put in his stomach, and live; a muffin, while not so heavy, indigestible at worst. A crumpet, dripand live; a muffin, while not so heavy, has a terrifying trick of expanding after ed and immigration must be carefully it has been swallowed, so that the eater suffers all the sensations of a man who is attacked from within by a puffball.

PETERBOROUGH ORFUNS CAPTURE EASTERN CANADA GRID

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

There it is, folks, the Canadian final coming up for our football Orfuns in Winnipeg on Saturday. They earned the trip west and the crack at the Canadian intermediate "A" grid crown by edging Montreal Flyers 2-0 here last Saturday before a big crowd in Morrow Park. Can't recall such a low score in football before here, that rouge by Gord Beatty and kick by Jack Matthews looming larger and larger during the fourth quarter. They paid off against a potent pack representing Quebec. Congratulations to Prexy Don (Dr.) Aiken, his executive, Coach Tony Kotowski and a grand gang of battlers in the Orfuns. They came through like the eastern champs they are and they're now after the national title. Public support is behind 'em and they'll raise enough money to make the trip.

Jack Matthews' 50 and 60-yard kicks throughout the game was the main difference. Montreal gained more ground on plunges but Jim Milligan's passes kept them loose, and Jack's long punts kept them back. We'll name no other stars since it was a solid team effort, both offensively and defensively. Smart work in the backfield behind starry block-ing and tackling, quick fumble recoveries and pass intercep-tions—all these were part of the successful pattern in the close game. Montreal penalties hurt, and the referee was from that city, the Orfuns playing a hard, clean contest. They suffered no injuries of any account, and they were a tired but jubilant bunch of eastern champions at the last gun. More on them and their western plans again.

PCVS Also Victorious

Another football championship came to Peterborough on Saturday, PCVS taking the COSSA senior "A" crown 19-6 in Port Colborne. With a strong line and fast-stepping backfield, Bev Goulding's Garnet and Grey machine had too much for the Ports. Spin Hope counted a major and a single for the victors, Murray Grafstein rolled for another major, Bob Craw took Scriver's pass for a touchdown, Corbett clicked for two singles, and Langhorne got one. But the whole team rates credit for a fine showing. The Niagara peninsula winners didn't go down without a hard fight but the Peterborough Collegiate crew proved too powerful for them in all departments. Our congrats to Coach Bev Goulding had his doubts about this year's senior squad at PCVS when we talked with him in August. Had quite a rebuilding job on his hands. Well, he sure did a job in a short time, eh? Taking the COSSA senior "A" crown s an old story for him. Won it three years in a row in 1946-47-48, lapsed to St. Catharines the next two autumns, and came back to capture the laurels last year and again on Saturday for two more in a string. That's five in seven years some record. While this playoff was away from Peterborough and the Orfuns were stealing the local thunder, the feat of PCVS seniors in retaining their COSSA championship deserves the highest praise. It brought further athletic glosy to * * * * *

Keen Play By Juniors

Quite a scramble going on in the early stages of the OHA junior "B" schedule in Central Ontario. We note where Lindsay, after losing to Oddfellows here to open the season, yanked out a 6-5 win o'er Belleville Hawklets in the Scugog centre late last week. The Kingston Vics only edged the Quinte crowd 5-4 in Bella Villa a week before, but they beat our boys in the Limestone City later. The Vics are here tonight, with Lindsay at Belleville, and anything might happen. We'd predict a win for Doug Mortimer's local Links against the good Kingston club, but it should be a battle all the way. On the morrow, the Oddfellows have a tussle in Lindsay to wind up their week's

Beat Montreal Flyers 2-0 In Close, Tense Playoff To Meet Winnipeg For Title

By CEC. PERDUE

The educated toe of schoolmaster Jack Matthews of Grove
School kicked Peterborough Orfuns into Canadian intermediate "A" football finals and booted Montreal Lakeshore Flyers into oblivion here Saturday. The sudden-death Eastern Canada playoff ended in the surprisingly low score of 2-0 for Tony Kotowski's ORFU.

playing careful football. Flyers had 16 first downs to nine for Peterborough, but Jim Milligan end run and buck by Huntley was three of 16 completed forward passes while Montreal had none good in a dozen attempts. Roughing penalties twice halted dangerous Montreal marches down the field, and each sides snared a few fumbles and intercepted the odd pass.

Orfuns twice disdained tries at field goals or kicks for single points when in good position during the first half, and the Flyers also decided against putting the foot in football during the first two quarters. But Peterborough decided after a scoreless first half to go for anything, and long hoofs by Matthews—resulting once in a rouge by Gord Beatty—paid off, as Montreal couldn't get the distance into kicks when they sought single in the last half.

Despite the close and careful, CLOSE IN FOURTH Despite the close and careful, methodical tactics employed by strong and experienced opponents in the important fray, it was an exciting, tense tilt. The unpredictable Jim Milligan threatend to open it up wide on several occasions with long passes and he threw one touchdown pass to Jim Wilde in the first quarter but the referee ruled Wilde had stepped out of touch to take it and it was called back. The rival lines were

Following a minute's silence in memory of a former Orfuns' star, the late Earl (Doc) Spencley, Montreal rolled to the Petes' 45 when Bus Jensen recovered a fumble. He bucked five and White two before Matthews kicked to Flyers' eight. The enemy drove up, moving the sticks four times on thrusts by Martin, Parsons and O'Hagan, before Matrin had to hoof to White. The return kick went to Montreal's 50 and they drove again on efforts by Hecklinger, Martia and Miles till Beak Bartley snared a Flyers' fumblé.

Food Establishments Of Peterborough

With the co-operation of the Department of Health and Peterborough Medical Officer Dr. Wells, the Peterborough T. B. X-Ray Council, during the present mass Chest X-Ray survey are conducting a "food handlers section."

All food handling establishments in the city are invited to send in the number of employees, to the T. B. Council Headquarters, Phone 2-6212, that are normally engaged in handling food.

To establishments whose employees participate by having a Free Chest X-Ray will be presented "certificates of merit" indicating that the establishment has realized its obligation to the public in endeavoring to maintain a high standard of health in its employees.

Many establishments have already co-operated by sending in the number of employees they wish X-Rayed. Employees may have their X-Ray at a Clinic near them at any convenient hour when the Clinic is open. Special cards are issued to such employees to identify them as food handlers.

A special award to the employees of the first store to have 100% of its staff X-Rayed will be made when the certificate

Any establishment not previously contacted wishing to par-ticipate is asked to phone 2-6212 giving the number of em-ployees they wish X-rayed.

Instructions are issued to each employee when the cards are distributed.

If a woman was wearing fresh lipstick, the number of germs on ther lips was much less than without lipstick. Men who put on antiseptic lipstick for their germ count down to almost zero for several hours. As for duration of a kiss, "the regulation Hollywood 10-second kiss transferred about twice as many germs as a short, two-second affair."

Recent smoking seemed to lower "There is almost as much danger from persons coughing or contaminating objects in public. wears lipstick. The two-second kiss is safer for both than the lingering kind.

Almost all the germs transferred by a kiss are the type that don't cause sickness.

These are findings in a study made on human volunteers by Arthur H. Bryan, Baltimore bacteriologist, reported in a magazine, Drug and Cosmetic Industry.

Bryan paid tribute especially to the male volunteers who "would rather kiss a blonde" but in the interests of science pressed their lips against plates of nutrient agar on which germs could grow, or against sterile glass slides.

COUNTED GERMS

He counted the germs, transferred by the kiss, that grew in the nutrient medium. The results, he says, just show trends, not infallible figures.

The number of colonies of bacteria transferred by a kiss ranged from almost none to more than 50 at times.

Don't Toss Off Child's Fears; Discuss Them Frankly, Calmly

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Probably every child at one time or another develops some fear which causes him great distress. The child may be afraid of the dark, of dogs or cats, of witches, of hobgoblins, or of almost anything else real or imaginary.

Such childhood frights should not be tossed off by responsible grownups just because they know the fears are not justified—they are real enough to the child.

If the true nature of the fear can be coaxed out by the parents, the situation is usually made better merely by comforting, affection and reassurance. Often simply telling a child that the witches and hobgoblins are not true is quite enough to relieve them of one of the big worries in their little lives.

Children who carry the imaginary fears of the daytime over into the sleeping hours often groan and mumble in their sleep and sometimes wake up covered with perspiration and crying with terror.

When this happens, a special effort should be made to get at the

'52 Shooting Over Fewer Deer Killed

The shooting is all over for deer and partridge hunters as the season for both closed Saturday night. Lands and Forests officers worked for the past two weekends at strategic road-checking stations and they are still trying to analyze their findings. However, they have noted a few general trends. The deer kill count is definitely down from 1951. In the Quinte area it dropped from 50 per cent to about 20 this year, according to figures Of J. E. R. Munro secured on the first weekend's check. The same applies to the Kawarthas-one deer fell to each five hunters. The breakdown ecial tribunal be established to hear the "many" suits by American citizens against Canada for alleged damage to their properties in the U.S. because of high water ed by Canada's Gut Dam in the St. Lawrence River.

The external affairs department nnounced Saturday that a comunication to that effect has been ent to the U.S. state department

The announcement was made following inquiries as to the purpose behind the "suggestion" filed by Hume Wrong, Canadian ambassador to the U.S., in the action of Dorothy and Arthur Oster of Greece, Monroe county, against Canada, in the U.S. district court for the northern district of New York.

In his suggestion the ambassa-dor asserted that, under interna-tional law, the domestic courts of the U.S. have no jurisdiction to entertain a claim against a foreign sovereignty such as Canada.

The New York state couple seek $12,000 from Canada for damages to property they contended were caused by high waters in Lake Ontario. Their land is on the U.S. side of the lake. The International Joint Commission recently approved removal of the dam and work on its removal has already been started.

Forecasts of a federal election in the fall of 1953 have led to speculation that the budget will contain good news for taxpayers generally. In the 1952-53 budget, Mr. Abbott reduced personal income tax rates. Later a two per cent social security levy on incomes, effective last July 1, actually brought taxes higher this year than last.

This year, for instance individuals and organizations in all parts of the country are urging Mr. Abbott to reduce taxes With a new and possibly pre-election session of Parliament open in g Thursday, the demands will increase until the 1983-54 budget is presented next spring—probably in late March or early April.

At this early date, political observers can do no more than guess at the possible contents of the budget, always a top-secret government document.

Some say there will be slight reductions in personal income, corporation, and excise taxes, with the over-all cuts totalling $200,000.

Triple Life Sees Actress As Star, Mother, Housewife

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK (AP) — Margaret Sullavan is an actress who is a staf, a mother and a housewife.

Judging' from her past career and her new success on Broadway in. Terence Rattigan's new play. "The Deep Blue Sea," it is a moot question which one of these three categories comes first in her domestic and professional lives

After her first Broadway stage triumph she went into motion pletures where she quickly became a glamorous film star. Then she shifted to the role of wife and mother, an assignment to which she devoted herself for the last eight years. In that time she appeared in only one film, "No Sad Songs For Me."

In her Greenwich, Conn. home, Miss Sullavan is very much the soulaway at a devoted husband of her own age for a young, attractive scoundrel.

Most Publicized News Series Britain Tends In U.K. Canadian-Written

By ALAN HARVEY
LONDON (CP)—The most publicized newspaper series published in Britain this year was written by a Canadian.

It happened by chance. Young Patrick Keatley of Vancouver, on loan to the Manchester Guardian, went to Ireland on a "routine" assignment. He came back with a sizzling story that brought him a raise in pay, a fat bonus and publicity in at least a dozen countries. Keatley's account of the Irish horse trade, documented by photographs he took himself, had swift licity in at least a dozen countries.

a special committee of inquiry. The committee has been appointed and is to start work soon, with Keatley as star witness.

The Manchester Guardian received more than 3,500 letters and money totalling £300, ranging from a Boer War pensioner's four shillings to an anonymous £50. Letters came from as far off as Los Angeles, Capetown and Belgrade. A Saskatchewan farmer sent a six-stanza poem. A Toronto meat dealer suggested Keatley look into the horse trade in Eastern Canada. Keatley, at 32 a boyish-looking, bespectacled veteran of 12 years sisted of five articles on Ireland's borse traffic, involving shipment of animals by sea and train from reland for slaughter in France and Belgium.

One of the worst things about the trade, Keatley wrote, is that horses cannot vomit but are seasiful to the same. He called the long sea voyage and train rides to continental destinations a one-way trip of "confinement, seasickness and bloody death."

He strongly criticized as brutal methods of slaughtering encountered in Paris.

He slung his camera around his neck, cut a button off his raincoat to provide for the exposure and took pictures in the confusion that resulted when the bolt guns were applied to the heads of equine victims.

Twice he was caught and twice he escaped, finally leaving the stables with a 50-yard run across cobblestones. "I jumped on a bus, still out of breath, went up the Eiffel Tower and stood myself to a nice stiff drink," he recalls.

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think if everyone made the same claim DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think it is up to my husband and me to your husband hasn't had any contribute toward the education of his daughters by a previous marriage? I have children, too, by a former marriage and, since I married again, they have been expected to look after themselves. If we help them out financially, they are expected to treat it as a loan and pay it back.

"The Wonder Man"

I'm one of your good friends here in town — the man who brings a whole store to your door every day! Yes, every day, I've got my wagon packed with tempting, nour-ishing oven-fresh cakes, pies, buns and breads — family buns and breads—Iamily favourites your folks will eat up to the last crumb! And evervthing I carry is baked FRESH every day — really oven-fresh, and full of real old-time home-made goodness. For instance, tomorrow, I'd like you to try

LONDON (CP)—Britain's fashion industry is concerned about what will happen if final dress regulations for Westminster Abbey are not given until about three months before the coronation

This is just one of the pre-coronation problems agitating the trade and causing telephones to jingle in the office of the Duke of Norfolk, who as Earl Marshal presides over preparations for next summer's big event.

Wholesale dress houses note that the economic structure of fashion buying has changed completely since the last coronation. It is expected that about 75 per cent of the women attending the Abbey are not given until about three months before the coronation

This is just one of the pre-coronation problems agitating the trade and causing telephones to jingle in the office of the Duke of Norfolk, who as Earl Marshal presides over preparations for next summer's big event.

Fashion writers note particularly Fashion writers note particularly that since there have been no evening court presentation parties since before the Second World war, it is extremely difficult to say what regulations will apply regarding court dress. The presentation parties were about the closest approach for dress purposes, to the coronation.

SIMPLE IN 1937

At the last coronation, the problem was simple for 652 peeresses attending the Abbey ceremony. They wore fur-edged crimson velved kirtle over court dress without train. The dress was what on cream with lace, embroidery, gold or silver brocade. No colors were allowed and tiaras had to be worn.

Suicide Attempt Fails, Sister Dies Instead

WANTAGH, N. Y. (AP) — A 5- was evere back in the air today. The contractors, who finished off the runway last spring, spent last sweek pouring on a new layer of sister, but failed in both efforts. She died while he lived. Police said John Anderson attempted suicide, but first turned off the pilot light on the gas stove and disconnected the electric clock and refrigerator so no spark could set off an explosion and injure his sister, Miss Isabella Anderson.

Gas seeped under her bedroom door and killed her. Neighbors found Anderson unconscious in the kitchen.

Seesaw Fight Goes On For Sniper Ridge; S. Koreans Hold Hill

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD SEOUL - (AP) - South Korean infantry in savage hand-to-hand fighting today blasted Chinese Communists off a vital knob on bloodsoaked Sniper Ridge, lost to 175 screaming Reds a few hours

Even as the battered Chinese reeled back from Rocky Point, a new Red buildup was spotted at the northern end of Sniper. Allied planes, tanks and artillery ham-mered the Communists with high explosives and searing napalm.

Ten U.S. B-29 Superforts last night pushed the Korean air war right to the doorstep of Manchuria. The B-29s smashed a Red mining and processing centre within sight of the Yalu River and set off a chain of huge fires and explosions. Other Superforts blasted a Communist ammunition dump near Pyongyang, the North Korean captial.

The bitter fighting for the Kumhwa ridges on Korea's central front roared into its 36th straight day at dawn when the Chinese won an important knob on Finger Ridge, which juts out from the main line of Sniper.

REGAIN LOST GROUND

The South Koreans by early afternoon, however, had regained every inch of lost ground and were mopping up the Red stragglers.

Elsewhere along the frozen front, ground fighting was limited to minor probes and patrol actions. The temperature dropped to 21 degrees above zero, coldest of the B-26 bombers ranged over Red Korean supply routes. Pilots reported 150 Red trucks destroyed. The Fifth Air force said that brought the November total to more than 1,000 trucks blasted off the highways. the highways.

A U.S. Eighth Army staff officer said the Reds suffered 2,627 casualties in ground fighting between Nov. 8 and 14. The figure included 1,726 killed, 883 wounded and 18 more staff of the same s

Monday night, causing at least $100,000 damage to the stock. No estimate of the damage to the narrow, three-storey building has yet been made. Firemen battled the stubborn blaze for three hours before bringing it under control. Fire trucks did not pull away from the scene until 3 a.m. today. From time to time during the night there outbursts of flame and the duty watch had to knock them from their hoselines. promise proposal to end the Koran deadlock over war prisoners. The United States voiced opposition to some major provisions of the Indian resolution submitted yesterday to the Assembly's Political Committee. The proposal embodies a Canadian suggestion for a neutral four-power repatriation commission to take charge of all prisoners in a demilitarized zone where they would decide whether they wish to return home.

Canada is understood to be a strong supporter of the plan submitted by Krishna Menon, deputy leader of the Indian delegation and a confidant of Prime Minister Nehru. Menon has conferred here with both Western and Russian diplomats in drawing up his long-awaited resolution.

The Indian resolution is regarded by some Western diplomats as the major effort to determine whether the Communists want to reach a compromise on the prisoners issue — the only one blocking a cease-fire.

The world diplomats marked the fire.

City Slickers Dupe Collective Farmers

MOSCOW (AP) — City slickers have, been swindling Ukrainian farmers out of hundreds of thousands of rubles, Pravda reported today.

Sharp operators from Moscow have been going to collective-farm chairmen in the Ukraine with schemes offering the farmers fab-ulous profits, said the official Comulous profits, said the official Communist Party paper.
For example, a farm in the Ukraine's Voroshilov district fell for a phony "draying business" gag, and soon was sending to Kiev not only its best horses and carts, but also its best animal fodder. This farm lost 100,000 rubles on the deal while the ring were working the scheme in a half-dozen farm areas at once.

He must extend his knowledge by reading.

Until near the end of the Middle Ages it was still possible for a man to master. in his lifetime, the full sum of human knowledge as it then existed. A few deeply learned men did so. But since the Renaissance it has been out of the question for any one man to know everything that man has discovered or guessed at. In our own time we have seen the beginning of an expansion of the human scope which may be as revolutionary as was the Renaissance. Anyone who lives in the modern world, who hopes to be more than a clod and a mute victim of circumstance, must equip himself with a knowledge - even if it is only a supperficial one - of what is happening in the world of science and thought. Today even the citizen who does not consider himself to be a reader actually reads a great deal in the course of a year.

Apart from the necessity to inform himself, the child of today will find in reading what millions of people have found since reading became a common accomplishment - a refreshment of the spirit and an adventure in the company of better minds than his own. Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou maintainest my lot . . Thou wilt shew me the path of life; in thy presence is fulness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore Bless the Lord, O my soul. O Lord my God, thou are very great: thou art clothed with honour and majesty. Who coverest thyself with light as with a garment ,

O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches . . . The glory of the Lord shall endure for ever: the Lord shall rejoice in his works. (Ps. 104:1, 2, 24, 31.)

All thy works shall praise thee, O Lord; speak of the glory of thy kingdom and talk of thy power . . Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth and thy saints shall bless thee. They shall throughout all generations .

My mouth shall speak the praise of the Lord: and let all flesh bless his holy name for ever and ever. (Ps. 145:10, 11, 13, 21.)

Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall ap-pear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. (I John 3:2.)

We also sold 60 tickets (3 books) at 40c a I know of one mother who sold only 36 tickets and her child received the listed.

There were about 275 parents all selling tickets at $8.00 a book. Quite a haul I would say. Why did we do it? Because we definitedidn't know what we were getting into. I for one feel as though I had robbed

Russian Use of Dickens

(Ottawa Journal)

Not infrequently a story comes out of Moscow about the Communist appreciation of Shakespeare and less notable writers who lived in what are now counted decadent capitalist countries. These reports make the West feel better. They appear a token of understanding, a token that men of different ns can be united when they the arts.

A closer examination removes any feeling of satisfaction. Books available to Russian children contain extracts from Dickens' works, but it is noticeable that they cull de pressing extracts, such as the experiences of the unfortunate Oliver Twist and the pathetic Little Nell.

Many Dickens' characters experienced all the miseries of another and cruel age, and none denies they were truly drawn. But to use them as examples of life in a moder Western nation is unjust and unfair, not that such complaints would make much difference to the Russians.

Fed on such selected information, Russian children will grow up with a sincere dislike of the Western nations. The same technique of distortion will be employed in all the satellite countries and will, we must believe. equally effective.

Friendship is advanced by the exchange of the works of writers, artists and scientists only when there is honesty of purpose and respect for knowledge and understanding.

For three years, after the original, all-Canadian four-club circuit of Montreal Wanderers and Canadiens, Ottawa Senators and Quebec Bulldogs were formed, there was little change in the circuit. The Quebec club dropped out immediately after the League was formed, and was replaced by Toronto, but reentered for one season, 1919-20. Hamilton, the sporting Ontario city, replaced Quebec in 1920-21, and remained until 1924-22.

Then came the Big Parade to internationalism. Overnight, the League mushroomed to greatness. And in 1947-48 it played to 2,518,042 paid customers. NEXT: THE INTERNATIONAL STORY.

Has Been Warmer

Ontario residents continue to cross their fingers for luck and hope that the warm weather continues. Here it is Nov. 18 and Peterborough has had only one snowfall. In fact it's so unseasonably warm that the statistically minded are debating whether it is a record warm spell. Apparently it isn't. Though everybody was revelling in the 60 degree temperature on Sunday you only have to go back 11 years to beat that figure. On Nov. 18 and 19, 1941, the temperature rose to 63 and 67, respectively. However, a year ago today citizens were blowing on their hands as they put up with a frosty 27 degrees. The noon temperature today was 48.

Judgs Kennedy he would "take steps to escheat bail."

Friendly was committed for trial some time ago by Magistrate W. R. Philp on $500 bail. Later, Mr. Bradshaw said it is the first time since he became crown attorney he has had to order that bail be forfeited.

After selecting a jury to hear a dangerous driving charge against Benjamin Allan Keys of Ottawa, Mr. Bradshaw said he proposed calling ten crown witnesses and expected the case would continue until Wednesday. The other members of jury panel were then dismissed until 2 p.m. Wednesday. The third true bill was brought in against Melvin Tripp, 30, Burleigh township construction worker, charged with shooting a loaded shotgun with intent to do grievous bodily harm.

Tripp is charged with shooting at Donald Hall, 29, of Scarborough Junction on September 27. Hall was wounded in the right shoulder by the charge fired by Tripp, Two shots were fired by Hall and he has been committed for trial on the same charge—shooting at Tripp with intent to do grievous bodily harm. Hall has elected speedy trial before Judge Kennedy.

The Grand Jury returned no lill in a fourth case brought before them, of dangerous driving against Elwood Godfrey of Lakefield.

Two crown witnesses had been called in the Keys dangerous driving trial, when court adjourned at 12.45 today.

Vatican Rumors Looking For Consistory

By CECIL SPRIGGE ROME (OFNS). — Now that Christmas is but a few weeks distant, the Vatican has begun to buzz with rumors of a Consistory for the creational of new cardinals to be convoked before the festival.

Every Advent and every Lent, in recent years, the ecclesiastics, courtiers and diplomats who live and work in the Vatican palaces have sought each others' opinions on when Pope Pius XII will at last put an end to his strange inactivity in the matter of creating new cardinals.

The last Consistory for the conferment of Red Hits (worn by Cardinals) was held nearly seven years ago. The College of Cardinals, of which the membership was fixed in the sixteenth century at seventy, had at that time (1946) fallen to the altogether exceptionally low number of thirty-eight. It was easily explained my during the war the Pope had seen fit to defer the replacement of decessed Princes of the Church, although the deaths were very numerous. The Consistory held early in 1945 was accordingly of a splendour unequalled for several centuries, 32 new Cardinals prostrating themselves simultaneously in their gorgeous canonicals before the wearer of the triple crown (the Pope) at the high altar of Saint Peter's (in Rome). 46 IN COLLEGE

It is far less easy to say why Pius XII has now once again let nearly seven years pass without creating new cardinals, and has allowed the College of Cardinals to fall to the distinctly low number of forty-six. Many of the most important archi-episcopal thrones are now held by prelates who have not yet received the red hat; in Italy, Naples, Venice, Genoa, Bologna; elsewhere Paris and Munich, while several countries are now without a Cardinal at all. The living Cardinals moreover, are now without a Cardinal at all. The living Cardinals moreover, include many very old men and invalids, as well as the imprisoned Hungarian Cardinal Mindszenty and the practically exiled Chinese Cardinal Tien. Nor has there been for eight years a Cardinal Secretary of State. There is, therefore, a good deal of anxiety lest, if the Pope, now aged 76, should die, no suitable successor should be found among the present holders of the dignity (no non-Cardinal has been elected to the papacy since the Middle Ages.) There is also much curiosity, There is also much curlosity, which increases each year, as to why the Pope has brought about this situation which, as each Christmas or Easter comes round, people predict will now at long last be brought to an end.

But the present Pope is to an extraordinary degree his own counsellor. Projects, it seems, have certainty been before him for making a great administrative reform in the headquarters of the Church by increasing the Sacred College to a hundred or a hundred and fifty members, and he may have long been deferring new promotions for a single great occasion. But men of high standing at the Vatican candidly confess that whatever the Pope does will come as a surprise to them. will come as a surprise to them.

200 MEN AND WOMEN of Peterborough United Churches presented a pageant, "Triumphs of the Faith," in the Collegiate auditorium Monday night, depicting the story of the growth of the United Church. In the top photo five girls in a tableau represent church union. They are:

Rain Brings Smiles

TORONTO (CP)—All the farmers were smiling at the Royal Winter Fair yesterday—whether they were prize winners or not.

The rain that followed heavy fog was a pleasant sight for most Ontario farmers. It was badly needed after a drought that threatened fall wheat and made fall plowing difficult because of the hard ground.

There was not enough moisture to fill the dry wells and cisterns but pasture land benefitted and in many parts of the province livestock are still in the fields.

emotional maturity

WOU MUST ACT

Neither you nor Roger has a particularly strong character, but since it is the eternal role of woman to bolster her man's morale, you will have to be the one to get hold of yourself, face the present and future logically, then proceed to give Roger a little backbone.

Thousands and thousands of young men are serving our country in the armed forces. Many of them like it no better than does Roger, but they have the stamina to face duty with courage and common sense. Thousands of them have left wives and mothers behind, thousands have left families. If you read the papers, you'll see that the drafting of fathers is getting closer and closer, so there's no guarantee that a baby would have eliminated Rogers as a draft prospect.

It is reasonable to assume that since all people don't have the same stability, a regimented life warm of going steady again, but the says it won't work out this time, since it didn't before. Much the says it won't work out this time, since it didn't before. Much to our rouble in the past wend to my mistakes, which I can see nou. I certainly wouldn't repeat you. I certainly wouldn't repeat you four him. It how can I prove it to him?

BETH.

ANSWER: A boy of 19 has much less emotional stability than a girl the same age, and I think this boy in four any of yours is still floundering in a mire of uncertainty trying to find the answer to Cupid's problems. Give him a little more time, but seep serious discussions out of your dates. If he brings up the subject of your past dating, or the hopeless-ness of the present situation, tell him you have both travelled that ground a dozen times and you prefer to talk about something else. It's quite possible that he argues just for the sake of something to discuss. Give him a chance to grow and the province of point and the same stability. A regimented life was not all people don't have the same stability a regimented life.

since all people don't have the discuss. Give him a chance to grow same stability, a regimented life up, and he'll undoubtedly surrendmay be harder on some than on er in time. Whether or not Roger is others. Whether or not Roger is not of the very few who cannot be orientated to the service, the psychiartrist at his camp can readily determine. This, however, I do not believe to be the case. Your husband has leaned too much on you in the past, and it is the fact that the prop has been removed that the prop has been removed that unnerves him.

As for your own loneliness, you have a job that keeps you busy and, with a little effort rewarding and say how sorry you are.

Moving near camp would, at best, be only a temporary answer to your problem since there is no assurance that your husband won't be transferred elsewhere. So keep your apartment, work hard at your job, stop griping and make friends. After all, Roger is not serving an indeterminate jail sentence. He's doing a job and one he should be proud of. Part of his service time has passed and the rest will go quickly. Unless you want to emerge from this situation a physical and mental wreck, change things as quickly as possible and be ready to resume your happy marriage when Roger comes home for good. Combines Commission.

"In my view, the commissioner had no alternative under the law than to pursue the course he did purse," Mr. Garson said in referfing to the fact that the commissioner sent the report to the minister just a week before the new commission was set up.

Mr. Fowler had argued that the commissioner declined to examine the reasonableness of the industry's prices before deciding whether the industry's actions were detrimental to the public.

This complaint, replied Mr. Garson, is based on a mis-understanding of the law. The courts consistently held that substantial elimination of competition constitutes

Lessen Approach To 320 Feet Warning Signal

At a cost of $270 to the city, operation of the warning wig-wag at the CNR crossing on Park St. at Westcott St. will be materially reduced. This was indicated at the meeting of the finance com-mittee of council Monday night.

When a representative of the Canadian Board of Transport Commissioners was here to inves-tigate the traffic condition on Monaghan Road at Romaine St.,

It was suggested that the approach electric circuit be reduced from 1,100 ft. to 320 ft. Estimated cost is $900.

If the railway grade fund will contribute the usual 40 per cent assessed to them in such changes, the remaining $540 will be shared the remaining $540 will be shared evenly by the CNR and the city. Complaints have been calling attention to the practice of CNR shunting trains in the Westcott St. area. The old Port Hope service has been discontinued but a freight train makes several trips a week to Millbrook.

LINE TO PORT HOPE

The approach circuit which operates the warning signals at Westcott St. was laid when the CNR trains were running between Peterborough and Port Hope. Most of their work today is in shunting to and from the factories west of Westcott St. When cars are left anywhere in the 1,100 feet approach to the crossing, the wig-wag is in motion. Motorists have frequently stopped at that caution, waited for the signal to stop, and finally moved on when the drivers observed that to train was in motion. LINE TO PORT HOPE

Eisenhower, Truman Talk Over Plans For Succession

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER - Tue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two mensit down in the White House today to discuss—apparently at arms length—how one shall yield the world's most powerful office to the other with the least friction

Dwight D. Eisenhower—expected to be greeted by a cheering 1,000,000 persons on his first visit as president-elect to this capital—seemingly is determined not take any pre-inaugural hand invital government decisions.

Harry S. Truman, who proposed the unusual conference, was reported hoping, nevertheless, that his Republican successor would join in a world-reassuring statement of unity and of support for the U.S. position in the United Nations on the explosive Korean issue.

The general ended a two-week vacation at Augusta, Ga., to make the flight to Washington.

His chartered plane was scheduled to take off from Augusta at 10:30 a.m. EST and was due at the Military Air Transport Terminal near the capital at 1:10 p.m.

Fifty minutes later, after the civic welcome and a parade in an open car to the White House, Eisenhower and a Truman come face to face for the first time since last June 2.

Then the general had just returned from Europe and had given up his command of the North Atlantic forces to campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

Since then the general and the president have been through a speaker of the new House.

Amplifying Set-up To Improve Commons Hearing

Members of the Commons will note changes when Parliament meets Thursday. There will be new working hours and members, newspaper men and spectators will hear better because of installation of a voice-amplifying system. The innovations are described in this story, one of a series.

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL Canadian Press Staff Writer

Technicians have been working for five months on installation of the voice-amplifying system and will complete work shortly before opening of the session—the seventh for Canada's 21st Parliament.

for Canada's 21st Parliament.

The system, adopted after years of discussion and unsatisfactory trials, is similar to the one in the United Kingdom Parliament. Microphones are strung on long wires from the ceiling to a few feet above the heads of members. In the centre of each desk—the desks accommodate two members—are receivers that will reproduce clearly whatever is being said by members in debate.

Twenty-three microphones and Twenty-three microphones and more than 500 receivers have been installed. In addition to those on the desks of the 262-seat chamber, there are receivers in the 75-member press gallery, one for each pair of seats.

Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—Members of the Commons once complained acoustics were so bad they read newspapers or the official record to find out what was going on in the chamber.

It is hoped there no longer will be any reason for such complaints. A voice-amplifying system has been installed for the session opening Nov. 20.

The system is one of two major innovations in the tradition-conscious Commons where changes are frequently discussed but seldom made. The second is in hours of sitting. Members will meet earlier and adjourn earlier than formerly.

Shipping Halted

On Detroit River

WINDSOR, Ont, (CP)—Fog which cut visibility on the Detroit River to half a mile yesterday morning virtually stopped shipping for four hours. The fog cleared during the afternoon and traffic was resumed.

Two freighters nearly collided in the river channel opposite Windsor. A tanker went aground in the Detroit River below Amherstburg, 12 miles south, but was able to steam off when part of her cargo was removed.

Henie-Scott Skating Duel Shapes Up With $10,000 Pot

OTTAWA (CP) — An "ice duel" in Ottawa between skating stars Sonja Henie and Barbara Ann Scott was reported in the making in today's Ottawa Citizen.

The paper says Miss Henie has "challenged" Ottawa's Barbara Ann to a match for "the world's professional title" and that Barbara Ann has accepted.

The Citizen quotes long distance talks with Miss Henie in New York and the young Ottawa star in Denver. Both former Olympic stars now head their own professional ice shows.

Miss Henie is quoted as saying from Denver that she had just received the challenge and "I am willing to meet Sonja at any time and at any place."

Miss Scott said she would prefer the meeting to be in Ottawa and would insist that any profit from the venture would go to her favorite organization—the Minto Club of Ottawa where she learned to skate.

No detail as to judging or the type of competition is contained in the Citizen story, but it intimates the meeting will take place in Ottawa and world's champions in our business" and that she had offered to post will be here with her new ice show.

+ + + O. B. JOURNEY INTO WONDER, by N. J. Berrill. (Dodd Mead).

THIS BOOK TELLS something of man's discovery of the wonders around him, wonders far stranger than any fiction. It is quite frankly addressed to the ordinary reading public, and the author steers clear of techinformality; colloquialisms such as "saving the day", "filling the bill", "a shot in the dark" and "to cap it all" should be used with great caution even by writers of popular science. Yet in spite of this rather too chatty style the author shows real narrative skill in relating the clues that led to many start-ling discoveries of new lands, the habits of als, the descent of man and other strain facts concerning the world we live in. quotes extensively from the writings of ex-plorers and scientists of the past, and to this reader at least these quotations were among the most fascinating sections of the book.

· I would take issue with Mr. Berrill on the main thesis of his book. "Our modern world, for better or worse, was born in the fifteenth century"—this highly contestable statement is put down simply as a matter of fact in the middle of page four. "In 1492 Columbus sailed the ocean blue" and the modern world sud-denly emerged. There is no explanation of the stirring of the imagination that led up to the voyage of Columbus apart from vague hints that "the medieval world was shaking itself awake from its distorted dreams." The heritage of Judaea, Greece and Rome, which are still potent forces even today, receive scant and condescending allusions. The deeper questions concerning man's existence are not raised; the worlds of religion, ethics and beauty vanish to nothing in this one-dimensional view of the dogmatic scientist in which the only reality is physical. This is a serious flaw in an otherwise fascinating volume.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beast of the field, and every fowl of the air; and brought them unto Adam to see what he would call them: and whatsoever Adam called every living creature, that was the name thereof. And Adam gave names to all cattle, and to the fowl of the air, and to every beast of the field: but for Adam there was not found an help meet for him.

And the Lord God caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, and he slept: and he took one of his ribs, and closed up the flesh instead thereof; and the rib, which the Lord God had taken from man, made he a woman, and brought her unto the man. (Gen. 2:19-22.)

For ve were sometimes darkness but now are ye light in the Lord: walk as children of light... And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather re-prove them. (Eph. 5:8, 11.)

It would be incorrect, despite this new attention being paid them, to think of Sir John 1821-92) or Mr. Mackenzie (1822- 1) as being amongst the most famous statesmen this country has produced.

Mr. Mackenzie was the first Liberal prime minister, a hard-fighting, energetic politician who took a pessimistic view of the Canadian Pacific Railway project, saw the Supreme Court of Canada organized during his term of office (1873-78), declined a knighthood three times and, in the words of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, was "certain that the Tories had inherited most of Adam's original sin, and he usually had the facts at his fingers' ends to prove". It was necessary for Sir Wilfrid to add, however, that Mr. Mac-kenzie "had not the imagination nor the breadth of view required to lead a party and country". Sir John Abbott was comfortably in the Senate when called upon to succeed Sir John A. Macdonald in June, 1891, and his worst fears of the difficulty of trying to run a government while a member of the Upper House were quickly realized. He ran into a snariing row, the Liberal accusations of corruption during the Macdonald regime answered by furious Conservative charges that the Liberals had been as bad or worse. The ses-sion of 1891 was known as the "Scandal Session", and in November, 1892, Sir John, whose health was not good, resigned. Never in his lifetime was he allowed to forget his youthful indiscretion in signing the 1849 Annexa-tion Manifesto in Montreal which concluded written when the Puritans had everything that Canada's future destiny must be union their own way.

MILLBROOK (ENS) - Miss Ruby Horton, secretary of the per-sonnel committee for women workers in the United Church of workers in the United Church of Canada, was the special greaker at the morning service in St. Andrew's on Sunday. She brought vivid pictures of the work of the church in Canada. She told of the role played by port workers welcoming and aiding newcomers to Canada. This not only explains how to get through the customs, but often supplying lunches to take on trains. They also help with the care of babies and young children. They try to encourage the newcomers by telling them something of special interest about the part of the country to which they were going to make their homes.

Race Bets Boom Near 2 Billion NEW YORK (AP) - Thorough

bred horse racing is concluding th biggest season in the history of the sport in the United States, with pari-mutuel wagering up 19.02 per cent over 1951, an unofficial survey of the 24 racing states dis-

With estimates from several states where racing is still going on, an Associated Press compilation showed a booming $1,939,162,662 bet this season compared with the previous all-time high of $1,830,287,455 for 1946. In that year 19 states had legalized racing.

Attendance hit a peak of 27,261,-601, or 12.17 per cent more than the 24,302,020 who turned out at U.S. running tracks last year. Revenue to the states also hit a peak of $120,234,570, some 20.32 per cent more than the $99,927,423 of last year.

The federal crackdown on book-makers, plus increased public con-fidence in the sport through polic-ing of the thoroughbred racing pro-tective bureau, is credited by rac-ing officials as chiefly responsible for the big upswing noted since midway through the 1950 season.

The Thoroughbred Racing Association, made up of 37 major tracks estimated its members alone would show an attendance of 20,656,629 show an attendance of 20,656,629 for 1952, with $1,515,778,306 shoved through the mutuel windows.

New York, with $382,131,856 bet and an attendance of 4,820,597, again topped the list of states.

by the government on a party political basis."

He called on South Africa to endorse his statement, and declared his party's "traditional, middle-of-the-road policy (toward the racial problem) was learned from hard facts and experiences."

Malan's Nationalist government is trying to put over a policy of strict segregation for South Africa's millions of non-whites and Asiatics, chiefly Indians.

Eisenhower Schedules Series Of Top-Level GOP Meetings

By RELMAN MOBIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Dwight
D. Eisenhower scheduled a series of conferences today with some of the anchor men in the Republican party, and moved with speed and vigor toward assuming the vast responsibilities of the presidency.

It is generally believed that two topics—Korea and the new cabinet —will dominate the talks.

Eisenhower flew here from Washington where he conferred with President Truman and defence officials Tuesday. New York will be the general's headquarters until he leaves for Washington and his inauguration Jan. 20.

Eisenhower planned to see Senators Robert A. Taft of Ohic, Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin.

The schedule also listed as callers Representative Joseph Martin of Massachusetts and Lewis K.
Gough, national commander of the American Legion, who just returned from a trip in the Korean war zone.

County Jury Decides Dangerous Driving Not Proven In Court

Benjamin Allen Keys, 34, of Hamilton St., Ottawa, was found not guilty of a dangerous driving charge by a Peterborough county

The jury was out 40 minutes. Keys was the driver of a car in which Ronald J. MacDonald, 18, of Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia, was killed in a collision with another car four miles east of the city on Highway 7, the night of May 23.

Keys and three others, in the other car, including the driver, Ralph McLaren, 30, of Toronto, were injured in the crash.

Evidence showed that Key's ear which was travelling west, veered across the highway into the path of the eastbound car driven by McLaren.

McLaren said he saw the car approaching about a quarter of a mile away, and noticed it was

King Has Mere $3,000,000

Income To Live, Play On

By L. S. CHAKALES

CAIRO (AP)—Ex-King Farouk claims he is a "relatively poor man" since his exile from Egypt. It is true he suffered a drastic cut in wages and standard of living. But by most standards he is still extremely wealthy.

When he was king he had an income of around $200,000 a week. Now it is down to about $60,000.

The hidden story of the fabulous wealth of the playboy-monarch is slowly being pieced together.

El Sayed Ahmed Khasaba, one of the two custodians of the exking's property, has disclosed that part of Farouk's personal holdings included 12,000 acres of the most fertile soil in the Nile valley. This did not include what is scattered around under concealed names and owned by various members of the royal household.

These particular 12,000 acres have been estimated to be worth $17,220,000. The annual income for Farouk's pean put directly under the control of the government.

Plans are already under way to sell millions of dollars worth of art collections, previous stones and other personal wealth accumulated by the rotund ex-king.

Sure that the enemy was fumbling in his moves, Trudeau ordered Ranger to stay where he was and try to ambush one of tegroping enemy parties.

Meanwhile the enemy commander was overheard to say that he was sending out two more parties to box in the Canadians.

They didn't quite put the finger on Ranger's group until near dawn when it was time for it to return into the Canadian lines.

Aviation Award

Washington (AP)—President Truman today awarded the Harmon International Trophy to Mme. Jacqueline Auriol, daughter-in-law of the President of France, and to two Americans.

The awards, given for aviation achievements, were established in 1926 under the Clifford B. Harmon Trust and they are presented annually.

Mme. Auriol received the aviativa award for setting a women's speed record. She flew a jet fight. It is designed to cruise at nearly 350 miles an hour, and has a top speed of about 400 miles an hour. The black nose of the plane contains radar equipment which will be installed on all military models.

Expect Windsors To Be Invited

LONDON (AP) — Court circles speculate the Duke and Duchess of Windsor probably will be invited to the coronation next June 2, and that the gesture will complete the Duke's reconciliation with all members of the Royal Family. The Duke, whose abdication in 1936 started the train of events which brought Elizabeth to the throne, is in Londons for a short visit with Queen Mary.

Usually, on these brief interludes in London, he seldom leaves Marborough House, his mother's home. He made short calls at Buckingham Palace to see his brother, King George VI, before the King's death last February. But on this trip to London the Duke is seeing a good deal of all members of the Royal Family.

He went to Buckingham Palace Monday for tea with Queen Mother Elizabeth, Thursday he will return to the palace to have lunch with the Queen and Duke of Edinburgh on their fifth wedding anniversary. Later in the week Windsor is to meet Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

Lobster Fishers Optimistic After '51 Season

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Optimism among Nova Scotia lobster fishermen is back to a high standard, following a severe set-back last season.

Many fishermen in the province were prepared to give up the boats after severe ice conditions and in-tense storms wrecked their equip-ment last winter. Some said the damage amounted to a total loss.

The picture looks brighter now. A plan sponsored jointly by the provincial and federal governments will provide all stricken fishermen with interest-free loans.

Nearly 1,200 fishermen recorded losses with the Nova Scotia department of trade and industry. These, along with others who have not yet applied, will come under the new loan plan.

Fishermen who said they would never bait another trap now are regarding last season as another bygone and fooking toward the coming season with optimism. Twines are being mended, equipment repaired, boats painted and ice houses cleaned out.

The amounts of the individual loans are being set down in three

These two glamor dolls start work together this week in a film version of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." They posses two of the most photographed frames in history, but until now twey have generally posed alone. That presents the problem of how to shoot them together.

Gene Koraman, who has been lensing glamor girls at 20th-Fox for 20 years, said he didn't anticipate much trouble.

Thomatically and marilyn's intelligence," remarked the photographer. "She's a smart gal when it comes to posing, and she's easy to get along with, too. From what I hear, Jane is a nice gal, too. And since she has been in the business longer, she can and probably will give some pointers to Marilyn.

Caleiming the Union Nationale party was not interested in a business-inition of deferal-provincial taxation rights during the throne speech debate in the Quebec legislative as sembly Tuesday.

In an hour-long speech Mr. Duplessis said Quebec needs all revenues it is entitled to under the Canadian constitution and spoke of dederal "encroachments" in provincial tax fields.

Referring to federal grants to miversites, he said that if Ottawa has millions to grant for education in education matters and that was non point on which the Quebec government would-never yield.

The 62-year-ol d government leader followed Liberal Opposition Leader George Marler, who opened the debate with a 1½-hour speech start work to be a same technique L used when Betty Grable.

Late-Season Rush Of Grain Ships Starts

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — An average of 20 ships a day are expected to clear lakehead ports in the next three weeks, as the lateseason rush of grain shifts into PRED WALKER: Heintzman Repre-season rush of grain shifts into high gear.

A fleet of 21 ships carrying more than 5,300,000 bushels of grain cleared Port Arthur and Fort William yesterday, one of the biggest days of the shipping season.

Another 20 carriers are loading today and most are expected to get away tonight.

Weather and insurance rates are the big factors controlling the size of this year's last-minute shipments. If there is no snow or rain to halt loading, the rush will continue until Dec. 12, when lake freighters can no longer get infreighters can no longer get in

Civil Service Renews Demands For Increases

OTTAWA (CP) — The Civil Service Federation of Canada, representing about 65,000 of Canada's 130,000 civil servants, has renewed its demands for salary increases. F. W. Charles J. Ray Named Chairman Of Advisory Board For Blind

Charles J. Ray was elected chairman of the Peterborough County Advisory-Board of the Canadian National Institute for the Bilind, Tuesday night.

The election of Advisory Board's executive took place at the board's sninual meeting held in the recreation room of Grafton and Co.

Anagistrate W. R. Philip is immediate past chairman, Mrs. R. Winalon was elected vice-chairman; Miss A. Grant, secretary; Ernest Trueman, treasurer; and Mrs. Floyd Curtis, chairman of the welfare committee.

W. T. Simmons, newly appointed field secretary for the district reported that there are 30 registered blind persons in Peterborough city and county. Of this call, seven are under 21; 19 are between the ages of 21 and 50 and 64 are more than 50 years of age.

An additional 31 persons received attention during the year but were found to have sufficient vision not to be registered.

Four blind persons in the district are earning their own living and one child is attending the Ontario School for the Blind.

Home teaching in touch reading and writing, typing, knitting sewing, basketry, chair-caning, leatherwork and home duties was given to 14 persons during theyear by Miss Christine Dawson.

The district office in conjunction with the advisory board aid ed blind persons in their home and community life. A picnic was arvanged in July and a sale of handicrafts successfully carried out in December.

R. B. Arnold, treasurer reported that there was a deficit for the past year of $1,300.

Commons Uncommonly Audible

Today a new session of Parliament opened. The Speech from the Throne indicates what measures the Government intends to introduce. As may be expected, domestic issues are taking precedence over external, although the forthcoming Commonwealth conference in London, international affairs and the Korean war, will bulk large in the debates of the House of Commons and the Senate. The reason for the emphasis on domestic matters—an emphasis real enough even though it may not be sharply pointed, is that everybody is looking ahead to a general election.

The domestic issues will be discussed louder than formerly-matters like the cost of national defence. The reason is both political (the coming elections) and physical. The House of Commons has been equipped with microphones and lature to enact. The Federal Governloud speakers. We are not altogether in favour of the mechanical innovation. It is not that we do not want warm issues brought out firmly and clearly, but we think it the duty of the parliamentarians to do this, not of microphones and mechanical speakers. In fact, we are worried lest the public address system make some members of Parliament Padlock Law. Perhaps the Federal Parlazier speakers than they have been in the past. If a member is so indifferent to the matter under debate as to mumble so that he cannot be heard, it seems to us that either he does not want to be heard or his contribution to the debate is not important enough to be heard.

The House is not large. Compared with the Royal Alexandra theatre in Toronto from whose stage less important people than M.P.s are not only expected to make themselves heard but indeed are heard clearly, the House of Commons is an intimate chamber. Any member whose vocal chords are not impaired should be able to speak audibly in that chamber; if he cannot, he should learn how to use his voice properly. Why pander to them and to the gallery by installing microphones and loud speak-

The Canadian House is following the new British House in this, where sound reproducing apparatus was installed. If the equipment and discreet engineering use of it are as good in Ottawa, some of our objections will be withdrawn. In Westminster there is no distortion, and little feeling that the sounds being heard are from a mechanical throat, not a human one. It is often difficult to detect whether one is hearing the spoken voice or the reproduced voice; the blend and clarity are excellent. The chief imperfection is that the voices have a purity which is unnatural: overtones and resonances are filtered out by the microphones and speakers.

Some English speech, even in the British House of Commons, benefits from the mechanical equipment, not because it makes voices formerly inaudible heard, but because the dipthongs, elisions and drawls from many English tongues are themselves distortions of the mother tongue, which the machines printed and the mother tongue, which the machines printed and the party of the departy of the mother tongue, which the machines printed and the party of the party. In his contest with Mr. Morrison printed to covered. Canadian speech does not be a some allege. help to correct. Canadian speech does not suffer from these; only from lazy enunciation, sloppy diction and mumblebumbling. This kind of speech should to his chores? be corrected by the M.P.s, not by ma-

Quebec To Censor Television

From its attempts to dictate to the palates of Quebec people in brazen dis-Duplessis government of Quebec has now decided to dictate cultural limitations, also in contravention of Canadian law. The Quebec Government has to all intents and purposes put a customs frontier between Quebec and other provinces, by banning the 'import' of margarine. It is now presuming to censor the importation from other provinces (and the States) of programs intended for television broadcasting.

A bill is now before the Quebec legislature. One of its paragraphs reads:

No person shall transmit by television, er by wire or by wireless, from any place situated in the province, any photo-graphic film or moving picture film, before submitting the same for examination to the Board of Cinema Censors and obtaining from the latter authorization to use

The Quebec government is not attempting direct censorship of TV live shows; even it realizes that that is beyond its powers. Unless Premier Duplessis estabhed a complete police province, he posed legislation is more limited demand that any film intended for television from a station in Quebec must first been censored by the Quebec board of film censors. This is another attempt to set up a barrier between Quebec and other provinces.

The purpose of the new bill may be unhealthy, immoral or damaging to young minds shall not be televised from Quebec. The bill overlooks, intentionally it must be assumed, that care for this sort of thing is already provided by Federal legislation. The CBC, which is responsible to Parliament, regulates broadcastings and its responsibilities include the content of programs.

The Ottawa Cttizen recalls the majority decision of the Supreme Court of Canada in 1931, which decided that is ever at its best unless it is kept on its Canada in 1931, which decided that is ever at its best unless it is kept on its jurisdiction over broadcasting rested with Parliament rather than with the provinces. Therefore, the Citizen rightly states, "the Quebec bill invades a field already fully occupied by federal legislation. The new bill may become a serious in convenience to the CBC operators in Montreal, for Montreal will be a chief television broadcasting centre in Canada. It may become a political ramp for the Duplessis government, which may thus be seeking to control relayed and stock programs of the CBC coming out of Montreal, but reaching beyond the province. Is the Quebec administration setting itself up as censor to half Canada?

The new bill is clearly ultra vires, outside the competence of the Quebec legisment has not been slow in the past to declare ultra vires legislation in other provinces (for instance, the money bills provinces (for instance, the money bills alternative economic policy for the futureof the early Social Credit government in Alberta). It has been slow to move against Quebec legislation which is shockingly subversive of Canadian conment)—the Labour Party turned back to shockingly subversive of Canadian constitutional guarantees, for instance the liament will take this latest piece of Quebec legislative interference with its rights without a whimper also. Quebec is a politically important entity-too important for the good of Canada as a whole, we cannot help thinking.

Blues On a Blue Book

Perhaps a thousand pin-pricks over a thousand years will make a mark on the now take our annual prick.

In this morning's mail there arrived the annual Report "relating to the registration of Births, Marriages and Deaths in the Province of Ontario." Perhaps there is some information in the blue book of 177 pages which might interest and inform us. We have not opened the covers to find out, for whatever interest and value there may be must belong to history, not to us. The report is for the year ending 31st December 1950. It is nearly two years out of date.

This particular handbook "printed by order of the Legislative Assembly of Ontario", at the taxpayers' expense, is perennially late; and so much later than other perennially late pamphlets and reports coming from the Queen's Printer for Ontario, that we have been conditioned to associate its coming with the ghost of Christmas two years' past. We are tempted to put it aside for a year, instead of into the waste paper basket, and wrap it up as a Christmas present for the Registrar-General in 1953. There may be good reasons why this the statistics are hard to add up. We do move in this week's Address. never to receive it again, and we hope THE AMENDMENT was framed in this another specimen of government waste. MANY OF THOSE who voted for Mr. Bevan They may appease and flatter the civil servants who compile them and thus see against Mr. Morrison's "Right-wing" leadershrined, but it is not the Government's putting Mr. Bevan in as his successor. The regard of the Canadian constitution, the job, nor the Queen's Printer's, to pamper civil servants (even if they are vital statisticians) by printing and binding at great expense what should be mimeographed in few copies and stuck together with clips.

SUCH A FRONT BENCH does not exist to-SUCH A FRONT BENCH does not exist today. The Labour Party in the House of Commons, divided as to whom it wishes to be its deputy-leaders, disagreeing about the kind of policy which a future Labour Government should pursue, speaks with a score of distracted voices from the floor of the House. Throughout the debate on the Address, which has just ended, Conservative Ministers had only to point to the confusion on the Opposition benches to silence all criticism from that side of the House. This may make for easy Parliamentary triumphs, but nake for easy Parliamentary triumphs, but it does not make for efficient or far-seeing the Address by the Labour Party reveal-ed how paralysed it has become. It criticised the Government for failing to take measures to meet the decline in production and in exports; and it then went on to say that if the Government pursued its present policy it would lead the country back to the "bad old days" of the nineteen-twenties and nineteen-thirties. In short, unable to provide an the past for a pretext on which to attack the Conservatives.

IT WAS NOTICEABLE during the debate that Mr. Herbert Morrison (deputy Lead-er of the Opposition) made as brief a refer-ence as possible to this part of the amendas willing as anyone—no one more so—to indulge in partisan banter. He likes nothing more than to "have a fling" at the Tories. But he knows—and in this he is considerably more shrewd than those who challenge his leadership—that the danger to the Labour Party today is precisely in the fact that the Ontario Government. At any rate, we to lead the country back to the bad old pre Party may yet be able to go to the country and claim to have made the Welfare State

> THIS HAS ALWAYS BEEN the long-term aim of Mr. R. A. Butler, the present Chancellor of the Exchequer, since he turn-ed his attention, between 1945 and 1951, to restating Conservative policy in modern terms. How deeply he believes in "Welfare" Conservatism is still not yet known to his opponents. Yet one phrase slipped out this week in his speech on the Address which deserves to be recorded, if only for future historians which may want to know what hap-

"We shall not take any steps, I tell the House," declared Mr. Butler, "which are not to the benefit of our own social democracy.'

"SOCIAL DEMOCRACY" the very term which Western socialists use to define their aims. That Mr. Butler should use it, and that it should pass by almost without comment, is an indication of how shifting are to dislodge them. It is in-Printer for Ontario is, as some allege, this week for the deputy Leadership he mansnowed under with back work, why add this week for the deputy Leadership he man-showed under with back work, why add this useless (at this date) printing job to his chores?

Such late and specialized reports, distributed widely all over the Province, are putting Mr. Bevan in as his successor. The important fact is that there is no evidence at all that either the Bevanites or the "middle-of-the road" group have grown since the Bevanites victory at the Labour Party's annual conference at Morecambe. The majority of the Parliamentary Party has remained solidly behind the official leaders.

majority, it is true. But their very presence on the Committee will force the Labour Party in the House of Commons into making precisely the kind of demonstration that it made in the debate on the Address.

The Labour Opposition, in fact, will become more confused—and, some would say, more irrelevant. This is what the official leaders of the Labour Party fear. Unlike Mr. Bevan, they do not believe that the Conservative Party is finished.

The Nasty Man In Calgary

THE RED-FACED MAN in front of me in the queue at the cashier's desk was determined to be nasty. He had told us several times that they did things better in Chicago, and that he couldn't think why he had ever come to Calgary, or Alberta or Canada.

"Seven dollars is too much for a hotel room in this hick town" he grumbled and he counted out seven dollar bills and turned to go "Excuse me, sir" said the patient cashier, "there is another 40 cents to pay, the United States' dollar is at a discount here you know."

There was a moment in which apoplexy seemed certain, and mayhem likely, but the shock was too great and the Chicagoan paid up without a word. Not a single Canadian gr'nned, but all of them managed to look very pleased in a restrained way.

Throughout Canada, but particularly in the West, where the boom is b.ggest, there is pride and pleasure that the Canadian dollar can outface the American, after a period in which it seemed always to be at a discount. This provides daily witness to a material success which helps to satisfy a growing national pride.

Every town is surrounded by concentric rings of new houses, the last few rows usually still awaitself-consciously post-marks all letters "The oil capital of Canada," the town has grown so fast that the airport has been entirely sur-rounded and the frequent trans-continental liners which are knitting Canada together seem to land almost in the middle of the

there can be no doubt that Edmonton is a body town; money is easy, prices are grotesque, the broad streets are clogged with shiny bulbous new American cars. Yet the scene, which is in many ways so reminscent of American movies about boomstowns in the old West, is given a definitely Canadian flavour by the curious fact that this is a flavour by the curious fact that this is a puritanical boom. FOR IN SPITE of the boom, in spite of the great fortunes that are being made, Canadians live in a post-New Deal world, the era of the Welfare State. THE ABSENCE of British capital investment since the war is a cause of deep dissatisfaction throughout the West of Canada. However much this is explained away as cruel economic necessity, to thousands of Canadians it simply seems only that Britain has let them down in their constant struggle to maintain an equal independence of both the United Kingdom and the United States. "How can you expect us to remain loyal if you abandon us to America?" they ask; but they do remain passionately loyal.

The sudden flowering of the United States in the past ten years, and particularly the shift in the balance of power within the States to a little West of Centre, has made states to a little West of Centre, has made the Canadian West far more aware of he merits of a more distant less powerful Britain. In Commonwealth talks Canada may seem to us to be just part of the dollar area, but in talks across the border Canadian are almost aggressively British. In fact Britain itself is criticised by Western Canadians for lack of self-confidence and lack of firmness. lack of self-confidence, and lack of firmness no good here."

APPROVES OF QUEBEC INFORMERS

Sir: For a person whose honesty and integrity I never doubt, your championship of margarine's possible imposturing of butter's colour is an idiosincrasy hard to understand; the only defence I can think of is that of the sylindication of freedom—which surely is more lastic. FAITH AFFORDS NO CURE

Sir: I have read two commendable editorials on moral problems in the Nov. 12 Examiner. The editorials: "The Serpent Of Regu-lation" and "A Quaker Call".

The decline in morals, noted in the state-ment of the Archbishop of York, and in your comment in "The Serpent of Regulation" can be largely accounted for by the fact that the ever-widening gap between technical sense and social nonsense has put us in a quandary: we are living in a twentieth century of scientific development while still shackled with the social ideas of earlier times plus the additional disadvantage of having learned more ways to make social blunders. It is often somewhat of a mental

In the editorial "A Quaker Call" the charge hurled against war and oppression and the appeal for decency should have the approval of all sensible people, but the Quaker declaration "...faith, ... is the hope of our troubled world, ... WINDSOR HOSPITAL MESS

Sir: Surely there is an Editor somewhere who, will have something to say about the non-committal report of Commissioner Fraser concerning the East Windsor Hospital mess; and in particular the conduct of Dr. J. C. Morgan?

Are we to believe that this sort of thing is permissible for one and all, or is it just permissible for Doctors?

I was taught that, if one took something belonging to another then, this was stealing; whether it was from an institution or a corporation. I am still persuaded that this is

What is the use of our churches trying to persuade people to do right, when wrong-doing in high places is slyly winked at? Is this the sort of thing our boys in Korea are fighting to perpetuate? Whether we know it or not, our destiny for better or worse is tied up in the answer we give to matters of this sort. The repayment of a few pattry dollars to persons wrongfully dismissed does not make wrong into right. No amount of whitewash will make a crooked fence straight.

It would be interesting to know how long Queens Park had any knowledge of things amiss, before taking action.

Yours very truly, T. J. T. WILLIAMS.

(From the Authorized Version)

For God, who commanded the light to hine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Issus Christ . . . For all things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace might through the thanksgiving of many redound to the glory of God. For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day.

For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen; for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal. (II Cor. 4:8, 15-18.)

For we know that if our earthly house of this tapernacie were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens . . . Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord . . . We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord. (II Cor. 5:1, 6, 2.)

"The general objective," say: R. A. (Bob) Blackburn, committee chairman, "is to keep faith with fans, Touchdown Club members who applied for tickets and sea son's ticket holders."

The Eskimos, as western champions, were allotted 4,244 tickets for the Nov. 29 classic by the Canadian Rugby Union. More than 300 of these "came off the top" for the team, executive mem bers and other officials.

Another 1,000 tickets were set aside for fans travelling to Toronto either by plane or train.

Earlier, applications had been sent to the 2,800 members of the Touchdown Club. They were asked to check the applications in one of three categories—going to the Grey Cup; probably going if Eskimos won in the West; and applying for tickets for friends in the East.

With Edmonton's victory, 1,400 applications for a total of 7,000 seats were received.

Applications were screened on

"Tis a poor thing but our own-and anyway we're beyond read of reprisal for nigh onto a week:

In nineteen hundred and fifty-two, Orfuns won the ORFU; Provincial championship wasn't all-Took eastern honors from Montreal: To prove that they were Canada's best,

They ousted Winnipeg in the west. We may be a bit ahead of ourself but the players won't see thi ere the big game, so it can't make 'em over-confident. Win or they'll make it a battle.

This pillar was written in advance of our leaving with the club for Winnipeg, and we'll return with them next Tuesday. A week or so ago it was doubtful if Orfuns would be heading west, even if they won the eastern grid title. Too much money required to transport a big squad so far, paying time off for work, etc. But a public appeal for funds met with a mighty fine response and so they're on their way. CHEX did a big job promoting the appeal and the officials and players pitched in to canvass the city. The citizens sure kicked in right generously on this occasion.

Folks Like Amateurs

It is quite a thing taking the public pulse and trying to figure the response. Sometimes folks will bend over backward in being 12. Don't kid a player about a bad shot—he feels bad enough.

13. Don't be too elated over a generous and other times they turn a deaf ear to appeals. Don't let too elated over a we all? That fire victims' fund steamrolled because beople were fluke, and don't grab about a bad shocked and symphathetic. But this was different thing—just a after a Canadian title? Apparently, most folks did. Possibly, the annual Grey Cup madness helped sell football fever here, and certainly pride in a city club making the national final in intermediate "A" football helped. But we think the main appeal the club had to the public was that the players were strictly amateurs. Husky men playing just for love of the game. It makes a difference.

> We've covered a lot of football down through the years. Wrote up many a Collegiate contest when Coach Ernle Legon was in charge, later when Harv Bamforth was winning titles. and later still when Bev Goulding started his fine coaching record here. Did the intermediate and senior Orfuns during the 30s and have been handling the revamped Panthers and Orfuns of post-war years. But, of course, we've never covered a Peterborough football team in a Canadian final-and it's a big thrill. They may win or they may be beaten, who knows? But we know they'll give it all they have as they have been doing so far this highly successful grid season.

The Clippers A-comin'

There's a treat in store for local hockey fans here Friday night, and we would be most remiss in falling to mention it. 'Tis Stouff-ville Clippers vs. the Petes, the same clubs which staged that fine OHA playdown series last spring. Clippers won out and went on to take provincial honors. They dropped a decision the other night in Kingston, after beating the Petes in Stouffville earlier. However, Jim Ellis said the Petes should have taken that one with better back-checking. On their own smaller ice surface, they stand fine chance of clipping the Clippers, but they'll have to hustle. It should be a dandy duel between two classy and well-matched puck

Several times in the past few weeks we've been asked to pan the mat refs after pro wrestling cards here. But w like to point out that they have a tough job in a screwy sport. Practically everything goes in pro grappling, and a ref who stopped a bout early because of illegal tactics employed by a wrestler would be boosd roundly for robbing the fans of their fun. These big grapplers are well able to take care of themselves, but even Jack Dempsey (when here as a referee a year ago was panned by the fans for letting too much go. Jack always tried to get away with plenty in the mitt game himself and he had little use for refs. As a ref now in the mat business, he lets the big guys shoot the works. Most fans

Pronovost Shows Defence Can Still Score With Two Against Rangers

By CRAIG ARMSTRONG, Canadian Press Staff Writer Marcel Pronovost is showing that the days of the high-coring defenceman aren't a thing of the past. The 22-year-old native of Shawinigan Falls, Que., Wednesday night scored both Detroit goals to bring the Red Wings from behind and Varsity, McGill register a 2-2 tie with the register a 2-2 tie with the Rangers in New York.

The tie left Detroit in fourth place in the National Hockey League standing, three points off the pace being set by Chicago Black Hawks. In the only other game, fifth-place Boston prevented Toronto from moving into first place, scoring a 2-1 win over the host Maple Leafs.

Syracuse goalie Gordie Bell became the first AHL netminder to score two shutouts this season.
Eric (Showboat) Pogue, stellar wingman obtained from St. Louis, made a sparkling debut with the Warriors, pacing them with two goals and two assists. This put them only four points out of the lead in the tightly-bunched race.
Billy Gooden also scored two and Bronce Horvath tallied the other.
The Hornets built up a 4-1 lead in the first period and then played defensive hockey to win. Bob Sabourin scored two and Ray Tim-bourin scored two and Ray Tim-gren and Willie Marshall one spiece with Vern Pennell, Sam La-vitt and Gene Achtymichuk scoring for the losers.

Predict U.S. Aid Shifts To Asia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign affairs experts predicted today the new Republican - controlled Congress will trim United States spending abroad with emphasis on military and economic aid shifting from Europe to Asia.

Foreign aid likely will kick off the first big debate in the 83rd Cengress convening Jan. 3 Exten-sion of the Mutual Assistance Pro-gram is one of the first things onits agenda.

Representative Lawrence Smith of Wisconsin, fourth-ranking Republican member of the House of Representatives Foreign Affairs. Committee, said the whole foreign aid program must be reviewed and reduced.

Among problems, Smith said, are: European failure to meet rearming goals of the North Atlantic Treaty program, France's financial troubles and the world's improved economic Republicans have been critical

Also in the category of imitative reactions in children are the tics or habit-spasms. These are involuntary movements, usually around the neck and face, and include such things as blinking the eyelids, twitching the mouth, or jerking the head or shoulders.

They often begin in imitation of someone else, but practically always in nervous or unstable children. They should not be permitted to continue since they become increasingly difficult to stop. But scolding and punishment is more likely to make things worse than better. MARMORA (ENS)-The turkey

With Elizabeth

LONDON (AP) — The Queen and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, entertained the Duke of Windsor at Buckingham Palace to day at a family luncheon in quiet observance of the Queen's fifth wedding anniversary.

Entertainment of Windsor abuckingham Palace on a day of sentimental significance to the Royal Family gave additional substance to reports that strains resulting from his abdication in 1936 have been forgotten and forgiven. There was a growing feeling in court circles that he and the American-born Duchess of Windsor will attend the Coronation of the Queen next June 2.

Canadian Viewpoints Reach England Before Delegates

By ALAN HARVEY Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (CP)—Canadian delegates to the forthcoming gathering of Commonwealth prime ministers may be surprised to learn that their opinions and attitudes have preceded them to the conference table.

The position Canada presumably will take at the London conference has already been discussed with unusual thoroughness in the British press.

Correspondents in Canada of British newspapers have cabled home lengthy analyses of the Canadian viewpoint. In general, the recurrent theme is that Canadian ministers believe Britain must adopt what they term a more realistic domestic policy.

Here are two samples of the way papers here portray Canadian sentiment:

The independent Times: The problems before the conference will be sterling area problems, in solving which outside help has so far been of limited value. The immediate question is whether the sterling countries, with a fair dose of deflation, can start the cure."

The Observer, also independent:

"In government eyes here (in Canada) the Commonwealth conference is very nearly the last lot. That was at a time when new cars were scarce, and many of his fellow workers badgered him for a sale. He reports selling 102 lems if you created "unemployment and poverty."

How did he land the agency?

While Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative government would certainly disagree with Gordon Walker's approach to economic policy, it is nevertheless probably true that fears of "unemployment and poverty" will be a governing factor in the government's handling of any suggested deflationary measures.

How did he land the agency?

"Seven years at MGM," he explained. "I dimit it I never could have got into business unless I had been earning that nice salary for seven years. I'm grateful to the studio for that, but I wasn't sorry when they didn't want to sign me again. I don't want any more long-time term studio contracts."

Aside from his present dealer.

This has long been the chief stumbling block to what Canadians would call economic realism, and it remains to be seen what part it will play in the conference that opens next week.

opens next week.
So far, the most British officials will say is that the emphasis will be on expansion of trade rather than on the restrictionism of the stinance ministers' conference last January—expressed in import cuts ilkened by some free traders here to a policy of "taking aspirins for cancer."

Hopes To Sign Army, Peace Treaties Soon

BONN, Germany (AP)—Despite his dramatic parliamentary defeat last night, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer still is confident he can get the European Army Pact and Bonn Peace Contract ratified before Christmas.

A revolt of at least 15 of Aden-auer's coalition supporters upset the Chancellor's plans to get the twin pacts ratified next week.

Pro-government newspapers at-ributed the revolt more to resentnent over French actions in the Saar than outright opposition to the European Army Plan that would put 500,000 German soldiers into the Western defence system. In London, the Foreign Office viewed the delay as "disappointing out not shattering."

The Communist press crowed over the delay. Taegliche Rundschau, Russia's official mouthpiece in East Germany, called Tuesday "a black day for the Adenauer regime."

'Crap Game" Says Leon Ames

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The actor's life is a crap game. It's all a matter of chance whether you make a mint or end up broke," This realistic statement comes from character actor Leon Ames. So far the crap game of which he speaks has brought him only 'naturals." But he has taken steps to safeguard his future, just in case his luck doesn't hold out.

Ames has protected him self against a highly unstable profession by a series of wise investments. The most notable of these is an auto dealership in the San Fernando valley a few miles from Hollywood.

"My brother-in-law, Wayne Gossett, is the brains of the organization," the actor said. "He handles most of the business details. But I help out whenever I can. I attend budget meetings and so forth. I also sell a lot of cars to friends."

When Ames first started the auto agency five years ago, he was the most popular man on the MGM lot. That was at a time when new

Aside from his present dealer-ship, Ames is angling another and is involved in a sash balance fact-

While she has been with a film unit in Seoul—not far from the Canadian area—officers of the 25th Canadian area—officers of the 25th Brigade, and especially of the Brigade, and especially of the RCHA, have been getting a lot of first-hand information about UNKRA during their visits to the capital. (The number of reasons that can be produced to justify a trip down from the front is apparently infinite.)

Invitations to visit the unit increased and multiplied, until finally she said she might go. A United States army brigadier-general said he'd give her a lift in his plane.

A GREAT WELCOME

A GREAT WELCOME

A jeep was waiting for her at the advanced airstrip and by the time it was climbing the hill into brigade headquarters, officers and men were piling out of the command tents. The brigade major, who hadn't believed his corporal, took a casual look out of his caravan window and in the next breath was on the wing.

Over at the RCHA area, where she lunched at the officers' mess, Mrs. Heath's arrival was a sensation.

Pearl Bailey Weds Drummer

LONDON (AP) — Louis Bellson Jr., Wednesday married Pearl Bailey, an "oh-so-happy" singer of the blues.

Bellson, 29, is a white drummer in Duke Ellington's band. Miss Bailey, 34, is negro. They were married in Gaxton Hall, the reg-istry office.

The marriage was held up some minutes because the man who was to be chief witness, actor Jose Ferrer, was delayed in his trip from Paris.

Seigi Sessler, secretary of a club in Berkley Square, became best man and was host to the mar-riage party at a luncheon at his club after the ceremony.

About 200 persons crushed about Gaxton Hall's front door to watch the arrival of the bridal pair.

Bellson married despite the pro-test of his father, a music-store owner in Moline, Ill. The father objected to his son's marrying a Negro.

The couple plan to return to the United States in about two weeks after Miss Bailey completes a singing engagement here.

Map Land Near Millbrook For Reformatory Site Hope To Start Construction

Hope To Build $1,500,000 Reformatory For Aard-to-Manage Prisoners On 50-Acre Site Enclosed By Wall

Surveyors from the Department of Public Works are mapping the area west of Millbrook village to determine the best place to build the $1,500,000 reformatory for desperate prisoners. Major John Foote, minister of reform institutions, announced last August, shortly after the riots in Guelph reformatory, that a new reformatory for hard-to-manage prisoners would be built in the Millbrook area. However the escape of the Boyd gang from the Don jail and the difficulty of finding the most suitable site GetShorterWeek have combined to slow down this Increase In Pay

Major Foote told the Examiner today that the area is now being mapped out by the Department of Public Works which buys all government land. Before building starts there must be considerable planning.

As the reformatory is to be a self-contained unit the layout of the land has to be studied for drainage, installation of a waterworks system, and a sewage disposal plant.

The ownership of the land must be checked. Some of the owners of land under consideration live elsewhere in Ontario or even in the United States.

HOPE TO START

"We hope to get some grading and engineering work done this fall." said Major Foote. "Then Sick heneity ages from the work week the total increase in the money equivalent of 9 to 11 cents an hour.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—One man was sent to the Ontario reformatory for a possible two years Wednesday on cheque fraud charges, upon conviction in city court here, as police in London and Toronto held two other men they claim are linked to a swindle of bank accounts.

Alfred Beattie, 31, of Sarnia, was convicted of a second fraud harge.

The 78 officers and men sailed of The Total to the liner Scythia for Rotterdam and duty with Canada's 27th Infantry Brigade in Germany.

The group, commanded by Maj. R. H. Lahaie of Montreal, will reduce the counts.

After Beattie, 31, of Sarnia, was convicted of a second fraud harge.

Alfred Beattie, 31, of Sarnia, was convicted of a second fraud charge when he appeared in court Wednesday. He had been convicted of the first Oct. 31. Sentence was imposed for the two charges, involving 12 months determinate and 12 months indeterminate in reformatory on both charges, the terms to zun concurrent.

TURNER VALLEY FLARES

After the gasoline and a few other products had been taken out, more gas was left than could be sold. Conservation regulations had not been developed. Enough gas was burned off in flares to supply sweet of Canada's major cities. In those days, through Turner Valley, you could read a newspaper at midnight by the light of the flares. When low evening clouds reflected them back, Calgary, 40 miles away, saw what it called a "Turner Valley sunset."

Today, such production would not be permitted unless the gas could be used.

Today, such production would not be permitted unless the gas could be used.

There still was no crude oil—except for a discovery in 1920 at Norman Wells, near the arctic circle—but the hot flame of oil burned deep into the public mind in the West as new wet gas wells came into production and the days mounted into the stock market boom of the late '20s.

Stocks went from cents to $20 and more, and paper profits piled up and up—only to be consumed in the crash of 1929 which ushered in the depression.

Those who could hung on to what was worthwhile in their investments, and the real workers of the industry, those with faith to see a rainbow at the bottom of a miledeep hole, kept drilling.

BRING IN WELL-Most spectacular operation in bringing in a new oil well is burning of waste oil which has been contaminated from mud, water and chemicals used in drilling. For safety, the waste is taken from the roof of the well and carried through a pipe several hundred feet before being lighted. This well is Imperial Schoepp No. 1, discovery well of the Golden Spike field, northeast of Edmonton.

MODERN DRILL — A driller at one of Imperial Oil's extension wells in the Leduc-Woodbend area of Alberta guides the drill stem and bit into the rotary table after changing a drilling bit. Boring through hard rock dulls even the tough metal of the bits which must be changed frequently.

Queen's Guineas Biggest Draw For 4-H Clubs

TORONTO (CP) — One of the biggest events of the Royel Agricultural Winter Fair — at least as far as Canada's young farmers are concerned — came today.

The event, which has had some $5 youngsters working for the last several days, is the competition for the Queen's Guineas. This contest is to select the best steer exhibited by a qualified member of the 4-H beef calf clubs of Ontario.

The late King Edward VII, then Prince of Wales, set up a fund for the development of agriculture in Ontario. This fund pays a first prize of some $250 and $100 to the 38thibitor of the best steer in each breed.

Cattle judging still holds centre stage at the fair today. Dairy cattle judging opened Monday and has almost been completed while jud-ging of beef and market breeds is well under way.

CATTLE, HORSES SHOWN

Last night Quebec and Maritime cattle and horse breeders exhibiting at the fair were honored at the evening session of the horse show. Prize winning animals from the eastern provinces true & dearound the ring while Re Trepanier, Quebec Deputy Minister of Agriculture, described the winners and their exploits over a miblic address. their exploits over a public address

Quebec breeders captured three of four awards in Ayrshire judging yesterday. R. R. Ness and Sons of Howick, Que., won both the Lessnessock Challenge Trophy and the title of premier exhibitors while J. H. Black of Lachute, Que., won the Carnell Challenge Trophy Stansell Brothers of Aylmer, Ont., were named premier Ayrshire breeders. Eight world championship trophies, each valued at more than $2,000, were awarded Wednesday—in wheat, oats, barley, rye, corn, scybaans, potatoes and forage crop seeds. Hon. C. C. Baker, agriculture minister of Prince Edward Island, presided over the presentation.

The soybean trophy, only one of the eight taken by an Ontario exhibitor, was accepted for 20-year-old Daniel A. Clunis of Ridgetown by his mother. Daniel was writing exams at Toronto's Ryerson Institute of Technology.

MARMORA (ENS)—Harold Olsen, general manager of the Bethlehem Steel Company's mine at Marmora, was guest speaker at the Marmora Home and School Association's meeting in the public school on Wednesday evening. He also showed an interesting series of colored slides of scenes and operations at the mine. In his talk he described the aero magnetic survey which began in 1948 and was completed in the spring of 1950. Diamond drilling began in June of 1950, finished in August, 1951. Samples of the ore sent to the raw material research laboratory of the company showed the ore body could be profitably worked. It has been estimated that twenty million tons sonstitute the ore body is just as small a body as can be mined profitably. The speaker was introduced by A. F. Fraser and thanked by Mrs. G. Manchester.

Commenting on a Save the Children Fund' circular letter, Principal E. C. Prentice pointed out that five classes were contributing consistently to the Red Cross. Attendance of grandparents and parents by classes was next taken by Mr. Prentice, with Miss Hilda Taft's class winning the award. The principal then referred to coats having been left in the two halls by children and suggested parents present might inspect them with a view to reclaiming them as some had been there for months.

Mrs. M. Kouri gave the financial statement which was satisfactory. The president called attention to the musical pageant, "The Christmas Story," for which Miss Olga Wurm is training the school pupils and which is to be held in the town hall on Dec. 17. She called for volunteers to assist in the making of special costumes. Mrs. A. F. Fraser played a pianoforte solo, which was followed by a contest in which contestants were paired. Honors went to Mrs. Ritchie Wells.

Refreshments were served by mothers of Grade 2 pupils.

YOUR ESTATE

Long recognized as a great Estate builder, Life Insurance also plays an important role in protecting other assets of an Estate.

Succession Duties and Income Taxes, priority obligations of an Estate, must be provided for in cash before there can be any distribution to heirs. When funds are not readily available, it may be necessary to raise money by the sale of assets in an unfavourable market, at considerable sacrifice.

One way to avoid the danger of such a loss is to arrange now for Life Insurance to cover the expenses to which the Estate will later be subject.

Why not talk over, with one of our experienced Officers, plans for the protection of your Estate?

Honor Miss Mamie Collins Organist For 25 Years

MILLBROOK (ENS).—Presentation of a gold wrist watch was made Tuesday afternoon to Miss Mamie Collins by the rector, the Rev. A. A. Chote, and the wardens D. R. Fowler and G. A. Spicer, from the congregation of St. Thomas' Anglican Church. Miss Collins has ben as organist and choir leader of St. Thomas for more than 25 years. This year she had to resign on account of her health. Ever since she was a girl of 15 Miss Collins has been helping with the church organ. At first she was the assistant of Mrs. W. C. Allen, the wife of the Canon, who served for many years as the rector of the parish of Cavan. Later when Mrs. Allen resigned Miss Collins was named organist and choir leader.

The address which accompanied the watch said in part: "Your many years of work with our choir and church music have meant a great deal in making our services so beautiful and meaningful. Your life and Christian witness have also been a constant inspiration and challenge to all of us."

She attended Bishop Strachan She attended Bishop Strachan School in Toronto where she specialized in music. While there she studied with Mr. J. W. H. Harrison of the faculty of the Toronto Conservatory of Music and organist of St. Simon's Anglican Church. After graduation she continued to go to Toronto for weekly lessons from Mr. Harrison.

At first it had been planned to make the presentation a public one, but it was decided later to have it done by the rector and wardens in Miss Collins' home.

Thanksgiving Day.

Making up my mind after tasting trial batches nearly slaps me I corner all of my fussy-tasting friends and give them pieces to taste, then watch their expressions and remember their sometimes overfrank comments, — such as "can anybody afford to make it?"

They are not costly cakes. The ones I am giving you are primarily my choaces, but I am thankful I can say that Pete, Peady (my sister) and Barb are strongly in favor of them, too.

Fruit cake ingredients are valuable, so please observe every detail of the instructions. By this I mean sift the flour, steam the raisins, put water pan in bottom of oven. The results are worth all of your efforts.

Are you feeling ambitious? Good luck, friends.

CHRISTMAS DARK FRUIT CAKE (about 6 lbs.).

One cup soft butter or best quality shortening, 2 cups brown sugar, 6 large eggs, 3 cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon each sait, baking powder, cinnamon, ½ teaspoon each mace, cloves, baking soda, ¾ cup strong coffee, ½ cup tart jelly, ½ cup molasses OR corn syrup, 1 lb. seedless raisins (steamed and dried), 1 lb, mixed peels and half red and green glace cherries. If desired some of the cherries or peels may be replaced with candied pineapple), ½ lb. 'each washed and dried currants, stoned and cut dates, nut meats (walnuts, almonds blanched or pecans), the grated rind of 1 orange and 1 lemon and juice of 1 orange and 1 lemon. Cream together the shortening and sugar until they are fluffy and light, then beat in the eggs. (This step may be done by electric beater at low speed.) by electric beater at low speed.) Sift together all of the remaining dry ingredients. Stir in the dry ingredients alternately with the ingredients alternately with the coffee, jefly and molasses or corn syrup. Then blend in all of the fruits and nuts. Line regular size loaf pans with heavy wrapping paper and grease it thoroughly with butter. Fill pans a little more than ¾ full, levelling the top. Bake at 275 or 300 deg. Fahr. for 2½ to 3 hours, with water pan in bottom of oven throughout. To test for doneness try with wooden test for doneness try with wooder toothpick at centre. When it comes out clean, cakes are done. Do not overbake cakes. Be sure your oven thermometer is accurate. The strong flavor fruit cakes sometimes have is due to overbaking — which caramelizes the sugar in the dried fruits. Cool cakes on racks, then wrap in waxed paper, then in towels and

The speech said:

The My ministers have indicated to the CBC that they now are prepared to consider applications for licences for private television broadcasting stations which may be recommended by the CBC to serve areas which could not be served at this time by public stations.

SEEKS EXPANSION

The Canadian government seeks expansion rather than a refrench-condition rather than a refrench comment in foreign trade. A big part of Canadian prosperity depends on exports.

Trade Minister Howe said recently of the conference:

"I hope that useful results will emerge and that progress will be made towards the objectives we all seek—a removal of the restrictions.

The new television policy coinded with a shift in the top administrative posts of the CBC.

To Seek Priority For Resolution In UN Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and seven other countries, including Canada, were reliably reported today to have decided to accept India's compromise plan for settling the Korean prisoner-of-war deadlock-subject to two changes. The question of what to do with Red prisoners, held by the UN, who say they don't want to go say they don't want to go home has been holding up an armistice. The eight countries —Canada, Australia, Britain, Colombia, Denmark, France, the United States and Turkey—also the Indian plan be given priority over all other Korean resolutions in the UN General Assembly.

in the UN General Assembly.

India proposed that both the UN and the Reds turn over their prisoners — totalling 132,000 — to a commission made up of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland and Sweden, If this commission should become deadlocked, it would elector ask the General Assembly to choose an impartial umpire.

The eight decided today to recommend that the Indian resolution be amended to provide that if the four did not agree to an umpire within three weeks they would hand the problem back to the Assembly.

Machine May Fix Role Abitibi Com Of Tobacco In Cancer BC For Prod

WASHINGTON (AP) — A machine that automatically smokes cigarets — and exposes mice to the smoke — may help settle the controversy over whether tobaccos smoke can cause lung cancer, a Chicago scientist reports.

Dr. J. M. Essenberg announced yesterday that in experiments with such a mechanical puffer almost 32 per cent more lung tumors—some of them definitely malignant—showed up among mice exposed in the gadget than among those in nearby smokeless chamber. in their municipalities.

The county property committee heard a report from Clerk Frank Weldon that the deputy inspector of legal offices for the province, Mr. Moore, had complained about what he called "a mess" in the registry office here. He said the provincial officer had told him that many deeds in the country were improperly made out, and persons could no longer obtain clear title to their land when they bought it. The trouble stems from early methods of surveying, which early methods of surveying, which were a hit and miss at best. The clerk cited the example of a block elerk cited the example of a block in the southwest corner of Lindsay, which was found to be improperly laid out, and has been re-surveyed, under the direction of the Department of Planning and Development. Even in this case, where two surveyors were hired to make the re-examination of the land, two different results were reached by each.

20 Beds For Incurables Added To New Hospital

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The boards of Campbelliford's two hospitals the old, and the new, held a joint meeting this week, to discuss the opening of the new Campbelliford Memorial Hospital. The hospital did not open in November as money was still lacking to complete work.

Now the board has the money and the new building will be officially opened in the spring of 1963.

There have been a number of misleading amnouncements regarding the opening date, and this has brought the usual criticism of the board by citizens. It was decided at the joint meeting to set no definite date so that the public will not be again disappointed.

A. J. Meyers, chairman of the new hospital board, said that there has never been a time when a definite date could be set for the opening, because of the lack of funds, but now the board has the money and the hospital can be opened soon.

EXTRA 26 BEDS

Plans for the new hospital have grown with the building, and now instead of a 38-bed institution, 20 more beds wil be added in one wing of the ground floor, making 58 beds. The extra 20 beds will be for incurables. For the present, however, the hospital will operate on its opening as a 38-bed institution, with full use of the additional space for the extra 20 beds to come at a later date. The board has appointed a purchasing committee to equip the building.

'he board received an additional government grant, so that 4,000 square feet of floor space, that had one of the new 20 bed addition.

Dull Speech From The Throne

The Speech from the Throne which Governor-General Massey delivered yesterday is one of the dullest we can remember. That is not Mr. Massey's fault; like the Speech which the Queen recently read from her Throne, the Canadian speech was dictated by the Government A dull Speech from the Throne may be a sign that government is operating smoothly, in accord with the wishes of the people, and that no startling legislative acts are required to advance the course of the country. On the other hand, it may indicate a lethargic Government attitude towards Parliament and a desire to rule by order-in-council rather than by Parliament.

The principal items of the Speech were calculated to stroke every section of the country with a paternal hand. Navigation improvements on the Pacific coast will be studied. A new wheat agreement will be negotiated in Washington. A bill will revise federal acts resulting from the entry of Newfoundland into the Canadian confederation and new fishing methods on the Atlantic. Children of war veterans who died as a result of their service will be given greater educational aid. Rural mail carriers will get more money. Businessmen had a wave of the wand: applications for private television stations are to be considered.

Of general interest were the promises to build a national library without delay, Coronation Day. A significant omission from the Speech was any reference to tax reductions. The omission was expected; any such reductions will not be all) until a time nearer the general elections, which now seem likely next Fall.

The one important piece of administrative information contained in the Speech was the announcement that an 'associate minister" of National Defence will be appointed, to work with Defence Minister Claxton. Such an appointment may be due not to the burden of work on Mr. Claxton's shoulders but to the pile of recriminations, accusations and criticism on his head.

Our Editorial Room Lacks A Psychiatrist's Couch

The language frequently heard in our office would scandalize a hard-rock miner; it sometimes even makes us blush and sends the young ladies at reporters' desks running for ear plugs (which, of course, they never, never use). We hasten to say it is not us or our gentlemanly colleagues in the newsroom who raise the devil and the roof, but some of our angry visitors. "Those blankety blank of blankety blank police. Do you know what the such and such sons of such and such did to me a half-hour ago?" (We guess it before he saysthey gave him a parking ticket.) "That so-and-so up at the City Hall, if he knew what we think of him he would ...". "The crooks who run the . . .".

The language is not always lurid. Sometimes our visitors' statements are just plain libel and slander: of business men, city officials, tax collectors, neighbors, lawyers, county councillors, dog catchers, house builders, clergymen, and yes, even of editors. Statements, expressive of prejudice rather than opinion. four walls were not as sacrosanct as a confessional be

No Reason For Despair

The Toronto Globe and Mail thinks that what it calls "plain, old-fashioned honesty" is in decline. It appears that recently a truck driver on Fleet Streetin Toronto spilled a large quantity of toilet soap on the pavement, and motorsts, other truckers and pedestrians ran to the scene and made off with all the soap they could carry. There was a time, muses the Globe, when these passers-by would have helped the man to recover what he had lost, but "now it's every a large bundle of something-or-other as it rounded a curve. Within thirty seconds two following cars and an approaching truck had signalled to the driver that he had lost something, and he recovered it with obvious gratitude. This incident, we suggest, is quite as characteristic of our age as the one described by the Toronto morning paper.

On December 5, 1946, a large D.V.A. Hospital in this city burned to the ground, and on December 7 we published an editorial headed "The Two Peterboroughs", in which we called attention to the fact that, while scores of local people chance to steal and pillage the ruin; the latter group were a minority, but not an who join the bigger group anywhere) we can never be certain which and group will be most strongly represented in any crowd. But there are plenty of honest people about, and we do not think that honesty is "old-fashioned". Indeed, we have known travellers from other countries to comment that Canadians are, as the people of the world go, remarkably honest and decent in their conduct. We cannot hope for a hundred per cent. score, but we believe that our score is a high one.

What 'Canadian Way Of Life'?

Several times during the past fortnight we have seen references in other newspapers to "the Canadian way of life," and we are curious to have this and to plan a Canadian celebration on phrase explained. Is there any particularly significant way in which our civilization here differs from that which exists in the U.S.A., or in England, or in Australia, or in half a dozen other counannounced (if they are forthcoming at tries? We do not speak, of course, of details; we are thinking of our political and moral outlook. If great differences exist, we are not aware of them.

We think that because some writers in the U.S.A. like to talk of "the American way of life," certain Canadian writers have fallen into the trap of suplife" characteristic of our nation. We regret this; it has a "me-too" flavour about it which Canada does not need. We shall certainly never have a recognizable Canadian way of life if we are of other neighbour nations.

We are not even sure if it would be a good thing for Canada to have a way of other civilized countries. The great age of nationalism has gone, we hope, for ever, and a new spirit of internationalism is striving to take its place. Life in Canada has its own flavour, and as our population grows and our length of days increases, it will become plainer to everybody who visits us that we are a people of marked individuality. But this is not the same thing as pretending that we are, in some mystical fashion, set apart from other people of similar racial background and business and cultural interests to our own. We do not tural interests to our own. We do not tural interests to our own. We do not wished next day were then reading Plato's of the old city buildings have been saved from tural interests to our own. We do not tural interests to our own. The princess: A medley'!. The results are what might be rather, for a world in which the similarities between civilized nations greatly outweigh their differences. Let us not of the ornaments of the professions even in the fun of it.

A worthwhile way of life is not something eccentric-something which catches the eye of the world by its divergence from standards which the wisest and best people have clung to in it is centred, which would roast the accused alive, and every country and in every age. If obviously Peterborough. The same elegant every country and in every age. If detachment one observes in the second essay send the accuser to jail for a year if our Canada wants a "way of life" that will is patent in this, too.

> both personal and social. Personal: to care for what is noble, for what is beautiful, for what is gentle; to allow moments of in-sight to give wisdom at more mundane times. Social: to see in imagination the society that is to be created, where individuals grow freely, and where hate and greed and envy die because there is noth-ing to nourish them. These things I be-lieve, and the world, for all its horrors, has unshaken. Let us make that the Canadian way of life.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore

DEAR ALPHA: In a recent well-known American magazine, I read an article itled "England Prepares to Crown a man for himself."

Not quite. Last week we were driving on the highway to Port Hope and a truck at some distance ahead of us lost Queen." I was somewhat surprised to note the following statement: "In the modern world, the ceremony is unique, for no monarch arch of any other country is ever crowned."

The last clause was printed in italics.

Is it true that in none of the countries where monarchy is still maintained and respected, the monarch is crowned? I have been further confused by reading since then an article in which a reference was made to the Coronation of Halle Selassie of Ethopia.

ANSWER: At first glance the statement appears nonsensical. Have we not read that Princess Juliana was "crowned" as Queen of the Netherlands on September 6th, 1948, and remembered that British and Canadian representatives attended the ceremonies? That in October, 1959, the Crown Prince of Sweden, Gustay Adolf was crowned King of Sweden, Gustav Adolf was crowned King of Sweden? Surely a country does not have a Crown Prince and no crown?

On looking more closely into the matter the fact that, while scores of local people helped to fight the fire, save equipment and provide for the inmates of the hospital, there were others who took the "inaugurated" King. I cannot now answer your question; if any reader has special knowledge of coronation ceremonies in varilatter group were a minority, but not an ous parts of the world I hope he will write inconsiderable one. There are always Alpha about it. Perhaps the Netherlands two elements in any community—the has no crown, nor Sweden, with which to honest and the dishonest (and wobblers crown the ruler. Haile Selassie does have who join the bigger group anywhere) a crown—I have seen pictures of him wearing it—but whether or not there was a nation for him, I cannot say.

SIR: Is the Combines Investigation Act a fairly new one and a wartime measure to investigate monopolies in Canada?'Or does t go back to Depression days?

ANSWER: It goes back farther than that. Statute of Canada in 1907 and resulted from bill introduced by the Laurier Government.

TWO COUNTRY WALKS: A gentle reader of this column has called my attention (following the note several weeks ago on the Haultains) to a book by Arnold Haultain called "Two Country Walks".

It was published in 1903 in Toronto, and consists of two essays on Ontario life and ways and topography, previously published in English magazines. The first essay, 'Winter', appeared in the Nineteenth Century; the second, 'Autumn' in Blackwoods Magazine. From internal evidence I think they must have appeared in the magazines several years earlier than 1903.

The two "Walks" were merely an excuse for ruminations on the scene and customs of southern Ontario, although in the second essay the author seems actually to have taken a walk from Toronto east along the lakeshor oad to Whitby, and perhaps even as far as Cobourg.

From their tone and style the essays migh have been written a hundred years ago, and not merely fifty-odd. The writer assumes a paternal, superior position to the hunks and clods around him, admitting however, that posing that we, too, must have a "way of the scenery can, really, you know, be wonderfully beautiful and Sunday in an Ontario country town quite quaint, in a rustic fash-ion. (He names the lakeshore town Bebington, intending it to represent all the lakeshore places from Belleville to Whitby.)

forever imitating the shallower thinking MR. HAULTAIN writes as if he were some gently-strung Englishman instead of a Canadian, the son of General Haultain who lived at 59 McDonnel Street. He was of a good thing for Canada to have a way course, originally writing for English read-of life which differed sharply from that ers in England, and conscious of English superiority and Canadian colonialism.

"Canada plumes herself on the possession of an educational system unrivalled world. It certainly is elaborate-elaborate and abundant." Noting that primary edu cation is free and obligatory, that secondary education is available "for a minute weekly pittance", and that "fifty guineas per annum will pay all the fees at a great University", he asks if such a system does not have its 'seamy side".

"It is apt to teach the sons of farmers things somewhat alien to the plough. The head forms yearn for a world in which all national expected: the sons of farmers forsake the distinctions have perished; we ask, plough,-forsake it for the professions; not always to the benefit of the professions; not always to the benefit of themselves"

Mr. Haultain does not mention that many attempt to create differences just for his own day (and many professors and university heads) were farmers' sons. Without them the professions in Canada would have been in a pretty sorry state.

THE FIRST ESSAY, 'Winter' is especially interesting because the town on which s centred, which he names 'Dummer', is

(From the Authorized Version)

Then cometh he to his disciples, and saith nto them, Sleep on now, and take your rest: behold, the hour is at hand, and the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners . . . And while he yet spake, lo, Judas, one of the twelve, came, and with him a great multitude with swords and staves, from the chief priests and elders of the people . . . And, behold, one of them which were with Jesus stretched out his hand, and drew his sword, and struck a servant of the high priest's, and smote off his ear.

Then said Jesus unto him, Put up again thy sword into his place: for all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword. Think-est thou that I cannot now pray to my Father, and he shall presently give me more than twelve legions of angels? But how then shall the scriptures be fulfilled, that thus it must be? (Matt. 26:45, 47, 51-54.)

And there were also two other, malefactors led with him to be put to death. And when they were come to the place, which is called Calvary, there they crucified him, and the malefactors, one on the right hand, and the other on the left. (Luke 23:32, 33.)

Now when Jesus was risen early the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils . . . After that he appeared in another form unto two of them, as they walked, and went into the country . . . Afterward he appeared unto the eleven as they sat at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not them which had seen him after he was risen.

And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature . . So then after the Lord had spoken unto them, he was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God. (Mark 16:9, 12, 14, 15, 19.)

The Common Informer

(Montreal Star)

The provincial government might be wise to give second thought to the proposal to reintroduce the common informer system here, whether with regard to margarine or anything else. It is a practice that is disappearing elsewhere in the belief that it is wrong to encourage a classical in the second seco rights in English law for a very long time until last year, when a bill supported by all parties put a stop to his practices. There were then 43 acts under which the common informer could bring action, and it was dis-covered that a number of people made a living in this way without working.

This practice dated in England from the time of Edward III, when an act was passed in connection with breaches of the law in street markets and fairs. By this any member of the public might inform and recover a part of the specified penalty. It was the absence of police and municipal officials that gave the practice some social sanction, but this condition has long since disappeared.

There is another ground of objection. It was raised during the debate in the British House last year. The existence of a law by which the informer may be rewarded encourages the blackmailer. In the British House the story was related of a man who set himself up in the business, He was able to induce people to enter into agreements with him under which an annual payment was made in consideration of his not informing He made thousands of pounds out of what a Member of Parliament described as "this business."

WOLVES AT HIS DOOR-Norwood's goalie, Howe (in pictures above), had more than one wolf at his door all through Thursday night's midget game with Otonabee Wolves. Wolf Ken Darling (16) (top photo) flipped the puck at Howe who cleared but the rebound was wacked in by McCracken for the fourth goal. Howe (lower photo) keeps the Wolves away on a close-in try. The wolves won 8-1. Other scores were: bantam. Higher In OHA Fasten your safety belts, fellows, here's a sports item from Civic arena manager, Walter Smillie, that may rock you. Girls. yes girls, may be playing hockey in an organized league this year in Ontario and it's quite possible that Peterborough will have a team.

Recently Mr. Smillie, received a letter in connection with hockey for girls and he's passed it on to interested Peterborough parties.

for girls and he's passed it on to interested Peterborough parties. From reports, coming out of Toronto, the league may materialize this year.

Just in case you didn't know, fellow, hockey for girls is not new in the Peterborough district. In fact our female friends have been playing hockey for a number of years in the smaller towns. Even here in Peterborough several girls' teams have played exhibition games. They're fun to watch.

Young's Point and Warsaw have featured girls' teams

Senior A League standings tonight. The Redmen, who downed the winless Hamilton Tigers 8-3 Thursday night, are hosts to second-place Owen Sound. Sarnia, holding down third spot, meets sixth-place Chatham and Kitchener, in fifth position, faces Stratford Indians, the league leaders. A Sarnia loss coupled with a victory for the Redmen would move Brantford into a tie with the Sailors for second place.

Young's Point and Warsaw have featured girls' teams during the past two winters and so have other villages and corners to the north of Peterborough. In last year's games, althought the girls weren't polished passers and checkers, they did provide "interesting" games with scratching, hair-

Playoff Game Toss Up, Odds On Weatherman By JACK SULLIVAN TORONTO (CP) — Take your choice on the third-game suddendeath Big Four football final Saturday, but the only guy who shapes up as a winner is the weatherman. Whichever way you look at it, the condition of the field may deter mine whether Toronto Argonauts or Hamilton Tiger-Cats advance into next Wednesday's suddendeath eastern final. And the forecaster isn't optimistic. Varsity Stadium now is a 110yard field of mud and it is doubtful whether the $12,000 C a n ad i a n tugby the Larpatulin will be spread over it in am affort to assure almost-ideal football consitions.

U.S. Firms Pat On Gas From Peace R.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The big bankroll boys of U. S. Pacific Northwest gas industries are say-ing they won't sit around the poker table with British Columbia.

But in their reply to B. C.'s an-nouncement of an "international poker game" with water rights and natural gas the stakes, they add they have no thoughts of shunning the conference table.

Lands Minister Robert Sommers said Americans, who are on power rationing in the Pacific Northwest, won't get water rights on the Koot-enay River system unless they agree to take Peace River natural gas.

Without an American market, construction of a pipeline through B. C. is not economically feasible. Without an agreement with B. C., The U.S. can't increase storage for the Columbia River hydro sysapproved by the board of transport commissioners.

The president of Portland Gas and Coke, Charles Gueffroy, said:

"I don't like the sound of that kind of business... If Peace River gas is more economical, we would be glad to take it. We don't see the necessity to combine it with the electric power question."

it with the electric power question . . "

And a B. C. organization formed to coax new industries to the Pacific Coast Thursday launched an attack against what it called "big stick" tactics to force the U. S. to buy Peace River gas. "The best way to create a stubborn opposition," said a spokesman for the Greater Vancouver Metropolitan Industrial Development Commission, "is to hold a big stick over their head."

County Seeks More Revenue From Province

LINDSAY (ENS)—The newlyopened county registry office received a share of attention at Thursday's committee session of the Victoria county council. Warden Webster commended that the county was gaining nothing from the registry office, in the way of finances, and expressed the thought the province should help with the maintenance of the office. "We're playing Santa Claus to the Department of Planning" he said.

The warden moved a resolution

The amnouncement followed filing by 36 of the 37 of papers qualifying them to run in the election.

Officials declared elected Mrs.

to the Department of Planning" he said.

The warden moved a resolution that the department assume part of the costs of maintenance of the office. Clerk Frank Weldon noted that the county did receive some revenue from the registry office, but received nothing from the operation of the surrogate office in the court house.

The warden suggested that the county could obtain an extra revenue from the registry office by assessing a land transfer tax on all property transactions, equaling that taken out by the province. Council finally decided to set up a small committee to attempt to draft a resolution concerning the registry office, the sheriffs office and to review the county offices, and the revenue it would be possible to derive from them.

Canada's Oil Reserves Are Increasing At Rate Of 3,000,000 Barrels A Year

Some figures make dull reading. This story is full of figures—but it is not dull because the figures are about a spectacular young industry that is changing the coonomy of C a n a d a and affecting all Canadians. It is the statistical story of western ellmone of a series of timely articles by Forbes R h u d p. Canadian Press business editor, who has just toured the oil fields to tell you what is going on.

By FORBES RHUDE Canadian Press Business Editor

Before oil was discovered at Le-duc, near Edmonton, in early 1947 Canada's total oil reserves were estimated at 700,000,000 barrels.

Today they are thought to be 1,-700,000,000 barrels—and the estimate is growing at a rate of 300,000,000 barrels a year.

What figure Canadian reserves may ultimately reach is anybody's guess. Forecasts run from 5,000,000,000 to 20,000,000,000 barrels.

These are vital figures to Canadians, for each Canadian, one way or another, uses an average of 11 barrels of oil a year—for gasoline, furnace fuel, face cream, or any one of the thousands of uses for oil products.

TEXAS YARDSTICK

By oil reserves is meant the es-timate of the amount of oil which can be ultimately be brought up from known fields.

Comparisons of Canadian reserves tend to be made with Texas, Texas has half the proved reserves of the United States, which total nearly 32,000,000,000 barrels, and about 10 times the proved reserves of Western Canada.

But Western Canada has 770,000 square miles of area geologically, favorable to the existence of oil, running from the United States bor-der to the Arctic Ocean, and this is three times the favorable area of

So, if the Texas experience is repeated, Canada has a lot of oil to uncover.

Statistics about oil are heavy reading, but the reality behind only 20,841 barrels or nine per cent of her needs. She bought the rest from other countries.

CONTROL PRODUCTION

This year, Canada will use about 455,000 barrels a day and will produce about 169,000 barrels or 37 per cent of her needs. Actually, she could produce nearly 70 per cent of her needs from present wells.

Production is held down because so far it is more economic to import oil into the more eastern parts of Canada and into British Columbia than to pay transportation costs from Alberta.

About 96 per cent of Cahada's oil production comes from Alberta.

The Alberta fields best known to the public are Leduc and Redwater, in the Edmonton area, and Turner Valley, south of Calgary.

But now such names as Wizard Lake and Bonnie Glen are catching on, and with reason.

ABOVE AND BELOW-Some of Alberta's farmers are doubly fortunate. While they harvest a bountiful crop from the surface of the fields, drills probe for oil beneath the surface. This is a scene from Alberta's (and Canada's) biggest oil field, Redwater.

OTTAWA (CP)—A busy session in reply to the speech from the confronts members of Canada's throne.

Zist Parliament.

The motion will be moved today in reply to the speech from the throne. Zist Parliament.

The speech from the throne, read Thursday at the opening of the Parliament's seventh session forecast more than 30 government measures. In Addition, members will be asked to approve votes for a series of public works projects.

More than a dozen bills are understood to be ready for introduction Monday.

The introduction, with a brief explanation of each bill, would come shortly before the leaders of the four political parties in the Commons launch the debate on the motion for adoption of an address.

A hint of possible tax reductions was contained in the speech, read in the senate amid customary dependence of the four political parties in the Commons launch the debate on the motion for adoption of an address.

A prime Minister St. Laurent has said there could be no tax reductions until the danger of an outbreak of war on a global scale," said the speech.

Prime Minister St. Laurent has said there could be no tax reductions until the danger of war lessened.

But the speech contained little to indicate whether an election is in prospect for 1953.

Because of "continued international tension," the government, will seek a renewal of the Emergency Powers Act, passed following the outbreak of war in Korea.

Parliament will be asked to approve appointment of an associate minister of national defence to assist Defence Minister Claxton with Canada's multi-billion dollar defence program.

OTTAWA (CP)—The city dweller has a new gauge to measure his living costs, but the farmer still must depend on a 14-year-old measuring gadget.

It may be another two or three years, say officials, before the bureau of statistics develops something similar to the new consumer price index for the rural dweller.

Until then, farm family living costs will continue as part of a composite index which deals with such other things as farm wage rages, taxes and price change in equipment and materials.

ON 1935-39 PRICES

This index is based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100 and the last time it was brought up to date was in 1938.

A new survey was made in 1948, and out of this came the new consumer price index, covering urban residents, based on 1948 prices equalling 100 and replacing the old yardstick, the cost-of-living index.

The 1948 survey also contained a sampling of rural trends, but bureau men have been so busy launching the new CPI that they've yet to find time to tackle a new Holsteins on the farm of Pred Stevens

ARTHRITIC PAIN

Almost Unbearable

"My husband is a carpenter on the milway," writes Mrs. Jack Taylor, St. Catharines, Ont. "One morning he went to work and found he could not climb the ladder to do his work. A dull pain in his shoulder and leg was almost unbearable. The druggist recommended T-R-C's. My husband took 2 capsules and before the day was over he was back at work again. Now, if he has any pain at all, he carries T-R-C's in his lunch pail.

Greene Rejects Visa

For 8-Week U.S. Stay

London (AP)—Graham Greene, noted Roman Catholic author, disclosed today that he had rejected a visa granted by U. S. Attorney-General James P. McGranery for an eight-week stay in the United States.

The British writer also said he previously had deliberately let it be known that he once had been a member of the Communist Party in order to obtain publicity against Senators Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep.-Wis) and Patrick A. McCartar (DEM. Nev.)

Both senators have been leaders of Congressional probes into Communist influence in the United States.

Greene joined the Oxford section of the Communist Party as a probationary member when he was 19—but quit after four weeks.

Quebec Widow Kept Busy As Canadian UN Delegate

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER.
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—
Mme. Louis Berger says she was afraid of losing her job with the Canadian Cancer Society when she was asked to be one of Canada's delegates to the United Nations.

The vivacious Quebec City matron, widow of the renowned Canadian pathologist, would have plenty of jobs left even if she had been dropped as executive secretary of the Quebec section of the society said she must accept the bid made by Prime Minister St. Laurent in a telephone call. Mme. Berger is still president of the Women's Canadian Club, a member of the board of UN business for the following dinner it is necessary to study the order directors of the Family Welfare Service, a member of the National Health Council, and a member of the Committee for Milk for Needy Children.

Despite her full Quebec schedule, Mme. Berger finds no holiday in

"I must deliver my baby myself!

Her husband missing-or dead—her right arm useless, her leg broken, she faced the long Alaskan winter and childbirth—alone! Yet dechildpirth—aione! Tet despite the overwhelming odds, she vowed, "I Will Live and Have My Baby!" Here is the heroic true story of Martha Martin. It was agreed to hold the Christmas meeting on December 9 instead of the 3rd Tuesday Mrs. H. Graham, citizenship convener, read an article "Some Truths About Drink," which discussed alcoholism as the number four problem, and challenged women to resolve that alcohol would never be served in their homes. Before turning the meeting over to Mrs. V. Lang's group, Mrs. Deyell asked for the prayers of the members for the Chinese Christians.

CINDERELLA DOG-Tramp, a dog from the wrong side of the tracks who became a canine Cinderella, makes friends with two-year-old Marnie Walker at the Walt Disney studio. A studio artist spotted Tramp, en route to the pound as just the type of pup he needed to model the romantic hero of a cartoon about dogs. Now Tramp is a privileged character at the Disney lot, where he poses and postures for sketch artists and lounges in a luxury kennel. Marnie is the daughter of a studio employee.

Lindsay Nurses To Finish Here

Five student nurses from Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay where the training of nurses has been discontinued, are completing their training at Civic Hospital:

Thursday night, the Board of Governors approved a recom-mendation of the School of Nurs-ing Committee that the purses

Miss E. R. Rick, Director of the ovincial Department of Health rsing Division who asked that the Lindsay undergraduate nurses be accepted by Civic said other schools were willing to take them, but they preferred to come to Originally, it was expected that four senior students and two in their intermediate year would be coming. However, between the time the request was made and when they arrived this week, one senior student discontinued her training for health reasons.

The senior students will com-plete their training at Civic but will be graduated by Ross Mem-orial. The two intermediate stu-dents will be absorbed into the School of Nursing here.

in Toronto last week, Dr. W. J.
K. Harkness and biologist Charles Weir of the Department of Lands and Forests heard several recommendations.

Some members thought bass needed protection and the pickserel thinning out and that fishing for the latter should be stopped in June. Two voters wanted all pickerel fishing stopped until July 1st. It was unanimously voted that all fishing should ceasebetween 11 p.m. and 5 a.m.

The department was criticized for not publishing current fishing regulation posters earlier in the season, that there was 'too much fine print on them and that there were not enough posters is used for display.

An extension of the 'lunge fishing season until Oct. 15 was also asked for. They thought the legal Crackling flames attracted a crowd of spectators just after midnight today when fire destroyed a shed and threatened a house at 10 Lisburn St.

Seven people sleeping in the house, owned by Joseph Vinette, were routed out of their beds by the telephone ringing.

"The first I knew the shed was on fire was when the phone rang," said Mr. Vinette.

Mr. Vinette and many of the onlookers criticized firemen for being too long in getting water on the fire.

"It was 20 minutes," said Mr. Vinette. However, Captain Albert Mason, who was in charge, said it was 11 minutes after the pumper arrived that they started pouring water on the blaze.

"Possibly we should have had before," Capt. Mason told the the water on three or four minutes Examiner today. "But people watching a fire get excited and think a minute is ten minutes."

A lengthy search by police fail-ed to turn up the alleged weapon, but they were hampered by darkness and heavy rain.

DEAD ON ARRIVAL

Taylor was brought to the office of Dr. Lloyd Balley in Lakefield at one a.m. by Orville Taylor, Chambers St., today and propounced dead on arrival. According to police the stabbing took place outside the home of Mrs. Suzie Knott, mother of the man being held.

Knott is married and the father of a simal son. Taylor is single.

As far as police can ascertain the party had been going on from about 7 in the evening and there had been some heavy drinking. Both OPP Corporal Munro and Constable Gordon Gray are investigating.

New Era For Labor Forecast In Deaths Of Murray, Green

WASHINGTON (AP) — So me union leaders speculated quietly today that no matter which two men are chosen to head the latter to make any predictions are pilotes in a sudent wist of fate unforeseeable two weeks ago.

William Green, 82-year-old president of the American Federation of Labor, died Friday just 12 days after the death of CLO President Philip Murray.

Murray took a leading part in the breaknaway from Green's AFL in 1935 to form the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Murray and Green were in the prime of their years when the democrats took over 20 years ago.

The Telegram Changes Hands We offer our congratulations to John Bassett, Jr., and Associates, who have acquired the Toronto Telegram and will publish it in the future; we wish the new owners and the old Tely well. Since it was founded in 1876 by John Ross Robertson it has been one of the principal journalistic bulwarks of the Conservative Party, and was at one time the spokesman of the opinions of the Loval Orange Order. Of late years the newspaper has moderated its acerbity, but it has not lost its character. The appearance of Cardinal McGuigan's name as an occasional contributor is evidence enough that the Tely's Orange days are over; its Conservatism, however, has suffered no diminution, and certainly will not do so while it is published by the son of the publisher of the Montreal Gazette.

We are glad that this famous paper has been acquired by a Canadian; we understand that more than one U.S. nublisher was interested in it. We are happy also that its publisher will be a ture to hope that you deplore those conourably known in Canadian journalism. We hope that he and the Tely will gain years and honours together. For although we spoke of the Telegram as "old" in an earlier paragraph, it is not really old as Canadian newspapers gonot so old as the Examiner, for instance and we think of ourself as quite a stripling among the hoarier sheets of the Dominion. We do not wish to say anything in this editorial which could in any sense be disagreeable, but perhaps we may be permitted to hint that it is the crusty way in which it expresses its opinions which gives the youthful Telegram its air of venerability.

As it begins its seventy-seventh year under a new, young and able publisher, we wish the Telegram joy and many a doughty fight:

Kawartha Literary Pioneers

Otonabee, Peterborough, Lakefield. Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon—these outposts of Upper Canadian life in the last century were the cradle of letters and literature for the whole of Upper Canada. No other district in Canada had so many and good literary pioneers as those who lived a century ago within a radius of thirty miles of Peterborough. There were the "literary Stricklands"— Samuel Strickland and his sisters, Mrs. Susanna Moodle and Mrs. Catharine Parr Traill. There were Francis Stewart, Ann Langton and John Langton.

The Stricklands and the Stewarts attracted other Old Country people with a literary bent whose names are less well known, but who nevertheless were writers, and wrote not only as transplanted keep quiet when the United States, new Canadians. The only change I deplored was in the death of Brian de Bois ilbert; in the film he and Ivanhoe fought to the death with a Boppeur de la Tete (a chain with a spiky ball on the end) and a Hacquer du Corps (a fire axe); my studies in medieval armoury enabled me to recognize these at a recognize these at the second statement of the second statement o nize these at once. Educational Role

(Winnipeg Free Press) Mr. John Diefenbaker's recent address at the commencement ceremonies of United College was a reasoned defence of the importance of the humanities in the university cur-riculum and of the duty of the graduate to bring a trained mind to the appraisal and ervice of public affairs. Both these functions are essential if education in today's bewildered age is to reach its full promise. The purpose of studying the humanities is not simply to give oneself a fund of inner riches which life's rough passages can never erode. These studies are not an inert gift; they must lead to an active affirmation of citizenship. Otherwise they can become an excuse for self-indulgence and can cheapen their own purpose.

Mr. Diefenbaker, one of the most active nembers of Parliament, was able by his own as that statement shows only, J. A. Jebson, to remind his audience that public life has its consolations as well as its trials. The ultimate guarantee of civic freedom, as he made plain, is the alert interest in public affairs taken by citizens who are ready to resist the oldest conspiracy known to manthe conspiracy of the second-rate against the

Six Years In Kawartha Bush Changed T. Need's Notions

EDITOR'S NOTE: The account of Thomas Need and his six years in the Kawartha bush, printed herewith today, is the first of a series of articles which The Examiner will publish on this page on successive Saturdays. They form the last six chapters of an unpublished book called Canadian Literary Pioneers, by the noted Upper Canadian historian Edwin C. Guillet. The Examiner has made special arrangements with Mr. Guillet to secure this prior publication of interesting information about literary pioneers of this district.

A great many Canadian literary pioneers, prominent and highly influ-ential in their day, have been almost entirely forgotten: some, indeed, have been rescued from oblivion only with the greatest difficulty. The purpose of this work is to estimate the contribution made by a group of authors who moulded taste and set a high standard of intellectual activity in the period of pion-

Need considered that farming was not the road to affluence for men of capital. "A gentleman of education" should, he observed, have a income of £50 to £100 per year independent of his farm:

WINNIPEG, Man — It's quite a train haul from Peterborough to Winnipeg but Orfuns had good service from the time they left via car CNR at 5.30 p.m. on Wednesday till their arrival at nine hind our time at home. It wasn't the fault of the train or the staff which saw many of the gridders aboard go light on sleep—it was their own blooming fault; with an assist to a screaming fire siren smuggled aboard by popular Bill Shadgett, former of from player and present timer. That metallic wail will give us restless nights for a month. But it did certainly whoop things up for the club and for many innocent bystanders.

Orfuns nearly lost it in a northern town called Armstrong at 10.36 p.m. Thursday. As usual, they trooped off to stretch their legs for the brief stop and someone stoted that thing and started it crying out in its banshee best. An indignant provincial cop trotted up and said: Cut that out or I'll confiscate it—you are waking up people for miles around." Well, they toked it back on the train and just as the engine started to move they let the northland have it again in terriffe fashion whilst passing the hopping cop. We'd suggest that they stay aboard passing the through Armstrong going home. Sing-songs, eard games.

Shove To Unity In Labor Predicted Here

By JOHN LEBLANC
OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian labor movement probably will get a shove towards unity through the deaths of the United States' two top union leaders, in the view of labor experts here.

It would be an indirect — and delayed — boost, these labor men said in discussing the death Friday of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and that of Philip Murray, Congress of Industrial Organizations chief, on Nov. 9.

Decided Trend In Building Toward One-Storey Homes

At the present time there is a frend toward one-storey house in most of Canada. There is much to be said for them, particularly on larger lots. There is a general impression that the same amount of living space in the two-storey house costs less to build than in a house that is all on one floor. True, there is less roof and less foundation area needed in a two-storey house, but the cost and floor area of the stairway and the extra cost of labour in building the second floor is sometimes great enough to make a one-storey house cheaper until the floor area of the house exceeds 1,000 square feet. On the other hand, the second floor of a two-storey house costs less to heat than a wing on the ground.

The thief advantages of the one-storey house are that it is usually better looking, it saves labour and effort of going up and down stairs, and with no stairway in the house, a streamlined, more clean-cut and open floor can be worked out. It looks larger also, than a two-storey house.

It's much harder to find a good-look of the bungalow. There has been more argument on this question than it deserves. Here are a few simple facts that will help you make up your mind. Bear in mind that you can build as good house with or without a basement.

Four British Firms

LONDON (Reuters) — Chinese Communists have requisitioned four British-owned companies in Shanghai, it was announced Friday.

The companies are: Shanghai Gas Company, a streetcar company, Shanghai Waterworks and Mackengie and Company, a shipping firm.

Between them they are worth more than $7,000,000.

The mass appropriation is the second of its kind in Shanghai within three months.

Last August, the commission took over two British dockyards worth more than $1,000,000.

Prefinished Wall Panels Practical

Chinese Requisition

Prefinished wall panels are becoming doubly attractive to homeowners because of their versatility and ease of application, to say nothing of their practicality and good looks.

Ideally suited for surfacing of wells and ceilings in both new construction and remodelling jobs, prefinished wall panels come in large, wall-sized sheets up to four by 12 feet. The material is a tempered hard board, factory-finished with a high-heat baked enamel, that comes to the job ready to install.

Once applied, this material eliminates future decorating extended to the product of the produ

Charlotte's New Approach To Civic Problems Has Caused Bitter Debate

During her term as mayor she has taken up more space in the Ditawa newspapers than any other ix mayors. The "32 men and one woman" fought out issue after saue on the basis of Charlotte's new approach to civic problems. The 1952 biennial civic election will be held Dec. 1 and Charlotte will seek a term in her own right. Where her campaign supporters last time had an ordinary needle end thread as their buttonhole election symbol they have chosen this time a darning needle "because the job is bigger."

The election campaign between apporters of the 56-year-old Miss hitton and the 52-year-old Miss bitter has shown indications of coming a knock-down drag-out

Most Ottawans are either strong supporters or strong opponents of their first woman mayor. This was indicated recently by a move on the part of some citizens to elect "anybody but Charlotte." They went so far as to say "any man, rather than a woman."

While by no means all the Whitton supporters are women, Charlotte feels certain that a campaign on this basis would enlist the female vote in a landslide victory. She has also appealed to the feminine element on the basis that

The day was now clear and mild, and the soft snow was soon tramped down into a smooth but slippery field. The ball was heavy, of course, and the players soon wet to the skin, but fairly clean and free from mud.

In the game those days the players were largely on their own, as there were no signals and no planning of trick plays beforehand. Fast running, good tackling and accurate passing were the essentials, and as we Port Hope fellows had several pretty fair experienced players that year we managed to win a couple of touchdowns. Most of the plays are forgotten, but the running and tackling of Walt Ross and the placekicking of Stan Patterson remain kicking of Stan Patterson remain clearly in the memory of this writer. Stan, or "Paddy", was "nuts" on kicking, and used to practice daily trying to improve on perfection. Consequently he was good.

9 Who Didn't Give Thanks

out of the Bible, is more vital and significant than that of the ten lepers whom Jesus healed (Luke 17:11-20).

As a positive and inspiring example in thanksgiving, the chief importance of course should attach to the deep gratitude of the one who, when he saw himself cleansed, turned back and "with a loud voice glorified God" and fell down on his face at the feet of Jesus, giving Him thanks. That example has added significance in the fac: that the thankful, cleansed leper was a Samaritan.

As in the Parable of the Good Samaritan, we are reminded that it is character and action, not race or any outward aspect, that counts. God is no respecter of persons. This incidentally, in the recent Revised Standard Version (Romans 2:11), is translated, "God shows no partiality."

But on the principle that we never know the real value of a more interesting and that there is for our sections of the economic problem.

Actually it is no more amazing than the thankless attitude of masses of men who enjoy all the gifts of God, of nature and of human life, yet never manifest any thoughtfulness or gratitude for all that they have received.

It is because of this that the story of the nine who didn't give thanks is a parable of life and, as with all the parables of Jesus, it has the quality of applying equality to every age and place.

Why did these nine lepers fall to return and give thanks? They could hardly have helped feeling a great relief and a corresponding PRAIRIE MARCHERS-Strange sights are seen these days on Western Canada's prairies as rich oil fields are drilled and brought into production. These are manifolds controlling the flow of oil before it goes into the pipelnes for its 1,126-mile journey to the head of the Great Lakes for eastern markets. They are at the Interprovincial Pipe Line Company's station at Edmonton.

Search Continues For Oil Known Canadian Reserves Would Last Only 10 Years

Millions of dollars are spent annually in Western Canada to find new pools of oil. But getting to market all the oil so found is no easy job. The West today can't sell all the oil it could produce. Why the frantic search for oil continues, and where the oil may go in future, is the subject of this story, one of a series.

By FORBES RHUDE

The "too much" is a relative term. It means "too much" coming to market at a particular time. It doesn't mean "too much" on a long-range basis.

The fact is that the world doesn't know at any time where it can put its hand on more than a 20-year supply. Known underground reserves in the United States would last that country only about 12 years. Known reserves in Canada would last only about 10 years.

SEARCH CONTINUES

This doesn't mean the world will rum out of oil some 20 years hence. Each year the oil searchers find new reserves to take the place of oil used up. But it does mean that the search for oil goes on feverishly.

In war, the oil supply can be a desperate worry.

In peace, however—even a coldwar sort of peace—oil stocks above ground can be too plentiful; and there is keen competition for markets among the world producers.

Canada now has enough oil wells to produce nearly 70 per cent of her needs; but she produces only about 37 per cent, though the percentage is increasing.

She produces only that amount because, for the time, it is mounced that it will build a $35,000 barrels of one refinery in Montreal or Halifax to buy oil from other countries than from Alberta.

Dr. Jordan Says

ritis Demands Prompt Care

Its principal symptoms consist of pain, watering of the eyes, excessive sensitivity to bright light, and if long continued, interference with vision. The pain is likely to be severe and worse at night. Touching or pressing the eyeball usually is excruciatingly painful. When iritis begins suddenly the symptoms are likely to be worse than in the chronic variety, but recovery usually comes more rapidly—perhaps in a few weeks. When proper treatment is begun with rheumatism, diabetes, tuberculosis, syphilis, or injury. It is most important that the cause of the irits be discovered whenever possible.

DOROTHY DIX

Child Of 12 Too Young To Be Out After It's Dark

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a daughter 12 years old, who is in the sixth grade. What time at night should she be home from playing?

And how many nights should she be allowed out a week? She goes with girls who go out with boys, and she has already had a few dates with a 16-fear-old boy. I say this is all wrong, but her mother says it's okay. Who is right?

S.D.

ANSWER: Unequivocally, I give the nod of assent to you. Mothers are not usually so lax in the supervision of their daughters.

A 12-year-old girl should never be out after dark, she should have no nights out during a school week, and even weekend freedom, after dark, should be restricted and ehaperoned. A visit to a girl friend's house, with an escort home, an occasional trip to the movies with a group, should just about constitute her jaunts, except, of course, for special events like parties. Schools do not, as a rule, have evening activities involving children so young.

You'll be happy to know, then, that a firm has come up with the greatest invention since sliced bred. (From a woman's point of view, of course.) It's a zipper that cannot sing or tear fabric, that will not break if it does catch. You can release it does catch. You can release it easily the moment it catches.

To release this zipper, you pull the tab and thus free the fabric with no damage to anything. The slider pops open in

The zipper appears again in another hostess gown (left) with full skirt in silk, rayon and wool. Top is black velvet; the bodice is snug.

Of course you did. Every woman has had this annoying experience at least once. Often she had to break the zipper to work it free of the fabric. Some times the fabric tore, too, and this meant the double expense of having a new zipper put in and, at the same time,

DEAR MISS DIX: We have been discussing a frieffd whose husband wears stained and unpressed clothes, dirty shirts and unpolished shoes. Isn't it the wife's responsibility to see that her husband is well groomed?

ANSWER: A woman certainly is responsible for a lot in her household, including a clean linen supply. However, some men are naturally untidy—in fact some of the greatest men of history have been, which, of course, does not excuse the unpleasant trait.
No woman can stand constant guard over her man to wipe the stains from his tie. If the husband, in your case, were a me-ticulous man, he'd be well groom-structed Chief Constable John Thompson to crack down on merchants who display their wares on the sidewalk.

There is a city bylaw that prohibits the displaying of merchandise on the sidewalks, but as this violation has become the general practice the police have not been strictly enforcing it.

The exception is fruit. It may be displayed on elevated platforms that don't encroach more than 18 inches on the sidewalk.

"Every merchant in town is quite familiar with the bylaw," said E. A. Outram, secretary of the Police Commission and city clerk. "What happens is that one edges out onto the sidewalk and the others follow. It is a growing nuisance."

Rynoins, C. Heath, W. D. Laven der, William Shannon, William Bishon, Cecil Neal, Vaughan Glover, Arthur Nobes.

For school trustees (3) for two years—William Bishop, Cecil Neal, Vaughan Glover, Arthur Nobes.

For hydro commissioner, 2 years—G. H. Forestell, acclamation.

From speeches of the nomines which followed a decision could not be arrived at as to ultimate qualifications but it is improbable an election will be occasioned. Destring to retire after five years in the reeve's chair, V. M. Lynch nominated Councillor Ritchie Wells member of nine councils to succeed him. Councillor Wells reded to commit himself. "I hope I've been of some value to the people of Peterborough. If the electors wish, I am willing to continue to serve to the best of my ability."

SECOND BID

Edmund S. Humphrey, who is making his second bid for the Board of Education, announced that he had the support of the Peterborough and District Labor Council.

Because of the large number of industrial workers with children trade union men have a strong interest in educational matters, he said.

Mr. Humphrey suggested labor representation on the board and inferred that some new blood would be an asset.

But Serious Rift With Britain Remains Over Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. -(CP)-The United States today was reported to have eased its strong opposition in the United Nations to an Indian peace plan for Korea, but an open rift between Britain and the U.S. over the proposal was still not closed.

some Western diplomats still held hopes that the U. S. would accept, after further clarification, India's revision of its plan. The changes were made yesterday in an effort to heal the breach between the U. S. on one hand and Britain, supported by Canada, Australia and France, on the other.

Health Minister Paul Martin, leader of Canada's delegation who conferred frequently with the In-dians while they were hammering, out their proposal, said in a state-Capitol Hill?

Truman's years in office, there has been bitter political warfare between the executive and legislative branches of government. Legislation recommended by the Administration has been repeatedly blocked by a voting coalition of conservative southern Democrats and northern Republicans; the nominal majority of the Democratic Party became meaningless with the defection of the southerners. In the next Congress, the Republicans will have a nominal majority of one in the Senate and a few more than half of the seats in the House of Representatives. Yet some American commentators already predict that peaceful relations will prevail between the White House and Capitol Hill. at least until the election in 1954.

THE CONFERENCE hears and discusses reports from the officers of the federation, and then proceeds to hear reports from the adjudicators on one side and the organizers of the festivals on the other. PAINLESS WAY TO MAKE MONEY Sir: According to a report by the City

Auditor-as published in the Examiner-Mr. Humpage is sure that when money is needed for a project such as the filtration plant extension, the date when the money is actually borrowed is not important-and that in this particular case no loss occurred due to the money being borrowed 7 months to a year before it was needed. Mr. Humpage points out the fact that instead of a loss there is actually a clear gain from the 1 per cent, that the bank will pay during the T months to a year waiting period, Mr. Humpage also draws attention to a still further gain that has occurred due to a lucky bond market guess.

To many people, Mr. Humpage's discovery sounds almost too good to be true, but any doubts should be dispelled now that the mayor has praised the report and the city council given its unanimous endorsement.

It is now up to the council to use this the city-and reduce our taxes to correspond. It will not be difficult to figure out a million dollars' worth of public works that Peterborough will need in the future, that need not be started-let's say till $ years hence. As soon as the necessary by-law is passed the money can be borrowed and we'll have a million dollars to put in the bank for five years where it will produce $10,000.00 clear profit to the city each year. Better still the money can be invested in safe bonds, bearing at least 4½ percent interest —giving the city a neat $45,000.00 a year. In no time at all—no doubt—the pro-vincial and Dominion Governments will follow Peterborough's example—and in the not too distant future—wipe out the national debt-mysteriously and painlessly.

It is more than a year, now, since we left London to live in the country. Nor is butcher usually a romantic figure. But when he rang up on Monday morning and said, "What do you want this week, madam, and when shall we send it?" there was something glistening on my wife's cheek. Later in the day we happened to be driving up through Marylebone High St., our shopping centre only last year, and my wife's eyes were shut tight. She could still feel herself part of those numbing queues, pleased perhaps that today the greengrocer had actually recognized her, that the man in Smithson's had only once said to her, "Can't serve two people at once, miss," thankful today that no baby had started howling to screw up queueing nerves that extra pitch, that so far she had been able to keep the smelliness of the wet fish from confusing itself with the tastelessness of the "home-made" cakes in the same basket, and that today only two precious morning hours had been lopped off her work, even if she had been too early for the monthly sausages and too late for the quarterly bananas. The Marylebone High Sts. of London are an exhausting purgatory, and still the blocks of flats mount higher without new shops to provide for them, and still the Siege of Marylebone grows more grim.

Then there are the thousands of "little" enterprises that are the backbone of Canada's economy: your neighbourhood stores, the local bus-line, lumber and fishing businesses, farms,

However, Canada and other countries feel that many of the U.S. tariffs are still high, and would like to see further reductions. That will be up to President elect Eisenhower and the new U.S. Congress.

The board suggests the current act is insufficient and narrow in scope. It recommends a sweeping revision of U.S. tariff haw to lower duties "across the board."

It calls on Congress to enact the American customs simplification bill which has been pigeon-holed for more than a year. This bill was designed to reduce U.S. customs red tape at the border.

The board also says that the U.S. Mountains.

The board also says that the U.S. Mountains.

The board points out, that in June, 1953, the U. S. Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act comes up for renewal. This act gave President Truman power to cut U. S. turiffs by as much as 50 per cent of what they were in 1945. Virtually all of those cuts have been made.

Britain To Urge Alteration Of Trade Groups

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—Proposals for adapting post-war international financial and trading organizations to meet the changed conditions of the 1950s will be urged by Britain's delegation at the forthcoming Commonwealth economic conference.

British ministers are understood to feel strongly that the World Bank and the International one-tary Fund, set up at the Bretton Woods conference of 1945, could play a far greater part in expansion of a rid trade. M

It is noted that the monetary fund, as originally constituted, was designed to cope merely with minor ups and downs of balance of payments rather than with a fundamental lack of balance of payments rather than with a fundamental lack of balance between the dollar and sterling worlds.

The conference open next Thursday, it is already probably the most publicized of any Commonwealth prime ministers, finance ministers and some other senior cabinet members, with such a farranging agenda, since the Ottawa conference on tariffs in 1932.

Although no agenda are being made public, it now seems possible to sketch the general lines of the conference. First there will be British insistence on discussing that sterling retains its present itrength.

DIFFICULT GROUND

Long-term plans for trade expansion are regarded as necessarily dependent on increased cocperation with the United States and Western Europe. Here ministers tread on difficult ground.

While the importance of the U.S. as the greatest creditor nation makes a joint Commonwealth approach desirable, the desire in London is to avoid any suggestion of "ganging up."

Another delicate matter may be the question of internal policy among various Commonwealth countries. This is of particular interest to Canada, believed to feel that domestic inflation is of cardinal importance in any discussions of world trade. The government here, however, is reported to hold the view that the main danger of inflation in Britain is being overcome.

the view that the main danger of inflation in Britain is being overcome.

Sterling balances, commedity prices, the price of gold, sterling convertibility—all these questions will be considered.

The British view seems to be that convertibility will only become feasible after a number of safe guards—including possibly some easing of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. British ministers contend that the rule against new preferences is a big handicap, particularly where Britain is faced with cut-throat competition or dumping.

The Recorder, a right-wing British weekly, says in its current edition: "... Canada is likely to sicerling with the backing of a dollar fund supplied by heerself and the United States. Other delegates are expected to oppose the suggestion."

short-term measures for ensuring that sterling retains its present strength. Britain's position is that the balance-of-payments position can be held for the time being. Some important restrictions will be "unloaded in a gradual, cautious process, particularly those impinging on trade with Europe. In the first half of 1952 Britain had a surplus with the world of £24,000,000, thus hifflling the Conservative government's aim of earning a surplus before the end of this year. DIFFICULT GROUND

Over Buying Drinks

LONDON (AP) — Skilful darts players today faced the prospect of having to buy their own drinks—an idea that cast a pall of gloom over the city's pubs.

A darts board is standard equipment in virtually every pub. Traditionally the house treats any player scoring a "ton" (100 or over) to a free pint of beer.

But the Licensed Victuallers Association advised pub proprietors Friday this practice should be abandoned because of a slump in business.

Britain Makes Preparations For Coronation Ceremony

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
LONDON (NEA) —Thousands of people in Britain already are busy preparing for what will be recorded next June in their country's history as the most splendid coronation of all times.

The crowning of a sovereign is always a sensational event. But this time every man, woman and child in Britain is taking a deepfelt, affectionate interest in it because the Queen is a young woman whom they have followed since her birth and the first Queen to be crowned since Victoria.

Ask Recount Of Votes

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Democratic state central committee Sunday petitioned the U. S. Senate elections sub-committee to recount the Nov. 4 election which saw Senator Blair Moody, Democrat, defeated by Republican congressman Charles E. Potter by a margin of nearly 46,000 votes.

The committee sent a formal margin of nearly 46,000 votes.

The committee sent a formal resolution to the Senate group asking that it pursue its investigation of the senatorial election, and "engage in a recount so the people of Michigan may know what took place in the election."

Owen J. Cleary, state Republican chairman, termed Democratic claims of irregularities "misrepresentations" and said they were "flagrantly misleading."

The Senate sub-committee sent two investigators to Detroit last week to gather evidence of alleged irregularities and errors in counting. They still are there but have declined any comment on their findings.

declined any comments of the findings.

Neil Staebler, Democratic state chairman, said, "for many years, and especially in the 1948, 1950 and 1952 general elections, the Republican-controlled election machinery has effectively disenfranchised thousands of Michigan voters."

Faith In Soldier Fiance Broken By Catty Friends

DEAR MISS DIX: Jim and I gether, and as we grew older we have been going together for the looked forward, more and more, past five years—since I was 15 to seeing each other on weekends, and he was 16. We never distinct of the only time we could go out, cussed the question of going since we went to school. We never steady, but since our first date argued and I don't remember even he has never gone with another girl nor I with another boy. We've Now Jim is in service and we to live on and deliver her own baby. Here is the true story of Martha Martin's heroic battle against over whelming odds—vividly re counted through every an guished moment. Read "I Will Live and Have My Baby" in the December Ladies' Home Journal.

Fashions

Now Jim is in service and we are looking forward to marriage when he comes out. His parents know of our plans. They are all understanding and wonderful. Jim shows his love in many ways, besides telling me; he pays me compliments, turns up with pleasant.

sides telling me; he pays me compliments, turns up with pleasant surprises and does many other nice things to please me.

Now to my problem: I often tell the girls in the office of our happy times together and they try to discourage me by saying that men change when they are in service; that they get wild and irresponsible, run 'around with other girls and forget the "girl back home." It worries me because Jim is a good-looking boy and since I'm no raving beauty or sharp dresser he may forget all about me. The girls upset me very much when they tell me these things, because, after all, I know that they do happen: is there any chance for an average girl to hold her man while he is away?

Save Your Christmas Cake By Having Extra One Hand

MARY-MOORE SAYS:

There will be plenty of occasions when your hospitality urge tempts you to cut into the precjous fruit cakes which you have ripening in a cool place, but which are not yet ready to cut.

For that occasion, which will crop up in every Canadian household during the exciting Christmas season, we have developed a compromise cake. The basic batter is simply pound cake, and the fruits or nuts, included in timay be varied according to your taste and spendthriftiness.

When I made up the following recipe to serve at a high tea I used 3 ounces fresh red glace cherries. The occasion? A Sunday afternoon call from my beloved Mrs. Bigger and her family who are visiting here from Portland, Oregon.

TORONTO (CP) — The internationally-famous horse show of the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair ended on a sour note Saturday night as Mexico's international jumping team withdrew from the final events in a dispute between the leading riders of the Canadian and Mexican teams.

The withdrawal also brought into the open a bitting disagreement between the Canadian team and another Canadian rider. The Mexican team refused to take part in the wind-up contest, top event of the show, after the Canadians backed out of an agreement to ride at the Mexican horse show at Monterey next month.

the Mexican horse show at Monterey next month.

Maj.-Gen. Churchill Maun, president of the Canadian Horse Shows Association and head of the committee in charge of the Canadian team, said the action was taken because Douglas Cudney of Winona Ont., whom the committee considered unsuitable for the Canadian team, had received a special invitation to ride there.

It was tendered by Brig.-Gen. Humberto Mariles, captain of the Mexican team and head of the Mexica of the Mexican team and head of the Studied for two seasons.

Canada's Exports Top 3 Billion In Nine Months

climbed above the $3,000,000,000 mark for the first time in history. Canada's exports drive may have hit its peak.

Nevertheless trade officials confidently predict that exports for the full year will set a record, well above last year's $4,000,000,000.

The Bureau of Statistics Monday estimated the nine-month total at $3,180,200,000, an increase of more than $250,000,000 over the previous high of $2,828,200,000 last year.

With imports slipping from the post-war peak of 1951, Canada produced a foreign trade surplus of $235,100,000 for the nine months, a dramatic reversal of the $323,800,000 deficit last year.

IMPORTS RECEDE

Imports during the first nine months receded to $2,945,500,000 from $3,142,000,000.

During September, exports increased to $341,200,000 from $323,-500,000. Imports climbed to $349,-100,000 from $311,500,000. That left a deficit on the month of $8,800,000.

Soft spots in trade showed up in the third quarter, the bureau's report showed. Exports to Europe and some Asian countries increased, but sales to the United States, Britain, the Commonwealth and Latin America were lower.

Part of this decline, said the bureau, was due to "seasonal in-fluences" and part to the "soften-ing of export markets for some with the appointment of a town foreman.

Last week it was learned on good authority that the acting foreman, Ed. Jenkins, would not be moving up to the post of foreman to succeed Fred Gruber, who resigned some weeks ago. After Gruber left Jenkins was appointed acting foreman and has himself been on the street department staff for the past eight years, of which the past three have been as assistant foreman.

Jenkins was told that he had not been chosen town foreman, and as it was decided not to give the job to the out-of-town applicant, it automatically left the third applicant, councillor Cedric Smith, who is a member of the streets committee on Town Council, as the successful bidder for the job.

When the Civic Employees' Union learned of the matter they went to bat for Jenkins, and last night the union's grievance committee met with the Town Council in committee. Given Two Years For Forging Cheque

LINDSAY (ENS) — Ross M. Hartman, 41, of Norland, was sentenced to two years in Kingston penitentiary Monday when happeared in police court on two charges of forging and uttering cheques for $40 and $58.15. Harman pleaded guilty to the charges, which were laid last November, and said he had made out the cheques because he needed the money for a purchase he would not name. Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan cited a record of the accused dating back to 1933 in jails and reformatories. Magistrate Gee decided Hartman needed a change of scene to aplace where he could learn a trade. He sentenced Hartman to two years on each charge, to run concurrently. Constable Edwards, of the Minden OPP, was the investigating officer.

uncontrolable expenditures, he said. Another 15 cents can also be classed as largely uncontrolable. This amount represented what the town must pay for services such as police and fire protection and garbage collection. Council can control the other 22½ cents, but this cannot affect the tax rate to any great extent, he explained.

Reeve Locke, chairman of the public Utilities Commission, explained the problems of the commission, and said he would run for another term of office.

Appointing Rural Mail Carriers

In the Speech from the Throne there was a brief reference to a bill dealing with payments to rural mail carriers which will be introduced during the next session. We do not know what the nature of the bill will be, but we hope that it will make rural mail carriers employees of the Post Office Department, and not, as at present, contract carriers. At of the war). present tenders are called for when a when it does not apply to town mail; nobody would think of letting a contract portant government service as mail delivery. The system of contract carriers appears to be an outmoded one which has persisted in rural districts from early days when the mail service was not as think that a time for reform has come, ment has in mind.

Such a change would not cause much trouble to the Postmaster General's department; working on the basis of present contract prices it should be possible to make an estimate of the value of each rural mail route; with that infor- has become a mark of his regime, and of mation a scale of salaries for rural carriers could be established. The fact that rural delivery is parttime work is not an argument against the system we propose; the Government employs a great many part-time workers in its many departments. Rural residents are entitled to the best mail service that can be managed, and we do not think that they can get this under a system where underbidding is entitled to the same continuity of em-We shall watch the forthcoming bill with interest.

Greatness Thrust Upon Her

In past years the opening of a new session of the Canadian Parliament has been little heeded abroad. Times are changing, and with them, Canada and the world outlook on Canada. Last Saturday the New York Times carried an editorial on the opening of our Parliament, and was inspired to do so not because of anything new in the procedure or any remarkable legislation forecast in the Speech from the Throne, but because Canada has become important.

Says the Times: "Like the United States, although naturally on a lesser scale; Canada has had greatness thrust upon her by the breath-taking events of the last ten years. For the first time in her history she is a wealthy and powerful nation in her own right. The fre democracy for which we all stand,"

All he had done was ask M. Tillon

In Canada's Speech from the Throne it is most interesting from our point of view to see that the Canadian Government agrees with European Powers in believing agrees with curopean robusts in determined that "there are signs of a lessening of the danger of an outbreak of war on a global scale." In practical terms this could mean lower, or at least not increased, military expenditures. Canada has a valiant brisking of the country of gade in Korea and another in Germany. The Royal Canadian Air Force is already considerable factor in Western Europe's air defense and it is steadily growing. It isn't practical for Canadians to increase their ground forces in Germany when the money can be spent to better effect for the Air Force. The American paper's opinion of our economic contribution is, naturally enough, less commendatory. "Whether which permit an old man to drive, who Canada is pulling her full weight in the has no insurance to pay for the damage equally important field of economic aid he may cause. for Europe is more questionable." This is a natural criticism—mildly expressed; natural because it is American. The Americans have been pouring billions into Europe, their national debt has 3,500 delivered by him in 54 years of been rising, the taxes are higher (at practice recently gave a banquet to an middle and high income levels) than Illinois physician. Why not link "Obstein Canada. By contrast, Canada has had trician's Day" with "Mother's Day" next budgetary surpluses since the war, the year?

Canadian dollar has come to be more highly valued than the American dollar

The Times puts forward an interesting eason for Canada's caution in not nanding money to Europe on the same avish scale as the United States has

Whether-Canada is pulling her full weight in the equally important field of economic aid for Europe is more questioneconomic aid for Europe is more questionable. Early post-war experiences for Canada, especially the interest-free loans to Britain, led to exchange difficulties and restrictions on consumption which jarred Canadians so hard they have not yet got over the shock. However, the recovery of over the shock. However, the recovery or the last few years has been spectacular. It may be that Canada can now afford greater cooperation with Europe in the economic field than before and the St. Laurent Government will doubtless be considering it in this last Parliamentary section before the control leading which sion before the general elections which will probably take place next autumn.

This point of view is interesting; it is by no means the only way to compare American large spending in Europe, and American large spending in Europe, and Canada's cautious, though sizable loans or else rebukes him for not being generous (apart from the the two billion-dollar gifts to Britain during and at the end

The Canadian Board on Geographical Names will reportedly review a long list of place names within the next few months to get rid of some 23 of the 24 Clear Lake waters Ontario as well as to straighten out the spelling of names.

Ontario representative on the board is F. W. Beattie, surveyor-general for the pro-vince, and we hope he can do something about finalizing the Mississauga spelling.

Maps issued by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests insist on the illiferate Mississagi spelling, in spite of the fact that the best available evidence show the early Indian spelling to be Mississauga

We do not think that the board should be too severe in pruning the Indian names that are brought to their attention for review. We like such names as Chinguacousy, a township in Peel County, and Tyendinaga in the Belleville-Napanee area, for instance.

RCAFMay Use New Plane From Britain

OTTAWA (CP) — The RCAF, searching for a speedy new aircraft to boost its anti-submarine air power, may find the answer in Britain's Britannia, a new and powerful 70-ton-turbo-prop aircraft.

Officials said Monday that a team of Canadian experts is in England to evaluate the Britannia and compare it with similar United States aircraft as possible replacements for the air force's Second World War Lancasters.

No final decision on a replacement thoice is expected until early 1933, but if the Britannia wins over her American competitors, it will mean new production in Canada.

Officials said that Canadair Ltd., of Montreal, Canadairs biggest aircraft company, likely will get the production contract.

But since Canadair currently is busy producing the F-86 Sabre jet as well as a number of other aircraft, production of the new plane likely will be elsewhere than at Montreal.

Canadair currently is negotiating to take over the Fleet Aircraft Company at Fort Erie, Ont., possibly on a rental basis. If the deal goes through part of Canadair's Montreal production may be shifted to the Fort Erie site.

The aim behind the classes was to give the boys and girls in the city a chance to develop their talents in art. Ten lessons were given by Mr. Schlienger and two pupils were chosen from each of the city's 17 schools by the art teachers. Easels, camp stools and art materials were supplied by The Examiner and earlier this fall their work was on exhibit in the Public Library.

At that time Charles Comfort, outstanding Canadian artist and adjudicator, was to judge the work. However, Mr. Comfort was ill and the exhibit was sent to him in Toronto to judge. He set it up in his studio last week and today announces the winners.

Mr. Comfort was very outspoken about the exhibit and the work accomplished. He could hardly believe that the work was that of boys and girls who did it from real life. He commented that Mr. Schlienger had taught the students correctly, otherwise the rapid advances which they had made from their first lesson to the last could not have been accomplished. He said he thoroughly agreed with the teacher's methods.

The prizes are to be awarded at a public showing in the library next Friday:

Some minor hockey associations in Ontario which refuse to let players under 18 years play junior hockey are gradually killing junior hockey, particularly in "B" and "C" brackets in the province, Frank Buckland, first vice-president of the OHA and convener for the Peterborough district, said

Mr. Buckland didn't cite any particular cities or towns, but said that these city associations by refusing the younger lads permission to jump to junior "B" are making it diffi-cult for junior clubs to operate.

If the boys, 15, 16 and 17 years, who are good players were allowed to play junior "B", Mr. Buckland felt there would be more junior "B" and "C" teams and better hockey.

At the same time he patted the minor association on the back for the wonderful work it's doing with the young lads, adding that he didn't want "to take anything away from minors to play junior, particularly Peterborough, where number of juvenile-age players are playing this year. But he added that in a large number of places there is no co-operation between the minor associations and the junior clubs, which eventually is "strangling junior hockey."

While hockey dims, basketball brightens. The schools, the YMCA and the OABA officials in the city have realized it's better to band together. The result will be more and better basketball for girls and boys of all ages.

Under Gord McIntyre and others, the two intermediate teams have forgotten past fights and combined. They've chosen to form a district league comprising four teams. From this there'll probably be a strong intermediate "B" team, possibly also an "A" entry.

They've also looked ahead for the development of the younger set. This season city leagues for midget and bantam have been arranged between Kenner Collegiate, St. Peter's High and PCVS. A winner will be declared in each bracket and will enter Ontario playdowns.

WESTERN CANADA captured the Canadian intermediate rugby crown on Saturday when the Winnipeg-St. Boniface Legionaires defeated Peterborough Orfuns 31-18. In the top picture George Eakin of the Legionaires plunges over from four yards out for the first touchdown. Referee Cliff Roseborough signals the score and Gerry McGillis of the Orfuns comes to help unidentifeid Orfun players pushing Eakin back. In lower, Lieutenant - Governor R. F. McWilliams, of Manitoba, an old Peterborough rugby star, kicks off to open the game. Mayor George McLean, of St. Boniface, holds the ball with Gordon Beatty, of Peterborough, in the background.

The extra Bantam game, although scheduled for Fridays, is subject to change. Notice of this change will be given the team managers concerned, one week in advance.
Any further changes in the schedule will appear in the sport pages.
The Secretary of the PMHA would like to remind all players, coaches, managers and club officials that the successful operation of the association depends upon the sale of sesson's tickets. Sixty games remain to be played and these may be seen for a total cost of only one dollar.
Your PMHA executive is confident that Peterborough will be well represented in the OMHA playdowns later on in the season.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

This is the second of three columns, briefly cutlining the amazing growth of the National Hockey League, now 35 years The National Hockey League, born in 1917 and now celebrating its thirty-fifth birthday, became international for the first time in the season of 1924-25 when it was only seven years old. It was in that year that Boston Bruins only seven years the war of the late Charles F. Adams and Boston was destined to become one of the greatest hockey centres in the world.

The same year, 1924-25, Montreal Maroons purchased a franchise in the National League, giving Montreal two professional teams for the first time since the season of 1916-17, and creating one of the most bitter, and also most colorful rivalries in Canadian sports history.

Canadian sports history.

In 1925-26, two more United States teams appeared in the League, Pittsburg Pirates and New York Americans. Pittsburg's team was made up on a basis of the amateur Hornets, title-holders of the United States the previous season, while Americans bought the Hamilton franchise and team intact.

In 1926-27, major league hockey had lured in three more United States teams, representing two cities new to major hockey.

The provectil Represe came into existence in New York:

In 1928-27, major league hockey had lured in three more United States teams, representing two cities new to major hockey. The powerful Rangers came into existence in New York; Detroit interests, purchasing the Victoria team of the defunct Pacific Coast League, became a franchise-holder, Chicago entered a strong team in the major group by purchasing the Portland team of the Pacific Coast League. It was in 1926 that the Pacific Coast League expired, as a major organization, throwing on the market a flood of playing stars destined to write history in the N.H.L. notably Eddie Shore, the Cook brothers, Dutton, Gardiner and Boucher. This helped to make possible the new eastern teams, and brought into eastern hockey a great array of new names, new faces, new figures, destined for stardom, and with tremendous customer-appeal.

The Pitisburg franchise was operated in Philadelphia for one season, 1930-31, thus bringing to a total of six, and the six greatest cities in the United States, where major league hockey had been played within the period from 1924, indicating the whid-firestashion in which the grip of the thrilling Canadian sport had taken held. St. Louis, entering the League in 1934, took over the Ottawa players, but remained for only one season. Montreal Maroons retired, then New York (or Brooklyn) Americans, leaving the present six-team set-up.

Ft. Erie Track Now Resurfaced

TORONTO (CP)-Re-surfacing of the racing strip at Fort Erie has been completed as the first step in extensive modernization program while accommodation at the track are in the blue-print stage and will be submitted for approval at the next meeting of the board of directors.

Six weeks ago, crews began scraping away the old racing surface. More than 2,000 loads of sandy loam were dumped on the renovated course, as topsoil, and before winter sets in the track will be rolled and crowned for proper draingage.

Two other projects are being considered by a sub-committee of the OJA directorate. These are the selection of a site for a track to replace Woodbine Park and immediate refurbishment of the present Woodbine plant in Toronto's east end. Several sites are under consideration.

Formation of an Eskimo esearch unit, headed by J. C. Wright, 60-year-old research scientist, was announced Monday by the resources department. Three or four, other members of the body will be named later. Mr. Wright is a science graduate of Queen's University, Kingston.

The first job will be a review of the Eskimo economy. Then unit members will look for possible new industries to inject new life into the earning-power of Canada's 8,500 Eskimos, now dependent mostly on hunting, fishing and some trapping.

The unit's findings and recommendations will have a bearing on the government's policy in administering Eskimo affairs.

The unit's work will be largely fact-finding and making available to government policy-makers the material from which the Eskimo economy may be developed.

Fingerprints Lead To Arrest

Medical Clinic, 234 Aylmer St., the night of November 8, laboratory technician Fergus J. Cavanagh spotted a bottle out of place on a shelf in a cabinet where some drugs were missing.

He drew identification Sgt. William A. Aggas' attention to the bottle and Sgt. Aggas took detailed photographs of it.

The photos revealed fingerprints and after checking the prints with records available in his files, he sent the photographs to RCMP headquarters in Ottawa for con-back, and a warrant was issued for the arrest of Joseph A. "Bud-dy" Redmond, 27, in connection with the break-in.

He has been arrested in Toronto and is being brought to Peterborough today to face charges.

from a wedding trip to Florida.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was exquisitely gowned in French imported rose pointe lace and white satin. The gown had a moulded bodice of lace with Ifly point sleeves, a nylon tulle yoke etched with lace medallions and frosted with seed pearls, and from the full skirt extended a cathedral train with lace insets. Her two-tiered veil of French ilusion edged with lace was caught to her head with a pearl-studded tiara and she carried a cascade of gardenias, pompoms and shattered chrysanthemums.

No Magic Formula Known For Attracting Males

or have anyone else tellahim, how you feel. That's the surest way to lose him.

As a very good substitute for the magic formula, I can give these suggestions to you and friends. Don't try to attract boys who aren't old enough to be serious about girls. Either drop them for slightly older males, or be patient! Since you are already one of a mixed group, you have one of a mixed group, you have one of the tallest one of the tallest they have failed to invite you, or hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles in the race for boy-girl whether you haven't been asked hurdles and first the boy haven't been asked whether it's just dinner to which they have failed to invite you, or whether you haven't been asked whether it's just dinner to which they have failed to invite you haven't been asked whether y serious about girls. Your case, G. N., is a bit encouraging. Your complaint is just that the boy doesn't take you seriously, this reaction is not only quite natural but definitely on the upgrade. Take his kidding as he gives it and give a little banter back. Show that you're a good sport and his reactions will grow from favorable to serious. Remember, girls do mature earlier than boys, and, while you may be at a tage to accept boys seriously, they are not ready to reciprocate.

Vegetable Plates That Are Pictures

Baked Potato Cones

Not one cook in a hundred enjoys being sermonized on her yegetable cooking methods. I wasn't born to be a preacher, but I can whip myself up to preach ing fervor when I see or have to eat vegetables that have been cooked to a soggy colorless mass. If your vegetables do not retain the same color they were born with when they reach the dimer table they are either to ancient in the first place or you have cooked them to death. Not only all of the bright natural color of has fied but all of the vitamins too, and their precious mineral—the very life of them.

A test you can make of your vegetable cooking prowess is this: Do you ever serve a vegetable be plate? To those who had to answer "no" I put another question. Would you like to?

You can start in a modest way by serving a properly poached egg on a bed of bright green; pinach, and surround it with a bright colored vegetable. This plate will be so beautiful to behold that even the meat and potato addicts in the family will be attracted to it. They may reluctantly wonder why you don't produce them oftener.

A test you can make of your vegetable to cooking prowess is thus the properly poached egg on a bed of bright green; pinach, and surround it with a bright colored vegetable. This plate will be so beautiful to behold that even the meat and potato addicts in the family will be attracted to it. They may reluctantly wonder why you don't produce them oftener.

A test of a good cook to me is not how flutfy and high her cake are or how tender and flaky her pastry. Good cooks to earn their reputation also know how to cook vegetables, which condensed to three words adds up to Don't Overcook Them.

Oil Driller Fishes In Old Seas Once Covered Most Of Continent

Millions of years ago the Western plains were covered by an ocean. The sea and the organisms in it are the source of today's rich oil fields. This story, one of a series, tells how oil was formed and describes the underground structure in which oil is found.

By FORBES RHUDE

Canadian Press Business Editor The oil driller is a fisherman. He fishes in old seas which, in North America, once covered most of the continent from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic Ocean.

These old seas came and went—perhaps as many as 15 times—and formed many shorelines.

formed many shorelines.

They did what today's seas do:
built up reefs along their shores, and silt fell from the water.

MARINE ORGANISMS

In those seas were tiny living organisms of many kinds These lived and died in countless billions, and the silt covered them.

The silt fell until it was a mile or more deep. The pewer silt pressed on the older silt, and the older silt, under the weight, turned into stone.

MOVING IN—The Peace River country of Alberta and stone.

The bodies of the tiny organisms, mixed in the silt, gave off microscopic bits of oil.

In the aggregate, they gave off a lot of oil.

The oil tended to rise to the surface. Much of it was dispersed and lost. Here and there, however, it was trapped by stone.

In Western Canada, in many places, if found its way into limestone formed, under pressure, from coral reefs. The coral reefs were formed just as coral reefs are being formed today—by skletons of creatures that have died. It is called Devondinal limestone and may be about 35,000,000 years old.

In Western Canada, in many places, if found its way into limestone and worked over the top layers and created today's rich grain-growing topsoil. Otherwise, western canada might all look like Alberta's "badlands" near Drumbian and never suspect how close he was to oil.

Above the limestone, in many instances, was an impervious shale and when the oil entered the limestone, the shale prevented it from getting out.

It is still there. And that's what makes an oil field such as Alberta's Leduc and Redwater, near Edmonton.

At Redwater, the oil and limestone are more than a half-mile below the surface, and at Leduc about a mile.

Canada's first big oilfield, Turner Valley near Calgary, is in limestone of another period. It is called the Madison and is as much as two miles down.

There is more than oil in the limestone. There is gas, which also comes from the bodies of the ancient organisms; and there is salt water, probably remaining from the old seas.

GAS RISES TO TOP

Gas is the lightest of the three and ordinarily rises to the top, with cil below it, and water below the cil.

However, sometimes the gas and coll are mixed together. Sometimes there is gas and no cill. Sometimes there is only water. Sometimes there is nothing.

At Leduc the Devonian limestone reef is 800 to 1,000 feet thick. In the top of the limestone is a maximum of 240 feet of gas, and, below that, only 38 feet of cill. The rest is water.

It is under great pressure—at Leduc, about 1,900 pounds to the square inch; at Redwater, about 1,000 pounds; and sometimes more. If there is gas above the oil the gas will be pressing down. If there is water beneath it, the water will be pressing up. Between them, the gas and water force the oil out of the spaces in the stone and up the well.

If the action is not controlled, hr the action is not controlled, however, the gas comes up too fast, pressure on the remaining oil is lost, and it may never be recovered. Pumps are used when natural underground pressure is not sufficient.

A LATER STORY

Not only are the far-down lime-stones made from old sea sedi-ments, but so are the shales above them, right to the surface. How do they now come to be above present sea-level? That is a story which occurred later on. After the seas laid down the sediments, the continent star-ted to rise. It threw up the rocky mountains which, too, are old sea sediments.

HIT AND MISS-Success and failure are shown in this diagram of a typical Alberta oil formation. The derrick in the centre has drilled and found oil. The derrick to the right has drilled into the same formation and found only water. The stratum containing the natural gas, oil and water is limestone. Gas-at the top because is it lightest-oil and water are contained in small holes in the limestone. The shale above the limestone is impervious and prevents the oil from seeping out. The limestone itself is not a cap. All the strata shown are from the sediments of ancient seas which once flowed

A Better Emergency Ambulance Service

A letter which appears elsewhere on this page draws the attention of our readers to a municipal problem which is of increasing importance. When an cident happens, and an ambulance is wanted in a hurry, it is not always posble to get one; the delay causes pain perhaps agony—which could be avoidd, and in some cases may mean a loss of life. Many years ago the maintenance of a municipal ambulance was tried in Peterborough, and was not satisfactory; nowadays only the largest cities maintain ambulances as auxiliaries to the police service. But there must be some way of improving the emergency ambulance service in Peterborough, as our cipal growth brings more frequent

We suggest that the incoming Coupell re the possibility of an arrangement with the owners of the four pri vate ambulances in the city. Could it be managed that they take a month's emergency duty in rotation, being on call for accident work, at a regular fee? ch a plan would cost something, of course, but if our correspondent is corect in saying that two accident victims lay in the rain for twenty minutes on turday night last, waiting for an amnance to appear, and with no attention we must do something to remedy the aftuation.

Three Cheers For Dr. Ross!

We are impressed and heartened by cheerful good sense of Dr. R. W Ross, a clergyman of 90 years in age, and 60 years in ministry, and who is an sistant at St. Columba's United Church in Toronto. Dr. Ross is quoted as saying: "A lot of my confreres are stewing about current problems and our modern way of life; that's nonsense; we should not worry about things we cannot help; people and things aren't any worse now than they were when I started in the ministry." There speaks a wise man, who has not fallen victim to the Fashionable Despair of our age.

Ninety years is a long life, and a man who looks at life honestly for such a term may well find, as has Dr. Ross, that things are not really growing any worse. Many people begin life as optimists, and when they find that life does not, at every turn, confirm their optimism, they become fearful, depressed, and sour. But optimism can also be combined with honesty of outlook, and the optimist who is honest with himself is never such a starry-eyed optimist as the man who thinks that everything that is wrong in the world can be put right in a short time. The cautious, or intelligent optimist sees much in the world that is evil, but he is able to hold fast to that which is good. If the world disappoints him a few times, he does not come a pessimist in consequence.

Dr. Ross is plainly an optimist and a long life has enable him to take a long die. But we sometimes wonder why, if view of things. We thank him for his words of wisdom and good cheer, and world which he finds so pleasant.

Two Ministers Designate

Before leaving for Korea, General Eisenhower has appointed several men to his Cabinet which will be the executive body of American government after January 20th. The two most important appointments most important from an outside point of view-have been Secretary of State and Secretary of Defence Mr. John Foster Dulles will be Secretary of State (that is, foreign minister) and ought to pay a visit to Winnipeg. Mr. Charles E. Wilson will be Secretary of Defence. The early appointment of

Mr. Dulles, a New York lawyer aged 63, has had a long experience in foreign affairs-as advisor to President Wilson after the Great War, as a delegate to various international conferences between the wars, and to the San Francisco conference of 1945 which drafted the $75 worth of hot rod, get out of the United Nations charter. The Truman way or you may do it some damage. administration had a bipartisan foreign policy, and Mr. Dulles (a Republican) as consultant to Secretary of State Acheson from 1950 until this Spring. Mr. Dulles' special achievement during this period was in drafting and securing acceptance of the Japanese Peace Mr. Deslieres: "I have been a Canadian does not change with governments. The interpretation of where the self-interest lies and how best to cultivate it may best to cultivate it may shift slightly, but there is no toppling of towers. Thus British foreign policy has been pretty consistent, whether Conservative or Labour governments are esponsible for it.

Mr. Dulles attacked the Democratic olicy of "containment" and called for older policy. The truth is that the Truman doctrine of containment has Canadian; his reputation is also remarkalready been superseded, as shown by able. Most Canadians do not know his name the intervention in Korea, an extension of that policy into bold action. Mr. Dulles may rattle the sabre more than Mr. Acheson, but that is a difference in

Durable Old Jokes

Having a good memory for jokes, we are often astonished by the chestnuts which pop up in slightly new forms Particularly we are amazed at the liberal borrowings from old British publications which appear from time to time in the magazines of the U.S.A. Apparently we are not alone in this, for the London Punch recently published this interest ing comparison:

"Miss Priscilla. 'Yes; it's a beautiful view. But tourists are in the habit of bathing on the opposite shore, and that's rather a drawback.'

A Great Unknown Canadian

THE SCALPEL, THE SWORD. The Story of Dr. Norman Bethune, by Ted Allan and Sydney Gordon. (McClelland & Stewart, Ltd.)

DR. NORMAN BETHUNE was a remarkable able. Most Canadians do not know his name; a few hold it in admiration, some in contempt; thousands of people in Spain and hundreds of thousands in China revere him as a martyr and teacher, saint and scientist. Dr. L. Eloesser, emeritus professor of surgery at California's Stanford University medical school, says of him: "No doctor, not Hippocrates, nor Jenner, nor Pasteur, nor Sir Alexander Fleming, is known and venerated by as many people as Norman Bethune".

According to today's western prejudice, Dr.

A year ago, even as recently as nine months ago, the Secretary of State was being assailed from many quarters. Mud and harsh names were disfiguring him.

But in the campaign itself, Mr. Acheson sion. He served the Loyalists in Spain. He Red leaders engraved on it. From Yenan to Peking stretch's series of Bethune hospitals, Bethune medical schools. The preface to this biography has been written by the great lady of Communist China, Madame Sun Yat-Sen.

The designation of Mr. Wilson as Secretary of Defence puts an extremely him in Spain. Sydney Gordon followed his Gordon Tollows and made. Their personal (medical, artistic, literary, liberal and socialist) is augmented by quotations from Bethune's speeches, letters and scientific writing. In Spain Bethune developed the first blood banks ever used in war; his work there the outstanding thoracic surgeons on the continent, and did more than any other man to propound and perfect treatment of TB by surgery (collapse of the lung). He invented surgical instruments of great value to the profession. Before the days of penicillin, he injected a test-tube of live maggots into a serious open wound. The maggots "ate" the infection. (Bethune took the hint from a 16th entury treatise which he had read.) In China he created a guernija medical service. His watchword influenced army medial practice everywhere: "Doctors! Go to the wounded. Don't wait for the wounded to go to you." Because Bethune threw up one of the most

THE MAN AND HIS career are tantalizingly interesting. What made him what he became? The manse at Gravenhurst, Ontario? His missionary mother? A kind of despair out of his own passionate intellect, agnosticism, irascibility and early cynicism? The Depression, as he rubbed shoulders with it in Desion, as he rubbed shoulders with it in De-troit and Montreal, treating poor patients between his rich ones? The shadow of death as he lay desperately ill of tuberculosis, until he insisted on being a guinea-pig for surgery of which he had only read? His poor al adjustment to life, until he gave his heart to masses in Spain and China? (He married the same Scottish woman twice and divorced her twice before that time.)

And Jesus called a little child into him, and set him in the midst of them, and said, Verily I say unto you, Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven.

Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven. And whose shall receive one such little child in my name received.

Take heed that ye despise not one of these little ones; for I say unto you. That in heaven their angels do always behold the face of my Father which is in heaven. For the Son of man is come to save that which is lost. How think ye? if a man have an hundred sheep, and one of them be gone astray, doth he not leave the ninety and nine, and goeth into the mountains, and seeketh that which is gone astray? And if so be that he find it, verily I say unto you, he rejoiceth more of that sheep, than of the ninety and nine which went not astray. went not astray.

It will not be long now before we are confronted on every hand by placards urging us to "Post Early for Christmas." This annual injunction is, we are sure, of great benefit to the post office department and to the public. If the department is to cope with the multiplication of mail of all kinds which occurs around the Christmas season, it is en-titled to the co-operation of the people it serves. But we doubt that, even with the titled to the co-operation of the people it serves. But we doubt that, even with the ultimate in public co-operation, the department can expect to get through the two weeks or so immediately preceding December 25 on anything like a normal basis. Unless extra staff is hired in time, and other emergency plans are laid, some of our post offices will find themselves snowed under huge backlogs of letters and parcels. That happened last year, with diminishing returns for the department's public relations. This year, we hope, it will draft a second-injunction—"Prepare Early for Christmas"— -"Prepare Early for Christr and address it to itself.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

Annis Stukus, a capable senior grid coach, and player both out /est and in the East, is quoted in this year's Grey Cup program as aying: "Football in Western Canada is not a sport; it is a way of fe." It's really popular with our western brothers. Well, some of hat "way of life" feeling showed here last night in the royal welcome hat "way of life" feeling showed here last night in the royal welcome ome folks gave Peterborough Orfuns—even though the team had ost out in the Canadian final. That big welcome at the CNR station and the civic reception later in the Empress sure made the gridfron that the civic reception later in the Empress sure made the gridfron that the civic reception later in the Empress sure made the gridfron that the civic reception of how amateur sports have many supporters, plus the feeling that winning the game isn't everything. The demonstration left everyone feeling pretty good.

Big Stuke has also said that a football team travelling to the East for a playoff needs at least six more points than the eastern squad when the game starts. On account of travel tiredness, climatic change and a difference in drinking water. Yes, the long haul does make a difference—it gives the home club a sharper start. That certainly was the case as Winnipeg got that early jump on Orfuns last Saturday out West. Of course, the Legionnaires had a lot of beef and talent, too. A passer good enough for Big Four company, Petrow is a smart quarterback with a deceptive delayed pass and a wide variety of running plays. Their coach, said after that they played their best game of the season against Orfuns.

Missed Those Three

Tony Kotowski missed three of his dependable players, sidelined with injuries, Clive Naismith, Don McGillis and Reg Burns. All 24 who were dressed did a good job, despite the loss Jensen, Army, Bey and Lou, those classy Orillia players, Fitz, Gord Beatty, battering Bill Huntley, the Beaker, huge Bounce Howe, speedy Jerry, Jack Matthews and the rest—all were in there to throw their blocks, making tackles, driving forward, and giving it all they had. A good bunch who went a long way—and a fine outfit to travel with on the lengthy trip in the final. They appreciated the public's help. The officials and D.A. did a lot for the club, too, and they offer no Hospitality was tops in the western city. Officials met the team at the train—the chief constable met club officers at the plane and escorted them in-to take 'em to their hotel. Hudson Bay Co. threw a luncheon at noon, and the Beaver Lumber Co. a dinner at night. Players were arena guests then at a junior hockey game. After the big game, Legion officials and players tossed a bangup party for the Orfuns at a club, and a large time was had by them all, accepted it philosophically. They were by no means disgraced in the hard battle; only one team can win in a playoff. And no one can take the Eastern Canada title away from them this year.

Puck Pot's A-boilin'

Some hockey stew: TVL playoff between Norwood and Havelock is tonight at Civic to open finals at 8:30. Orillia plays Petes here Friday. Keith Montgomery has signed with the Petes but must get the OHA okay ere he can play. Also he needs permission to get off work if he turns out with Jim Ellis' squad. Red Doran is back as coach of Belleville Glens, Alfie Moore quitting. Kingston edged Stouffville 6-5 the other day, so it's quite a race at the moment. Belleville beat the junior Links 6-3 recently and Kingston trimmed Lindsay 9-2 last start. With artificial ice in at Bowmanville, the Oshawa junior "B" entry may play "home" games there. Roy Armstrong may come out now Petes, but Bus Jensen is sidelined for some time with a chipped

Winnipeg Blue Bombers Interested In Kotowski

By DON GRANT.

Maybe the Peterbonough Orfuns should have settled for the Ontario Intermediate A football championship, perhaps even the Eastern Canada championship, but not the Canadian. That trip west is going to be more costly than they expected for there's a than they expected for there's a good chance they'll be losing their top notch coach, Tony Kotowski. Says Landlords Get Bad Break

TORONTO (CP)—H. S. Emel of control judges are in cahoots and Kitchener told the Ontario Property Owners' Association that "property owners are treated like common criminals in rental Firms Doing Best courts."

Mr. Emel, candidate for mayor To Fill Steel Needs

in Kitchener, said Tuesday that landlords should not have to tell the court in front of a tenant what they paid for a property. A real estate broker himself, Mr. Emelsaid there are 370 rental flats in Kitchener that would become available if rent controls were lifted.

Jamleson Bone of Belleville, president of the association, said that the Ontario government would lift rent controls "but it is afraid of the trade unions and veterans association and those who spend time in the beer halls."

Mr. Bone charged that the "rent in Kitchener, said for the trade unions and veterans association and those who spend time in the beer halls."

In Edmonton for a first-hand survey of steel needs, Mr. Balley said general steel supplies were beginning to improve, but the vast especially in the Edmonton area, were taxing all facilities of the steel industry in Canada.

TORONTO (CP) — A 12-year-old girl and her 12-year-old sister have been charged with house-breaking in what police described as a "prowling spree" through east-end homes.

The 12-year-old was arrested by police Constable John Hampton when he was awakened by footstaps in his room Monday.

The girl told police she used a can-opener to force windows. One time she climbed from a window of her home, crawled across the roof and into a neighboring house where she removed $56 from a man's pockets. Police said that the 12-year-old has been charged with five house-breakings and her sister with two and one charge of receiving.

6-Year Chase With Arrest

TORONTO (CP)—Czesiaw Malicki, 48, wanted for questioning in connection with gold bar swindles ir Winnipeg, Welland, Montreal, Buffalo and New York, appeared in court Tuesday on a charge of false pretences. He was remanded until Dec. 2.

Malicki, alias Eddie Miller, was nabbed two days ago as he tried to jump from a second-storey balcony to escape capture.

His capture was the end of a six-year chase by one of the victims. Fit, Lt. Leopold Zakrzewski, a Polish air veteran now serving with the RCAF at Rockcliffe, bought a gold bar from a man in Toronto six years ago for $9,590 but it turned out to be brass.

Police said that Malick is a master film-flam artist who has duped victims in Canada and the $50,000 in the last five years.

Zakrewski told police that he did not know that buying gold was illegal.

SALISBURY, England (AP)—The air ministry pointed today to a plane crash here as proof of the added safety attached to sitting backwards in a plane.

Four men — necessarily facing forward — were injured when an RAF transport collided with a jet fighter and crashed. The nine passengers, however, walked out dazed but unhurt. They were seated facing the rear of the plane.

6-Year Chase Ends With Arrest

TORONTO (CP)—Czesiaw Malicki, 48, wanted for questioning in connection with gold bar swindles in Winnipeg, Welland, Montreal, Buffalo and New York, appeared in court Tuesday on a charge of false pretences. He was remanded until Dec. 2.

Malicki, alias Eddle Miller, was nabbed two days ago as he tried to jump from a second-storey balcony to escape capture.

His capture was the end of asix-year chase by one of the victims. Fit. Lt. Leopold Zakrzewski, a Polish air veteran now serving with the RCAF at Rockcliffe, bought a gold bar from a man in Toronto six years ago for $9,500 but it turned out to be brass.

Police said that Malick is a master film-flam artist who has duped victims in Canada and the $50,000 in the last five years.

Zakrewski told police that he did not know that buying gold was illegal.

Lawyer Charges

Judge Kennedy spoke of the alternate charges of which Tripp could be found guilty if the jury acquitted him of the charge laid against him: unlawful wounding, or assault occasioning actual bodily harm.

The same defence of self-defence, he said, would apply to the lesser offences.

Crown Atorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, in his closing address to the jury, said it was "up to you to decide whether Tripp used more force than was necessary in shooting at Hall to stop him from any further shooting."

Mr. Fair said the jury must decide whether Tripp's act was an unlawful act or one that could be justified by an argument of self defence. He argued that it was an act justified by the position the accused found himself in.

Hall, who faces a similar charge, made the statement in response to a question from Mr. Fair, who represents Tripp.

This oil doesn't have to be looked for. It is in sight for anyone to see, or would be with little digging. It has been known since the fur traders first followed the Indian cance routes.

It is the oil in the Athabasca sands. It is heavy and dark, but it is oil and can be refined into as much gasoline, say, as the lighter crudes ordinarily used.

This would be as a distillate comprising about 30 per cent of the original oil, with sulphur removed; and the profit quoted would be on what it would bring as No. 2 fuel oil.

SEPARATION PROCESS
In northern Alberta the oil is mixed with sand, but it is not part of the sand. Taking it out is not so much a matter of extraction as of separation. It can be washed out. If the sand is left long enough exposed on the ground, ordinary surface water action will separate the oil.

Dr. Karl A. Clark, with whom I visited the sands recently, said: "They have been a taunt to North America for generations. They wear a smirk which seems to say: When are you going to do something?"

Vancouver Constable Helps City's Young Delinquents

VANCOUVER (CP)—In the old section of Vancouver called "skid row" Bill Roddy is known as a police constable with a purpose. Vancouverites generally are getting to know him as the managing director of a successful business. He calls his business "youth salvage," and the title has a double meaning. He employs 10 youngsters who were formerly either needy or in some kind of trouble meaning. He employs 10 youngsters who were formerly either needy or in some kind of trouble meaning arbage collectors.

About eight months age Roddy nominated himself as guardian of a young fellow who had got into rouble over some car thefts, "He was a fine lad," says Bill, "but he had no work habits." Bill decided the boy needed a business and "youth salvage" was born.

The boy was lent Bill's panel truck and set to work collecting everything from newspapers to discarded furniture—everything that could be sold. The business grew and more boys were brought in.

was about the size of a man's elenched fist. The diamond was bought by the Transvaal Government and presented to King Edward VII on his birthday.

It was then cut into four large brilliants, the largest of which is the "Great Star of Africa," weighing 510½ carats and now set in the head of the Royal Sceptre which is held in the Queen's right hand at the corontoation. Two hinged diamond clasps hold it in place, which allow the diamond to be removed when required by the Queen for wearing as a pen-dant on great state occasions.

The second portion known as the "Second Star of Africa" is square-shaped and set in the centre of the headband of the Imperial Crown of State which contains 2783 diamonds as well as many other precious stones. It is more than likely that Elizabeth II will wear this lovely crown when she returns to Buckingham Palace after the coronation ceremony.

ST. EDWARD'S CROWN

The Coronation Crown with which the monarch is actually crowned is called the St. Edward's n. It is of gold set with onds, rubies, sapphires, em-s and pearls. Above the diamonds, rubies, sapphires, emeralds and pearls. Above the band are alternating crosses and fleur-de-lis, and over these stretch the two complete arches symbolizing the heredity and independence of the monarchy. These arches curve downward in the centre, symbolizing royalty. Large drop pearls, said to have been wor as earrings by Elizabeth I, hang from the crossbar of the gold and gem-studded cross surmounting the orb, on top of the crown.

The crown itself is extremely heavy, weighing 4½ pounds, and for this reason in the coronation ceremony it rests on the head of the sovereign for but a few minutes before being exchanged for the lighter—½ pounds—Imperial Crown of State.

Next in importance as emblems of sovereignty are the orb and the sceptres.

The Royal Sceptre is about three feet long, is made of gold diamonds and rubies and a magnificent diamond cross in the centre of which is set a fine emerald. Beneath the orb and cross is the enormous, pear-shaped and flawless "Great Star of Africa."

The orb surmounted by a cross symbolizes the domination of the Christian faith, over the world, it is never placed in the hands of a consort, but only of a reigning King or Queen.

The King's Orb is of pure gold, richly gridled with a pearl-bordered fillet, inside which are large rubies, sapphires and emeralds surrounded by diamonds. The surmounting cross is separated from the orb by a large amethyst. The eroes is heavily jewelled, a fine sapphire occupying the centre front with an emerald at the back. The arms of the cross are studded with diamonds and the Shamrock of Scotland and the Shamrock of Ireland.

The sword is placed on the altar by the monarch in homage to the church. The Archbishop of Canterbury receives it and the sovereign redeems it on payment of 100 nevly-minted shillings, which are afterwards distributed among various church officials.

Sweaters For Evening Wear Blacks And Whites Dramatic

Far from being just something to slip into on a cold winter evening, pearls, dashes of rhinestone, glit-pear-and-sequin trim at a price the sweater has acquired a new role in the wardrobe. Judging by the company it keeps, it's come real glamor doll and is mighty busy when it's aw lots of wear in country hiking.

The sweater has acquired an air of distinction. In doing this, it has mere peanuts. But you can get a loss of thinestone, glit-pear-and-sequin trim at a price fashions offer new and fresh ideas both in gifts for Christmas and in separates for the holiday whirl. White color emphasis naturally man is not built like a barrel and stresses either black or white of course. You can't get a cashmere sweater with ermine collar and wrightes for nips in at the waistline, as it ought there are lots of smokey and heather tones, too.

A REAL JEWEL BOX filled with toiletries to tempt a Junior Miss will make a delightful Christmas gift. It holds a powder mitt, fragrant toilet water, pure castile soap shampoo and soothing hand lotion.

The tragic song My Man

What's Right?

When she sang this plaintive ballad, she won the hearts of millions. But the cheers never ended her grief. For behind the throbbing lyrics was the story of her own devotion to the man who mocked her love. Here is Norman Katkov's story of Fabulous Fanny and the man she was never able to forget. Read it in the December Ladies' Heme Journal.

Promises made to Mrs. A. M. A. and to a reader who did not sign her name are being kept today. Mrs. A. M. A. wants to know how to fry a steak that arrives at the table tender and juicy. Part of the answer to that one is -don't fry it. Broil it. Almost every stove has an upper burner in the oven even though it may not have a broiling oven. Use your upper oven burner for broil-ing. If you are mentally arguing with me because you do not have a broiling pan with a rack, my answer is to use any large shal-low pan, but preferably one in which you can fit a rack or trivet. The first requisite of a tender steak on that hot dinner plate before you is a reliable butcher, who handles Red Brand beef.

Ask your butcher to cut you a steak one or one and one-half inches thick from the porter-house or sirloin section of the car-cass, with an undercut. The un-dercut is a portion of, the beef tenderloin, and is the tenderest portion of the entire beef.

Red Brand beef is marbled with fat through the lean. Solid red lean meat does not indicate the finest brand of beef. Fat marbling and edges of fat indicate good quality beef and insure tender Preheat broiler oven if used to 450 deg. Fahr. If top oven burner is used preheat it for 10 minutes. Have steak at room temperature. Score it about every 2 inches around the edge to prevent curl-ing. Place the meat on hot greased rack OR remove the rack while broiler unit is heating and grease cold rack. This prevents meat sticking. Place meat at centre of rack and about 3 inches from heating unit. Broil until top side is well browned. Turn. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, and spread with butter if desired. Turn and broil until second side is brown-ed. Test with sharp pointed knife at bone to see if it is done to your

A one-inch porterhouse steak weighing 2 lbs. requires 20 minutes broiling in all to be done rare; 25 minutes for medium. Do not overcook steak. As I have said before the rare steak addicts about 1 minute before broiling time is up, for the steak cooks by retained heat during the time it is being transferred to hot plate and carried to table.

A 1½-inch steak from the porterhouse weighing 2½ lbs. requires about 25 to 30 minutes to be done rare; 35 minutes for med-

Most steak lovers enjoy a little lemon squeezed on their seasoned steak. Watercress is a favorite garnish and accompaniment.
Hubbard squashes are too often murdered. This is a beautiful vegetable belonging to the yellow group which is high in Vitamin (canti-cold) and the skin beautifying Vitamin A. Don't anurder the vitamins.

Closer Personal Relations Between Members Sought

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer
O'TTAWA (CP)—A move soon will be made to encourage closer personal relations among members of the Canadian Parliament and of the United States Congress.
Senator Wishaft Robertson, government leader in the Senate and minister without portfolio in the federal cabinet, said in an interview that in launching the move he will act simply as a private individual and not as a member of the government. His aim will be to arrange for frequent or at least annual exchange visits for members of Parliament and members of Congress.

He plans to get in touch with members of Parliament individually and to correspond with acquaintances in Congress.

"NOT GOOD ENOUGH"

"It is not good enough for our cabinet ministers to be on a firstname basis with their opposite numbers in the United States," said Senator Robertson, "Under the American system of government, it is possible for Congress, to over-rule the cabinet.

"This means that Congress, without knowledge of all the facts, can disregard the advice of the President and the cabinet and legislate

Teen Gifts Need Planning

Finding just the right gifts for your teen-age friends requires a flash attachment. Brilliant, some advance planning.

Since price is no doubt an object, you should make a four of the stores and see what is being shown and approximately how much money you will need.

To get you started along the leen-ager is a camera which has required at the picture exactly as you will take it. Lumar lens—always in cots—and precision shutter give clear, bright pictures in black—and—white or color.

much money you will need.

To get you started along the right track, there are some suggestions which may fill the bill. Any one of your girl friends will be overjoyed with a scarf for necklace. One lavish scarf features squares of antique automobiles and is certain to be a conversation piece wherever she goes.

If you are feeling partictularly generous, combine the scarf with handsome gold heraldic necklace. Forerunner of coming Coronation motifs, the heraldic necklace is wrought with all the skill and workmanship of a royal court jeweler. Both of these gifts are priced amazingly low, and will surely fit your budget.

Ideal Christmas gifts for friends of both particularly generous completes and silver balls on an oblong platter. Soften the base of two white candles and platter.

Dip sprays of evergreen in white palet dust with a retired.

Ideal Christmas gifts for friends of both sexes are gaily colored and designed slipper socks. This year you will find new authentic lindian paterns, and the socks are more comfortable than they have ever been before.

The hour glass crystals of the lamp are girdled by a solid brass tray which can also be obtained in soft, muted black finish.

It's ideal for an imaginative hostess who likes to grace her table with floral, fruit, or flight-of-fancy effects. And if you're giving it to someone in your own home, you needn't fancy-wrap it; just deck the tray with sprigs of holly.

Yule Log Is Old Custom

The Yule Log represents the ancient custom of lighting huge fires during the festivals that celebrated the Winter Solstice. The name comes from the Yule rites of North European countries, and eventually burning of the log became part of Christmas lore.

"PIONEERS IN TELEVISION"

Judge Quashes London Bylaw On Railway

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Mr. Justice H. A. Aylen Tuesday quashed the by-law providing for a Dec. Jaratepayers' vote on the future of London and Port Stanley Railway London and Port Stanley Railway passenger service.

He called the by-law "faulty" and "contrary to law" because the question city council planned to put to ratepayers included certain "vague" considerations apparently intended to "guide" the electorate.

The city may appeal the ruling, perhaps making it possible for the vote still to be held on election day. But no decision on an appeal has been made so far. That would be up to council and would depend on the advice of city solicitor H.R. Davidson, Q.C.

In quashing the by-law, Mr. Justice Aylen ruled that Patrick Daley president of the London Iabor council, who challenged the legality of the vote as a private citizen, is entitled to costs. Edward Richmond, LLC lawyer, appeared for Mr. Daley.

THREE ISSUES

THREE ISSUES

Mr. Justice Aylen's decision hinged on three parts of the proposed question: references to "major rehabilitation expense," "normal maintenance" and the possibility of loss of a "proposed agreement" with Greyhound bus lines limited.

agreement with Greyhound bus lines limited.

This is the question as drafted by city council Nov. 3:

"Are you in favor of continuing the passenger service of the London and Port Stanley Railway for a further period of up to five years without any major rehabilitation expense but including normal maintenance, so that the future course of the railway may be determined on the basis of the experience gained during that period, notwithstanding the fact that any proposed agreement with Greyhound Bus Lines Limited may thereby be lost?"

Mr. Justice Aylen said he considered the city to have answered all objections except the wording of the question itself.

Mr. Justice Aylen gave his judgment after hearing three hours' argument in weekly court yesterday.

Black is a pergnnial favorite for Christmas lingerie. To most women, it spells glamor and beauty. This year you'll find its been cut into lace-trimmed, form-fitting gowns of nylon topped by floating nylon peignoirs that have been given pale pink linings to relieve the inky look of absolute black. Sleeves are huge, filmly circles worn pushed up.

ROBE FABRIC IS IMPORTED

The short robe, a fashion now firmly established, appears for Christmas this year in a beautiful wool basket weave that's imported. In pale blue, it's fitted and tied at the waist, has deep dolman sleeves and delicate trim of cotton event lace.

Puritans Bitterly Frowned On Yuletide

In the early Puritan days of New England, Christmas was a celebratoin to frown on, rather than to celebrate.

There was even a law passed in 1659 in Massachusetts that set a five-shilling fine for "observing any such day as Christmas, or the like, either by forebearing of labor, or feasting in any other way."

The law stayed on the books for 22 years, but eventually the spirit of Christmastide overcame the attitude of the Puritans, who had regarded the gaiety of Christmas as frivolous excitement. It became a legal holiday late in the first half of the 19th century.

Gifts To Go Places Please The Travellers

Gifts that help travelling are popular with people who are always going places.

Always-useful items such as laggage, folding irons, miniature troning boards, and padded bottle quards are not exactly new, but still fine gifts for those who don't have them.

You'll find less standard items, too, such as a separate shoe-

You'll find less standard items, too, such as a separate shoe-accessory bag, folding plastic hangers, or a rubber-wheeled skate that straps onto the bottoms of heavy suitcases so that the lady traveller can push, rather than carry them, thus freeing herself from the scramble for porters.

FOR CHRISTMAS SPARKLE there's this handsome cuff bracelet in multi-shaped rhinestones. Hoop earring is in emerald-cut rhinestones with solitaire drop dangling from a large solitaire.

THE BIB LOOK, acheieved through a high-hugging choker, is shown here in company with matched rhinestone bracelets by the armful and rhinestone floral earrings.

Select Trees For Christmas

There's something akin to magic in the gay Christmas tree—with its glowing lights, sparkling ornaments and the glitter of snow and tinsel gleaming on the rich green of the tree itself.

A tree such as this is more than

of the tree itself.

A tree such as this, is more than an ornament to the home, but rather a bright, glowing symbol that expresses the quality of the season—the happiness of the home than the season—the happiness of the home. it graces, the spiritual theme of the festivity, and the gaiety of all it serves with its beauty.

Pearls appear often, sometimes encircled by sparkly rhinestones in matched sets. A trio might in-clude necklace, earrings and ring. You're quite safe in buying two out of three since few women care to wear all three at once. If, however, you do add the third piece, it gives her a chance to switch the combinations for variety.

Christmas Wreaths Are Easy To Make

There is true economy and lots of fun in making your own Christmas wreaths—and the job isn't a difficult one at all.

Perhaps the easiest method to bend a wire coat hanger so that it forms a circle, then wrap it, handle and all, with laurel or

If it's a wreath that you plan to hang on the front door, use bright red oilcloth for the bow, as ribon is likely to be ruined by snow and rain. String a few small bells on the wreath so that every time the door is opened the time the door is opened wreath will tinkle a greeting.

If you want your Christmas sure they are hung outside the wreaths to stay fresh longer, make window instead of inside.

Miracle Of Christmas Lasts As One Of Enduring Beauty

The miracle of Christmas seems to the deeply religious tributes to be one of the last enduring Christ.

to be one of the last enduring beauties of our time. For who, indeed, can resist the brightly littrees, tinseled windows, warmhearted greetings cards, caroling voices.

These well-loved yule customs reach far back into the past. And their true traditional meaning was, of course, inspired by the birth of Christ.

The very idea of Christmas gifts began with the gold, frankincense and myrrh brought to the Infant Jesus by the Three Wise Men.

Candles are burned in church as a symbol of enlightenment. It's also an old Irish custom to place a lighted candle in the window on Christmas Eve — to guide the Christ Child on His long journer from heaven.

Another ancient legend says that when Christ was born the devil died and all the bells on earth rang in celebration, just as they will ring again on Christmas morning.

ALE FOR CATTLE

In Sweden, ale is given to the cattle on Christmas Eve in honor of their presence at the manger in Bethlehem. In the German Alps, legends persist that all animals can speak on Christmas Eve.

And who can imagine Christmas gifts begand brought the magical presence of Santa Claus? The bearded giver of gifts, however, is known only in the magical presence of Santa Nikalaus and then to Santa Klaus. Washington Irving blooved colonial author, gave Santa his reindeer-drawn sleigh in 1809. Thomas Nast, the cartoon-ist, added Santa's red, erminetric morning.

Senator Says Many Escape Paying Taxes

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator Cyrille Vaillancourt (L—Quebee) says that if every Canadian paid his share income taxes could be reduced by 40 per cent.

He made the statement in the Senate Tuesday while moving a motion for adoption of an address in reply to the speech from the throne. The motion was seconded by Senator C. G. Hawkins (L—Nova Scotia).

Speaking in French, Senator Vaillancourt said workers pay their share of taxes because they are deducted at the source. But among others, there are some who try deducted at the source. But among others, there are some who try all possible ways to avoid paying income tax.

"I would even say they attempt to defraud the government." he said. "They do not realize that if they don't pay then their neighbor has to pay.

"Failure to pay one's income tax is not only an injustice, it is theft," said Senator Vaillancourt.

- PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER - Wednesday, Nov. 28, 1952 Will Drop Vote On Railway

LONDON, Ont. (CP)There'll be o vote on the London and Port itanley Railway question at the nunicipal election here next Monday.

City council decided Tuesday night to appeal a Supreme Court judge's order quashing the by-law which authorized the ballot—but determined also to submit no vote at least until the appeal court's ruling is known.

Council's vote was 6-2 in favor of appeal but against going ahead with the election-day ballot. The decision was taken at an emergency meeting called following Mr. Justice H. A. Aylen's quashing of the by-law, He called it "faulty" and contrary to law because the question to be put to ratepay a yers included certain "vague" considerations apparently "vague" considerations apparently intended to "guide" the electorate.

Havelock WMS Holds Annual Thankoffering

HAVELOCK (ENS). — Ahnual fall thankoffering service of the Women's Missionary Society of Havelock United Church was held Sunday evening when the Rev. R. G. Newman told some of his experiences and those of Mrs. Newman as missionaries in Japan. A set of slives, "Japan Today," was also shown. Mr. and Mrs. Newman as ang a duet in the Japanese language.

The members of the WMS occupied the front centre pews. The president, Mrs. Newman, conducted the service and the Scripture was read by Mrs. Herbert Hoard. Thankoffering amounted to $60.00.

Re-elected President Of Property Owners

TORONTO (CP)—W. J. LeClair of Ottawa Tuesday was re-elected president of the Canadian Federation of Property Owners' Associations at its 16th annual conference.
Ontario directors elected were: Jamieson Bone, Belleville; A. J. Bender, Kitchener; R. M Willes Chitty, Toronto; W. J. LeClair, Ottawa: H. E. Manning, Toronto; C. E. Purnell, Hamilton; J. S. Stauffer, Toronto.

Cheaper Smokes

TORONTO (CP)—Cheaper United States cigarettes—33 cents for a package of 20—went on sale here this week at a large groceteria chain. The price compares with the usual 39 cents for 20 Canadian cigarettes and 44 for name-brand American smokes. "We are watching with interest but we are certainly not alarmed," a leading Canadian cigarette manufacturer said.

In the glorious pageant that is Christmas, there's a wonderful to, welcome that jolly elf, Santa parade of interesting people who pass through the many tales, legerales and folklore that make up the Christmas story.

Here in America, we are glad to, welcome that jolly elf, Santa dates back o'er the centuries in many garbs and many forms. Saint Nicholas, reputed to be the hardest working saint of all—was born in Patras, etty in Asia.

Elsie Bennett

GIFT SHOP many garbs and many forms.

Saint Nicholas, reputed to be the hardest working saint of all —was born in Patras, city in Asia Minor. His history tells of many great miracles, great deeds to help the poor and needy and saving the lives of many. He is patron saint to bankers, pawnbrokers, unmarried girls, children, mariners, scholars, and even, thieves. He is said to have died about 343 A.D.

Over 500, years lates. Saint about 343 A.D.

Over 600 years later, Saint Nicholas was adopted as the patron saint of old Russia and later by the Laplanders and Samoyeds. (From whom, he probably acquired his sleigh and reindeer.)

Saint Nicholas is also revered in Germany, France, Switzerland, Holland, and Luxembourg — dit is in these countries that he appears traditionally riding his white horse, carrying gifts for good children and whipping rods for the bad ones. His gifts are bestowed on December 6th.

when the Dutch settled in the American colonies, they brought with them the tradition of Saint Nicholas or "Santeklas," as he was aftectionately called. From the tall, lean and spiritual looking character in long robes, he was gradually transformed into the fat, joliy children-loving giftgiving, fairy-tale elf.

In Protestant countries the giving, fairy-tale elf.

In Protestant countries, the Christ Child, or Kristkind, is the bestower of gifts at Christmas time. Other gift donors associated with the Christmas story are lesser known in the passing parade of folklore and legend.

There is Tante Aria, the cloud goddess, who brings gifts to the children, and is accompanied by the Father Star above her.

Hungarian children have their pensers of gifts.

"La Befana," mystical wanderer in search of the Christ Child, delivers gifts, like the good fairy she is, to Italian children. She is represented carrying a broom, and goes from house to house.

In old Russia, "Baboushka," carrying a staff and many toys, goes from house to house in her search of the Christ Child.

In Spain, the Three Wise Men deliver gifts as they continue their way to Bethlehem. As they pass through Spain, they leave all sorts in the hearts of all, as the wondrous gaiety of Christmas time grows through the years with the children —to whom it is always the most exciting, thrilling, unforgettable day of the year.

MURDER SUSPECT — Mrs. June Armstrong, 24, of Holland Marsh, Ont., has her three-week-old baby with her in Toronto's Don Jail where she is held on a charge of murder. Believed the first time a mother and infant have been kept in the jail, Mrs. Armstrong is charged with stabbing to death Walter Coleman, 38, at Holland Marsh, 40 miles north of Toronto, September 21. She gave birth to her baby in hospital after being transferred from jail. She will be tried in January. Mrs. Armstrong, mother of two other children, refuses to part with her baby, police officials say.

Hungarian children have their gifts delivered by a host of angels: in Poland, the Good Stars from Heaven are the cheery dispensers of gifts.

U.S. Buying Up Yule Trees From Nova Scotia

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
About 2,500,000 families in the leave the province this year they United States will celebrate Vulctide this year around a tree grown in Nova Scotia.

The cost to them will be anywhere from 50 cents up. The profit to Nova Scotia can't be measured exactly but it is substantial. More than 180 licences for export of trees were granted this year and hundreds of men find shortseason employment cutting the trees and preparing them for shipment.

If the estimated 2,500,000 trees leave they will require 1,200 railway cars to carry them.

Growers of the trees probably will receive about $2,500. Truckers receive about $2,500. Truck

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, MD Since there are said to be some hree million persons with diabetes in the United States alone, his disease raises many interesting questions, only a few of which can be discussed in a single column.

One correspondent recently sked if it was advisable for women who have had diabetes for many years to have children.

Until recently pregnancy for women with diabetes carried conderably greater risks for the mother and the death rate in children of diabetic mothers ranged as high as six out of 10. Now, nowever, with rigid diet, restriction of salt, and other medical and surgical means, the outlook for the mother has been much improved—and for the child as well. In one series of patients who were given the most expert type of care during pregnancy, the mortality of the mothers was only me in 200, and 84 of 100 children survived.

In giving these figures, however, it must be remembered that the comparatively favorable results apply only to those mothers who are most cooperative, as well as those receiving extremely skilled medical attention.

The building of the present school and both churches are within her memory, as well as telephone accommodation. In fact, it was her brother, Stephen Sisson, who installed the very first telephone in the village. He was an agent selling farm implements and wanted communication with the railway station. At his ownexpense Stephen supplied the equipment and the cost of installation of a telephone in the station and at his own farm home and lation of a telephone in the station and at his own farm home and had to pay the Grand Trunk Railway for the privilege of doing it. After the death of her sister, Mrs. John Sisson, she looked after the house for her brother-in-law. Another sister, Mrs. Arthur Flack, needed help and Miss Sisson gave her loving care during her lengthy needed neip and Miss Sisson gave her loving care during her lengthy illness, and since her death has remained with Mr. Flack. She keeps busy doing all her own housework and looking after her flower garden. Miss Sisson must have a "green thumb," for everything in her garden thrives. Her potted plants fill the windows of her home, attracting the attention of every passer-by.

She still does a great deal of work for the church and missions and helped actively last week with St. Paul's annual bazaar, During the war years her fingers were never idle, knitting and sewing for the Red Cross. She has been a very active member of the Wemen's Institute and a teacher in the Sunday school.

The Prime Ministers are met solely to deal with financial and economic problems. A Liberty We Do Not Need

As we are always interested in any-thing which bears upon the freedom of the press we have given some thought Costa; he is chairman of the board of the National Press Photographers Association in the U.S.A., and he thinks that press photographers should be allowed to take pictures in courtrooms. Anything which may be lawfully seen by the numan eye in a public place, he argues, should be freely photographed and published, if it does not violate any law.

We think that he is right in his argument, but as well as laws on the statute books there are laws of good taste which newspapers do well to observe. What would probably be photographed in a courtroom? The man in the dock when he hears his sentence; his wife at a critical moment in the trial; a witness who has, for some reason, broken down under examination. Interesting pictures, certainly, and thousands of people would like to see them, but considerations the Commonwealth Conference in other than those of law restrain newspapers from habitually making public exhibitions of people who are in deep SINCE THE WAR they have managed to

We read with interest and pleasure that Canada's population is now 85.3 per cent. native born; this is the highest percentage since 1901, when the figure was 87 per cent., though of course the population was much smaller.

Few Bored Norwegians

(Ed. Note: Norway, like Canada, has an immensely long coast line to defend; in addition Norway has a common frontier with Russia 120 miles long. Here is an account of Norway's "happy compromise as the vulnerable heel of NATO.)

VORWAY'S one hundred and twenty-mileslong frontier with Russia is commonly regarded as the Achilles* heel of the NATO regarded as the Achilles* heel of the NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organisation) defence system. How to hold northern Norway, isolated from the south by barren mountains and deep fjords, under-populated, lacking a first-class road and rail system, and intested by a powerful Communit Fifth Column, is a major headache. To turn this region beyond the Arctic Circle into a powerful defence base is a costly affair, far beyond the resources of little Norway. Letters To The Editor

MORE ABOUT SCRIVEN MONUMENT Sir: A letter appearing in the issue of No-ember 5 entitled "Scriven Monument Neglected", has attracted our attention.

The writer, Mr. Nelson of Selwyn, laments the fact that the familiar monument erected to the memory of Joseph Scriven, author of the hymn "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," has been sadly neglected. We believe most people who have paused to view the stone at close range, will agree with Mr. Nelson when he urges that some church group nearby take enough interest to care for the plot immediately surrounding the

Another gripe is the Christmas mail. Why don't they hire enough men to handle it? I hate to receive (or to send) Christmas cards three weeks or more before Christmas. VEARLY TESTS FOR

Sir: In an editorial headed "Driver, Aged 86" in your issue of November 25 you say: "In its wisdom the Ontario Government assumes that anybody is qualified to drive who is old enough to stand up and not so old as to fall down, who has $1.50, has driven before on a permit, and has not had too many accidents". The editorial continues with a statement that "nearly all Ontario licensed drivers between the ages of sixty and a hundred have never taken a driving test in their lives".

The facts are these: Section 10 of the Manual For Examiners provides thus — It is the practice of the Department to require drivers who have been involved in fatal secidents, drivers in the higher age groups, and inexperienced drivers who have been involved in an accident to apply for a re-examination and to furnish a certificate with reference to eyesight condition. In addition, drivers of eighty years and over, are required to submit to driving and vision tests each year as a prerequisite to the annual renewal of the license. In such cases the application and fee and the two certificates must be sent to Head Office for cor tion". This rule is strictly adhered to in this district, as an examination of my list of rejections will prove, and is at variance in Section 2 of the Manual: "A person whose place of residence is nearer to that of an other Examiner must not be given an examination. Drivers ducted by their local Examiner will occasionally attempt to procure a license from an Examiner whom they believe to be less exacting". This rule also is strictly observed in this district.

Yours faithfully, ALBERT A. JUBY, Examiner.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version) And Esau hated Jacob because of the blessng wherewith his father blessed him: and sau said in his heart, The days of mourning for my father are at hand; then will I slay my brother Jacob. (Gen. 27:41.)

And Jacob went out from Beer-shebs, and went toward Haran. And he lighted upon a certain place, and tarried there all night, because the sun was set; and he took of the stones of that place, and put them for his pillows, and lay down in that place to sleep. And he dreamed, and behold a ladder set up on the earth, and the top of it reached to heaven: and behold the angels of God ascending and descending on it. And, behold, the Lord stood above it, and said, I am the Lord God of Abraham thy father, and the God of Isaac: the land whereon thou liest, to thee will I give it, and to thy seed; and thy seed shall be as the dust of the earth, and thou shalt spread abroad to the west, and to the and to the south: and in thee and in thy seed shall all the families of in thee and in thy seed shall all the families the earth be blessed.

And behold, I am with thee, and will keep And behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of. And Jacob awaked out of his sleep, and he said, Surely the Lord is in this place; and I knew it not.

And Jacob vowed a vow, saying, If God will be with me, and will keep me in this way be with me, and will keep me in this way that I go, and will give me bread to eat, and raiment to put on, so that I come again to my father's house in peace; then shall the Lord be my God. (Gen. 28:10-16, 20, 21.)

I have called upon thee, for thou wilt hear me, O God: incline thine ear unto me, and hear my speech . . As for me, I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness. (Ps. 17:6, 15.)

Remedy

(Letter in The Times, London)

Sir — In a leading article in a recent issue you mentioned a letter which I had quoted from a lady who at her husband's invitation had quelled his lumbago at first by thrashing, and later by lightly brushing, the af-fected part with freshly gathered stinging nettle. Both history and modern science appear to support the action of that intrepid couple.

History, so I have read, records in the pages of Camden that Roman soldiers, serving in Britain, brought nettle seed with pages of Camden that Roman soldiers, serving in Britain, brought nettle seed with them to Britain and "sowed it there for their use to rub and chafe their limbs, when through extreme cold they should be stiff or benumbed." A girl refugee from Hungary lately told me that the peasants in her home-land today used the same remedy. Cam-bridge rallied a few years ago to their sup-port. Drs. Emmelin and Feldberg, as the outcome of minutely exact laboratory work. after describing in published papers the beautiful mechanism of the nettle sting, went on to report that they had found in the fluid which it injected into the skin, three sub-stances, of which they had identified two as acetylcholine and histamine. The third ater assumed by a German worker to be the sodium salt of formic acid, a chemical which would enhance the effect of the other

It is now shown not only to possess a mechanism as perfect as, and closely akin to, that hypodermic syringe, but also to employ it for the discharge of a mixed fluid which, I am told, by increasing locally the flow of blood to the skin, and exciting its sensory nerve endings, might be expected to act in alleviation of lumbago.

The Making of the Queen's Robe

(B.B.C. Bulletin)

The magnificent purple silk velvet Coronaction robe of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth is being made from English silk which comes from Lullingstone Castle, a mellow Tudor house in Kent. Lullingstone silk was used for the Coronation robe of Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother, and for the young Princess Elizabeth's robe at the Coronation of her father; it was used also in the Princes's used. father; it was used also in the Princess's wedding dress. In the mediaeval garden of the castle are the mulberry shrubs which feed some 4,000,000 silkworms, and in the castle itself are the cocoons from which the silk is spun; from each cocoon there are abo nbroken miles of silk. After the fine threads have been twisted into stronger yarn by the process of 'throwing', it goes from Lulling-stone to a silk mill at Braintree in Essex, where it is dyed and woven on a hand loom.
Godfrey Talbot says that the weaver who made the Coronation robe for Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother will again have this honour, but against unforeseen events a duplicate length is also being woven. From Braintree the royal purple will be taken to London where expert needlewomen at the Royal School of Needlework at South Kensington will embroider the rich and intricate designs of tradition.

Urge Manufacturers Change Car Design

CALGARY (CP) — The Western Automobile Association yesterday urged manufacturers to consider changes of design in future car models. Officials called for design improvements which would lower the cost of repairs and replace-

The request, directed at the Automobile Manufacturers' Association of Canada and the United States, was passed unanimously by delegates from the British Columbia Automobile Association, the Alberta Motor Association, the Asskatchewan Motor Club and the Manitoba Motor League.

Earlier in the two-day meeting, Warren Hastings of Toronto, executive vice-president of the Canadian Automobile Association, suggested a "Three E" program — education, engineering and enforcement — for improving driving standards.

Trent Valley Hockey League pre-season play-offs, a home-and-home, goals-to-count series, began Wednesday night at Civic Arena, with Jack Harris' Havelock Aces edging Red Creighton's blue-and-white Norwood Stars, 8-7, in a thrill-packed struggle to delight a good crowd. The score was fairly indicative of the play. The teams will conclude the set next Wednesday night, at Civic, when a record crowd may witness the finest battle of the season to decide the

That trip out west in itself was better pay.

"If all the players in Peterborough would get together, they'd have a good local talent hockey team and I'm sure their followers would be more responsive, as citizens like a home team. On top of that, it's good advertising for a town, makes real entertainment and the town a better place to live in. Most kids look forward to the day when they can represent their town. You'll never need a new arena if the boys don't get together and form a real good team to fill it up." Yes, Stan is a long-distance fan but apparently a good one who knows what goes on in local sports. He will have a lot of folks agreeing with his views.

11 Monty a Fine Player

Monty a Fine Player

It is hoped that Monty can get cleared with the OHA within the next week or so and line up with the Petes. We'd much sooner see him play here than in Lindsay or the TVL, as Keith Montgomery is not only a most capable rushing defenceman, but a colorful senior pucklet. With the Eagles out, he first thought he'd play with the Petes but decided later to go out with Norwood, However, Monty of the Hav's when he sped down right wing, was hit, recovered, and closed in alone to beat Hickson. Action was fairly even both ways, territorially speaking, despite the score, with Norwood always stymied at the doorsets but decided later to go out with Norwood. However, Monty Petes but decided later to go out with Norwood. However, Monty MOON COUNTED Petes but decided later to go out with Norwood. However, Monty really wanted to play OHA hockey, so he signed with Lindsay. Now that he's working here again, he penned his name on a Petes' certificate—but the OHA says ixnay to two certificates in one season. He'll likely have to appear at their next executive meeting and plead his case. But we'd like to see him playing here. Orillia plays the Petes Friday here.

While Monty would fit in fine on a TVL team, that ambitious loop doesn't really need him. TVL teams are permitted five city players each this year, players who performed in senior "B" ranks last winter. But the cities concerned are Peterborugh, Belleville and Trenton, and many of the Trent League teams in our district already have a like a pumpler.

MOON COUNTED

Determination and fury spurred the men of Creighton in mid-frame, and at the quarter mark mighty Moon Wootton surged down centre, passed to Bill Crowley; the two closed in on Batley who partially stopped Wootton's drive but the Moon scored to get a big hand. Bert Hill combined with Honey Tompkins who played a whale of a game, at the II-minute mark to hit the mesh when Honey sped like a junior down centre, shot a sizzler, and Bert whisked in the rebound to the open side on an opportune lot of good former Peterborough players, as well as a number of the classy Eagles of last semester. So, there should be no dearth of talent on district TVL teams, which also have quite a bit of home talent. In fact, our senior squads in recent years have been glad to get some of the better TVL players CHICAGO 'AP)—Jimmy Bivins admits that Ezzard Charles hits hard, but says he's not the sharp puncher he used to be.

Charles, former world heavy-weight champion, tried to display his so-called new butchering style Wednesday night in winning a dull 10-round decision but he had a hard time catching up with old Jim after the first round.

Near period's end, Norwood, fighting doggedly, again strucky pay dirt as the clever and tricky Reggie Stewart, rapped hond, after a mad Hickson were good or the score would have been considerably higher. OTTAWA (CP)—The number of Canadians in mental institutions has increased proportionally by nearly 31 per cent in the last 20 years, the bureau of statistics reports.

The first survey on the subject since 1931 shows that 394 out of every 100,000 Canadians are patients in mental institutions. This is an increase of 93 from the 301 per 100,000 registered in the 1931 census of mental institutions. The report showed that mental institutions house more men than women; that the greatest percentage of the men are in the 45-54 age group, and that more single persons are in mental institutions. The post age of the men are in the 45-54 age group, and that more single persons are in mental institutions is now held by Dr. John Steelman.

Farm Worker Gored

Wednesday when they were attacked by a 1,000-pound bull on the farm of Howard A. Nelles, Boston. The dead man, Charles Bonney, 72, was attacked by the bull when he entered the barnyard to open a gate. The second man, Raymond Nelles, 20, son of the farm's owner, was attacked when he tried to frighten the bull away from the older man.

Nelles was rescued when a neighbor, Reg Woodley, and his two hired men, Ed Kemp and Wiecher Hoeksema, chased the bull with clubs.

Mr. Bonney died on his way to hospital. His chest was crushed. Nelles' injuries are not serious.

Offer Dike Plan To End Saugeen Floods

WALKERTON (CP) — Conservationists from many parts of the watershed met here to hear William Griesinger, minister of planning and development, present the Saugeen Valley Authority report. A $17,000 dike and river improvement plan to end the Saugeen river's flood threat to Walkerton is a major recommendation of the report, issued Wednesday night. Its five major divisions cover his tory of the Saugeen watershed, present and proposed land uses, establishment of a 30,000-acre authority forest, flood and other water problems, and the conservation of wildlife.

To end floods the report rules out storage reservoirs and a diversion canal as too expensive.

Estimating the peak flow during the 1947 flood at 25,000 cubic feet a second, the report suggests $2,500 feet of diking on the north parts. About $35,000 would be spent on excavating the river channel to permit faster, smoother flow of weer.

SUB KILLER—The Navy's latest answer to any possible submarine menace makes its first flight, above, from Burbank, Calif. The Lockheed P2V-6 is powered by turbocompound engines for long range, high speed and short take-off. The plane is designed to lay mines, make night or low-level bombing runs, and high altitude bombing and photo recogniziones missions.

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

The triumph over disease is nowhere better shown than in the case of a condition known as pernicious anemia. Up until about 1926, people who were stricken with this disease all died eventually from it, and the average duration of life was only a little over three years after the onset.

Today, death from pernicious anemia, if the diagnosis is made reasonably promptly, and the proper treatment employed, is exceedingly rare.

The remarkable improvement in outlook for pernicious anemia victims is due principally to the fundamental observation and dog experiments of Whipple, Minot, Marphy and Castle, although knowledge has continued to advance un the hands of others.

This disease is not caused by overwork, as one correspondent thought might be the case in her 27-year-old sister, who has five children and does all her own housework.

IMPERIAL BANK OF CANADA EXECUTIVES ADDRESS 78th ANNUAL MEETING

CHECK OF INFLATION ACHIEVEMENT OF YEAR

L. S. MACKERSY, M.C.

Toronto, November 26:—Mr. I. K. Johnston, President, Imperial Bank of Canada addressing the Bank's 78th Shareholders Meeting today, stated that the past year has been one of great prosperity in Canada. Mr. Johnston pointed out that employment was high and as price rises have ceased the national income continues to grow. Mr. Johnston stated "The advantage we have gained over inflationary forces is perhaps the greatest achievement of the Canadian economy in the time that has elapsed since our last Annual Meeting".

i Mr. Johnston felt the expansion of our productive capacity in 1952 seems likely to exceed even the most optomistic forecasts. While American capital ntakes an important contribution to maintaining the high level of investment, Canadian capital will continue to be our main reliance and "Encouragement of saving by Canadians should, therefore, be a major objective of economic policy." To accomplish this Mr. Johnston expressed the hore that right of saving by Canadians should, therefore, be a major objective of economic policy". To accomplish this Mr. Johnston expressed the hope that rising tax revenues together with exacting scrutiny of governmental expenditures will make tax cuts possible.

Referring to the export trade picture, Mr. Johnston pointed out that in contrast with most of 1951 the year 1952 has shown an excess of exports over imports and this was mainly due to a favourable change in the terms of trade.

Mr. Johnston, commenting on the high exchange value of the Canadian dellar stated that the abundant supply of American dollars for investmen in Canada had led to the high value of the Canadian dollar. He felt, however, that the high value of the Canadian dollar the felt, however, that the high value of the Canadian dollar would have been greater. It is my hope that the Canadian dollar would have been greater. "It is my hope that the Canadian dollar will not be allowed to rise much beyond recent levels".

the sate of Canadian securities neld by Americans and were it not for this the upward pressure on the value of the Canadian dollar would have been greater. "It is my hope that the Canadian dollar will not be allowed to rise much beyond recent levels".

Referring to the 1952 wheat crop, Mr. Johnston stated that this will be the biggest in history, and added to this are some 100 million bushels saved by our Western farmers this spring which they had to leave unthrashed the previous year. Abundant rains this summer produced an average yield of 26 bushels an acre equalling the record set in 1915, and Mr. Johnston pointed out that at current prices this crop is worth well over $1,250 million.

Commenting on our resource development, Mr. Johnston expressed the view that while our position is basically sound; the marketing of resource products is not without its problems. Pulp and lumber markets have weakened, base metals are going at lower prices, and gold mines are in a more difficult position due to the high value of the Canadian dollar but that our producers have both the initiative and faith in their ability to meet such problems has been demonstrated many times and, continued Mr. Johnston, "The great promise of large increases in productivity from the resource-development program merits the most careful provision for its continuation. It also depends on a wise public policy, sound conservation, depletion provisions, and appropriate tax allowances for development costs."

In forecasting the business prospects, Mr. Johnston continued "A careful appraisal suggests that the Canadian economy will maintain its present healthy balance in the near future. There seems no prospect yet of the sharp fall in investment expenditure which heralds the end of boom conditions. The many projects now underway for the development of our rich natural wealth imply continued heavy outlays. Exports, the other basis of our current prosperity present a more sobering outlook. For the moment rising exports in a few fields have offset sharp

ASSETS AND

Toronto, November 26:—Mr. L. S. Mackersy, Vice-President and General Manager, Imperial Bank of Canada, commenting on the 78th Annual Statement of the Bank said in part:—

The Seventy-Eighth Annual Statement of the Bank said in part;—
The Seventy-Eighth Annual Statement of the Bank shows Total Assets of $586,540,603. This is a new high and is an increase of $50,934,561, during the year. Before provision for depreciation and taxes the profits for the year were $3,099,987 showing an increase of $237,987. Provision for depreciation was $449,992, and for Government of Canada and Provincial taxes $1,331,000—an increase of $181,000—left $1,318,996 which is $82,596 more than last year. Dividends of $1.20 per share amounting to $840,000 and a bonus of 20c per share totalling $140,000 were paid, which left a balance of $338,996. We have written $200,000 off Bank Premises account leaving $138,996 to be added to Profit and Loss Account which makes the balance in that account $1,214,741.

Deposits at $539,793,637 showing an increase of $55,051,591 establish a new all-time high. Non-interest bearing deposits increased $13,748,577 and interest-bearing deposits increased $27,000,588 a total increase of $40,749,165. Government of Canada deposits, however, decreased $2,070,032 but this was more than offset by an increase of $16,372,458 in Provincial Government deposits. Investments, not exceeding market value, now total $222,545,105—an increase of $25,776,804. Loans total $246,951,189—an increase of $12,876,845. Current Loans increased $1,373,385 and Call Loans increased $1,242,369 but loans to Provincial Governments decreased $272,690 and Loans to Cities, Towns and Municipalities decreased $1,379,639.—Bank Premises Account now stands at $8,248,485—an increase of $287,891. Our shareholders now number 3,379 and our branches, including sub-branches, total 227.

Premises Account now stands at $8,248,485—an increase of $287,891. Our shareholders now number 3,379 and our branches, including sub-branches, total 227.

On the whole, the past year has been one of undoubted prosperity and development for Canada. While the unfortunate outbreak of foot and mouth disease resulted in the loss of livestock markets, it now appears certain that the epidemic has been fully eradicated and it is reasonable to expect resumption of exports to the United States in the comparatively near future. This year's Canadian wheat crop of 688 million bushels represents an unprecedented yield, exceeding by 20% the previous record established in 1928. The income from agriculture should exceed that of last year's record of approximately $3,000 million.

Canada's oil industry continues to advance not only in number of actual wells but in further intensified exploration in all four of the Western provinces. The completion and use of the pipe-line to the head of Lake Superior has resulted in an important percentage reduction in the import of crude oil. It is quite within the realm of possibility that in the not too distant future Canada will be self-sufficient in this important product.

There is no change for the better in the gold mining industry, while non-ferrous metal production has to date this year run slightly ahead of the same period last year. Aluminum production is up noticeably and will in due course be substantially increased when the Kitimat project is completed. Additional finds of uranium deposits are worthy of comment and the refinery now being built will, when completed, be one of the world's largest, if not the largest.

Shipment of iron ore, despite the recent steel strike in the United States, has been heavier. Development of the iron ore deposits of Quebec and Labrador continue aggressively. Even now the development is providing large scale employment and when in production will be of substantial aid to the general economy of Canada.

Business generally has continued at a high level

PC's Charging Blunders Gov't Financing

OTTAWA (CP)—A front - bench Progressive Conservative says the Liberal government is guilty of "unparalleled blunders in national financing" and charges it is spend-ing recklessly in hopes of influenc-ing voters before the next election.

Donald Fleming, member for Toronto Eglinton, said Wednesday in the Commons the "thought of this government is that if they spend money they make votes; and that is the reason and the only reason why you see these reckless expenditures being made at the present time."

"The Canadian taxpayer is bleeding; his blood is running fast."

"The Canadian taxpayer is bleeding; his blood is running fast." The charges brought from John Dickey, parliamentary assistant to Production Minister Howe, a reply that the Progressive Conservatives are using "half-truths" and "baseless suggestions" to try to damage the government politically. Mr. Fleming also said private enterprise is ready to go ahead with television in Canada, but is being hampered by a government "with a mania for monopoly and bureaucracy."

In promising to consider private stations only at points where the CBC did not plan or already have TV stations, the government had thrown private radio "a bone from which all meat and nourishment has been removed."

had been stalling since 1919 on national health insurance. Whole sections of the population were without proper medical care because they could not afford it. Some people were "dying unnecessarily."

County council are asking the Department of Highways to approve a supplementary expenditure of $5,000 to meet the cost of maintaining county roads.

This was approved in committee Wednesday at the closing session of the year.

Reeve James Gifford, chairman of the committee, said earlier in the session that he hoped the care ful budgeting this year would wipe out the $12,100 deficit on county roads inherited from the year been checking expenditures from month to month. At the end of the year they hope to break even, though there may be a small deficit.

Despite their careful scrutiny of road accounts the committee ran into an unexpected expenditure, Mr. Gifford said. The cost of overhauling the three-quarter cubic yard, power-operated shovel was $7,104 instead of the $4,000 that the company said the job could be done for.

SPEED-UP CLEAN-UP FOR FREEZE-UP—With the freezeup imminent and snow due to arrive to stay, the men who handle Canada's vast harvest of pulpwood are scurrying to get the last logs ashore and into place for the winter. As in this view at the pulpwood centre of Marathon, Ontario, on the rock-rimmed north shore of Lake Superior, men and tugs are working feverishly to haul the logs out of the water into high stockpiles. With snow, loggers in the high stockpiles. With snow, loggers in the forests will start getting next year's crop of pulp logs ready and the spring thaws will send them down the streams to take the place of these logs which will, by then, have become pulp, paper, paperboard, plastic, rayon, wallboard, or any of the numerous products of pulpwood.—(Photo by Malak).

Christian Obedience Needed, WA Hears

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Mrs. H. G. Ritchie of the Salvation Army Corps, Peterborough, was guest speaker Tuesday afternoon when the Women's Association of the United Church met in the Sunday School rooms for their November meeting.

Speaking on the subject "The Appeal of Jesus", Mrs. Ritchie spoke in particular of the obedience of Jesus and pointed out that this spirit of obedience must be found in those who would follow in His footsteps.

Research Council Gets Results From Mixing Science, Industry

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
The 31-year-old research council of Alberta mixes science with industry and produces results.

Nurse to alling industries, guide to investors, the research council stands back of Alberta's industrial boom.

The man behind the council is its director, Dr. N. H. Grace. He employs from 30 to 45 workers—depending on the availability of help and the problems on handand they together have advice, or find it, on almost anything.

First steps toward formation of the council came in 1929 when industrialists so u g h t information about Alberta's iron ore deposits. A full-time scientific and industrial research council was set up in 1921.

Since then, the council has continually widened its scope. Now questions on coal, oil and agricultural industries form the bulk of its problems.

LAST 3,000 YEARS its problems. LAST 3,000 YEARS

LAST 3,000 YEARS

The council estimates Alberta's coal reserves, at the present mining rate, are sufficient to last 3,000 years. Alberta coal comes in great variety, and the council's biggest problem in that industry is advising mining interests how best to use each type.

Chief among current oil questions is how to develop the northern McMurray oil sands. The oil is there, but how does one extract it economically? Council hasn't answered that yet, though it has spent

Aussie Economist Recommends Higher Gold Price

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—
Australian economist Sir Douglas Copland said Wednesday a higher world price for gold and Common wealth financial policy based on that of Canada would help solve the sterling area's dollar problem.

Copland, due in Canada next year as Australian high commissioner, said a higher price for gold—now pegged at $35 an ounce—would increase the sterling area's dollar income and provide the biggest single contribution to solving the dollar-sterling problem.

He said Canada's "special position" in the financial world was due to her own adjustment to convertible currency and her ability to abandon exchange and trade restrictions.

These in turn were possible be—cause of the heavy inflow of United States capital, ambitious development planting development planting development planting as sound fiscal policy. These were the main ingredients for a common solution for the whole! Common solution for the whole! Common wealth, lead a supplied by the wealth countries.

3 Members Of Guards Two Teen Agers Hear Desert To Reds

BERLIN (Reuters) — The East German News Agency ADN reported Wednesday that three British soldiers of the crack Welsh Guards have asked for political asylum in Communist East Germany.

ADN gave their names as Ptes. John Smith, Francis Rumph and David James.

In a letter to the East German Government, dated October 15, the soldiers said they were "British patriots," but wished to live and work in East Germany, the agency said.

The letter added;

"Our reason for this is that Britain has become the aircraft carrier of American capitalists and the inciter of a new world war. But we...only want peace."

Sees New Era Of Canadian-American Relation

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA (CP) — From something much like the second shoe finally falling to the floor overhead, Ottawa has the final sign that a new era of CanadianAmerican relations is at hand.

The sign came with Wednesday's resignation of Stanley Woodward, the 53-year-old diplomat who is quitting Jan. 15 both as ambassador to Canada and as a member of the staff of the state department after a 25-year career.

The fact he will go back to his 200-acre farm at Charlottesville, Va., only a few days before Gen. Eisenhower becomes president removes any doubt that his resignation was provoked by the overthrow of the Truman administration. His only comment, however, was that "I think the time has come for a change"—a facetious use of the Republicans' campaign slogan.

Mr. Woodward has probably en-slogan.

Mr. Woodward has probably enjoyed a warmer personal friendship with his President than any U. S. ambassador in Ottawa's diplomatic history, it was sometimes said here that he gaye Canada a unique private pipeline into the White House.

HALO CREAM POO WITH LANGLIN

DEAR MISS DIX: Three months ago while I was visiting my sisterin-law, another guest took $10 from my purse. I asked for it and was told she hadn't taken it. My sister-in-law also said she was sure the girl hadn't taken my money. I even looked in the girl's purse and saw my ten dollar bill. The girl offered me two fives, still insisting she hadn't taken my money, but I refused it, saying wanted my own bill. When I returned home I wrote to both the girl and my sister-in-law, and received no further satisfaction. Both insisted the girl was innocent.

There is nothing you can do now about getting your money returned (if there ever was any way it could have been done), so let that matter finally drop; it's been pushed around long enough. Have your husband go visit his sister. After all, she is as convinced of her guest's innocence as you are of the girl's guilt. Since you seem to have a high regard for your sister-in-law, aside from this unpleasantness, try to resume a freindly relationship through your husband.

BELGRADE (Reuters) — Deputy Premier Blagoye Neshkovich of Yugoslavia has been removed from office for pro-Russian tendencies, it was announced today.

Neskkovich, a former member of the Yugoslav politboro, "is under party investigation because of his attitude towards the Cominform and because he concealed the truth of his earlier activity," the official news agency Tanjug said.

He was relieved of his duties by a decree issued by the praesidium of the national assembly.

POWER PATTERN—The extent of Canada's oil industry is shown in various ways. For instance, to build one (Imperial Leduc) of the many oil tankers which carry Western Canada oil to market required thousands of cubic feet of oxygen to power steel-plate-cutting acetylene torches. This camera pattern takes in a portion of the oxygen cylinders.

CHICAGO (AP)—The accidental death toll in the United States during the Thanksgiving holiday was the lowest since 1946.

A survey showed 85 persons were killed in traffic accidents and 22 lost their lives from miscellaneous causes during a 30-hour period. The 107 total compared with 135 last year and the 1950 record Thanksgiving holiday toll of 201.

Cold weather and snow-packed and icy highways kept thousands of motorists off the highways and the cut in travel was partially credited with reducing the traffic toll.

BOURGEOIS SNOB

Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme — a gentleman not quite (Monsieur Jourdain was 'in trade') — is Englished in the title as The Prodivious Snob. Arthur Low, in the part, was not prodigious, but sufficiently gauche in his snobbery to entertain everybody, and had a nice comic drop of phrase. Jourdain, rich and striving stupidly for social eclat (the play is a satire on social climbing and bourgeois life, a comedy rather than for social eclat (the play is a satire on social climbing and bourgeois life, a comedy rather than a farce) is the butt of the comedy which the audience thoroughly enjoys, because in the end he is happy middle-class and not declasse in the eyes of either his inferiors or his aristocrats (by the way, the accent falls on the first syllable, you players).

Beverley Johnston is Jourdain's equally bourgeois wife, but down to earth, not to be hoodwinked by the most high and mighty, even by the Marchioness Dorimene (Mildred Hayward) and Count Dorante (Brian Bell), a charming-looking pair. Faye Schwartz is the Jourdain daughter Lucille, pert, pretty and in love without losing her sense. Cleonte, her beloved, is played by Bryce Larke with good force and sense. Eric Jackson shone as Cleonte's servant, and showed good comic sense and stage talent. Sandra Duke was Madame Jourdain's maid and gave a waret terformance.

STYLISH DETAIL

Hutchinson, Bertram, Wagar, Sisson, Ball, Heffernan, Krough.

STYLISH DETAIL

The small parts were carefully staged, and each was stylish, done with poise, precision and attention to effect which greatly helped to make the production the success it was. Able direction was evident in these parts—for instance, the turns of the flunkeys, the dervishes, the dancing girls and the gymnasts.

Among the good moment in the play were the supper party, with incidental music, and the descent of the Turkish retinue into the Jourdain home ("These Turks"!) Really first rate theatre, including their vocal approach from the wings.

STYLISH PERFORMANCE

All told, it was a stylish and beautifully stylized performance, and most of the principals spoke clearly. Excellent pace, except in the third act, where (perhaps not the third act, where (perhaps not a fault in pace) there was some flatness. The end—or curtain—of Moliere and other comedy-ofmanners writers of the 17th and 18th centuries, whatever the language, tends to be merely a cessation. The production did not overcome this difficulty. We moderns like a better-plotted denouement and not just a turn of phrase.

Major Shopping Centre

Peterborough has become one of the argest shopping centres in Ontario outside metropolitan areas. No other place of its size and population in the southern part of the Province draws as many toppers from as wide an area. Comparative retail sales figures would prove the statement. What has caused Peterporough's new importance as a shopping sentre?

A chief element has of course been the growth of the city proper and with It the payrolls. Its population increased more than fifty percent. in the ten years between the two censuses (1941 and demand for goods and services which tores provide.

Merchants themselves have kept pace with the demand: increasing the number of shops and the space provided; enlarging and varying their stocks; adding specialty items formerly not to be severe burden on the shoulders of its obtained except in large stores in big bishop, and it has been suggested that cities like Toronto; and modernizing the lives of some former bishops were their services—presenting a good shop-ping front to attract customers and display their wares.

And many more people than formerly are coming to Peterborough almost weekly, as a regular trip from points as distant as Lindsay, Port be appointed, to cope with the large Hope, Campbellford and Madoc. They may come for special goods and services the city provides—unusually fine and expert medical and hospital care, to buy ment of one such suffragan bishop in and sell produce, to replace implements, to buy special equipment not available in other centres for a hundred miles, to seek professional advice, to use the crafts and techniques which skilled Pet- it a logical place for a clergyman with erborough workmen offer, and for sports, theatres, concerts and lectures. Defence Money Serving-Forked

There was an optimistic note about the international situation in the Speech from the Throne. There are signs, says official Ottawa, that the dangers of world war have lessened. This was qualified, as befits a NATO country re-arming at a rate of two billion dollars a year: "My ministers are convinced that a lasting peace can be assured only so long as the combined strength of the free world continues to be built up and maintained."

Critics of Mr. Claxton and of the Defence Production Department (in which Mr. Howe is king-pin) wonder if that combined strength is being built up in Canada by orders for serving forks and thousands of coats for only hundreds of CWAC in the service. The real ground for criticism of this seemingly lavish spending may be, however, the very ground on which the Opposition have some shame. critics have been standing.

Buying guns, planes, ships and other articles of offence is a slow business; until re-cently the factories have been unable to keep up with Government orders. Why Not A Suffragan In Peterborough?

The Anglican community in Peterborough will, we are sure, be delighted with 1951). The suburban population has the election of Canon Wilkinson of St. likewise grown—so much so that Ottawa Paul's Church, Toronto, as coadjutor to statisticians compiling census figures Bishop Beverley. This as an exceptionally able clergyman and Increased population has enlarged the a fine administrator and it is good to know that his gifts will be at the service of the largest diocese (in point of numbers rather than of actual land area) in Canada.

The size of the Toronto diocese is a matter upon which we have commented in these columns before; it puts a shortened by that fact. It is not practical to create a new diocese, breaking a portion of it away, for such a procedure is very costly. There is a solution Customers have been attracted from however, which might be given serious consideration by the proper authorities. The growing population and importance of this city, and its position in a part of the diocese at a considerable distance from Toronto, all make episcopal authority in the Church of England. SIR: Some history books give dates like this: October 1702 (Old Style). Is there a new style? What is the difference?

ANSWER: The difference is ten or eleven days, depending on when countries changed from the Old Style (Julian Calendar) to New Style (Gregorian Calendar). Exactly two hundred years ago, in 1752, the people of England lost eleven whole days—forever.

The method of reckoning the calendar year in early Greek and Greco-Roman times was very inaccurate. Julius Caesar sought advice of a Greek astronomer, Sosigenes, and established the Julian calendar, which the western world used until 1582.

But the Julian calendar itself was inaccurate, according to the sun. It over-estimated the length of the year by eleven min-utes. As a consequence, by 1582, the calendar was ten days out of line with the seasons, and getting further out every year. Pope Gregory XIII took a reformed calendar devised by a Verona physician, assembled a number of prelates and learned men, and issued in 1582 a brief abolishing the Julian Calendar in all Catholic countries, introducing in its stead the one now in use, called the Gregorian or reformed Calendar.

were to be dropped after October fourth, 1582, and the 15th was reckoned immediately after the fourth. Every 100th year, which area of the diocese—for neglect implies by the old style was a leap year, was now a lack of desire to perform a duty—he to be a common year, except that every cannot come here as often as could be fourth century divisible by four was to be leap year, but not 1700, 1800, or 1900; the year 2,000 was to be a leap year. In this calendar the length of the solar year is taken to be 365 days, 5 hours, 49 minutes and 12 seconds; which is so close to the real solar year that the difference is inconsequential.

Eisenhower In Korea

By ALASTAIR BUCHAN

GENERAL EISENHOWER'S visit to Korea, GENERAL EISENHOWER'S visit to Korea, undertaken in fulfilment of his election pledge, has been hedged with so much secrecy that there are no clear indications of what the President-elect hopes to accomplish. The General himself may not know what specific line of approach he should adopt, beyond an enquiry into the military facts of the Korean campaign and a first-hand analysis of the general situation, for whatever conclusions he reaches about the Korean situation there is very little he can himself do at this moment to improve it. ment to improve it.

In the first place, General Eisenhower has no official position in the United States Ad-ministration until he is sworn in as President ministration until he is sworn in as President on January 20 next year, and he has quite properly stated that he cannot assume responsibility for any of the Administration's acts until then. It is only his future status, not his present one, which clothes him with any authority.

In the second place, the focal point of the Korean armistice talks is, at this moment, not in the tented camp at Panmunjon, but in the glass menagerie of the United Nations headquarters in New York. The truce talks between representatives of the commanders

THE REASON for the Imperial State Crown is this, as told by Harold Nicolson in his biography of King George V. King George V contemplated going to India to be crowned Emperor after the Coronation in London. A difficulty arose:

"It was discovered that no man was entitled in law to remove the crown from out of the kingdom; an entirely new crown was suggested."

of the Democratic Administration. During the course of his election campaign, the General said that he favoured the training of "Asians to fight Asians," and he was vigorously applauded or attacked as if this were a new

In fact, this has been the Pentagon's (U.S. Department of Defence) policy for over a year. From a low point of about forty thous-and men in mid-1950, the South Korean army has been built up to a reasonably welltrained force of about four hundred thousand men, while another two hundred thousand casualties have been replaced. There are a present ten South Korean divisions, nine of which are in the line, as against five American divisions in the line.

ten by General Van Fleet, the Commander of the Eighth Army, in which he said that he the Lighth Army, in which he said that he could have created another ten South Korean divisions if he had been supported from Washington. But, in fact, it seems clear that the increase in the number of South Koreans who could be trained and equipped at any one time has only recently been made possible with the improvement in the supply of equipment.

THE daily draft into the South Korean army has now been raised to eleven hundred nen, authority for the creation of two more men, authority for the creation of two more South Korean divisions has now been given, and authority for another two will probably be granted in the near future. Paradoxically, what held back the creation of more South Korean divisions earlier in the year was the need to equip the NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization) forces in Europe, at that time under the command of General Eisenhower. The build-up of the South Korean army cannot be accelerated much more owing to the length of time needed to train its officers.

There is, however, one fundamental decision which officials feel that General Eisenhower may be in a better position to take as a result of his visit. Assuming that the current needfattons at the United Nations as a result of his visit. Assuming that the current negotiations at the United Nations do not produce an armistice, should the South Korean forces be used to replace American troops, as the General implied in his election campaign promise, or should they be used to supplement the other United Nations forces in Korea in an effort to force a military. in Korea in an effort to force a military

THE GENERAL will be under heavy pressures, and not only from his sense of responsibility to the American people whose decisive vote for him undoubtedly reflected their belief that he could "do something about Korea." He will also find along his route the representatives of Mr. Syngman Rhee (South Korean President), demanding that the United Nations accept nothing less than a unified Korea, and of General Chiang Kai-Shek, the Chinese Nationalist leader. And the growing sense of belligerent frustration which, from all accounts, he will find among the soldiers in Korea, will find echoes in his own Congress when he gets home.

But many officials and observers here be-lieve that if the President-elect can resist the pressures upon him, his visit to Korea will, like that of Lord Alexander (British Minister of Defence) and Mr. Selwyn Lloyd (British Minister of State dealing with Foreign Af-fairs) earlier in the year, help to revitalize Some publicity was given near the end of the whole Western approach to the Korean the election campaign to a private letter writ-

Letters To The Editor

PROTESTS AGAINST BABY SHOW

Sir,—After having read the letters written by L.I.N. and L.E.W., I was happy that I had withdrawn my bables from the "Baby Show" when I did.

when I did.

I, too, felt very much like a thief trying to sell my friends a 40-cent change on a $50.00 bond, in order that my children might win the contest. To me the whole show seemed mainly a money-making scheme for which I did not wish to exploit my children. The only worth-while prize was to go, not to the most beautiful child, but to a ticket-holder, possibly someone not even connected with the contest.

I made one visit to the downtown office that was enough. What an unsanitary place! I spent about half an hour there, and when I came out my two-year-old twin girls, in pink coats and white gloves, were positively black. I did complain to the receptionist, suggesting that it would be a good idea to clean the place up a little. How can we have healthy babies, I ask, taking them into such a place?

Shortly after the show began, we read in

The Examiner about an identical show which had been run in Ottawa. Here the proceeds were seized by police. My husband phoned the police and requested that an investigation be made. We had no reply to this request. The next day I placed rules, regulations and tickets in an envelope and returned them to the baby show authorities, along with an explanation why.

The questions in my mind are: What percentage of the proceeds reached the Order of the Moose Lodge? And also, what are the proceeds to be used for? Incidentally, L.I.N., you idea of using it for equipment for the po centre is splendid.

It's a shame that the contest was so disappointing. Perhaps Peterborough will have a worth-while baby show some time. I think it would be fun.

AMBULANCE DRIVER REPLIES

Sir: From my experience as an ambulance he call, which may be any interval of time after the accident has occurred, giving in-formation as to where the scene of the accident is, before leaving. Regardless of where the call may come from, namely a citizen or the Police Department, a certain amount of time is consumed in the trens-mission of the message. Another interval of time is lost in proceeding to the scene of the accident through traffic hazards and the inevitable crowd at the scene. Why didn't Mr. Reynolds personally see that an ambulance was called instead of

The Provincial Policeman mentioned in the letter also deserves credit for his part at the scene of the accident. He is fully trained in First Aid.

Yanks Fight For Bonus Rule Almost Perfect Score

Rolled By Geo. Niles

Rolling in the CGE Shop Bowling League at Duffus' last night, George Niles came close to every bowler's hope of a perfect game. After smashing the pins for 11 straight strikes, he picked the three and five on his 12th ball. When he got up to bowl his last ball, everyone in the alleys stopped bowling to watch—and. it was so quiet you could hear a pin drop. This seemed to unnerve Niles who just missed out on a perfect score. His score for the game was 443.

No Porest Fire in your Home

When you bring Christmas trees into your home to gladden hearts at the holiday season—take all normal precautions. As a tree dries out it becomes highly inflammable and constitutes a very real fire hazard. So never use candles for decorations. Keep lamps or open flames well away from your tree; don't even strike a match too close to it. If the tree is set in a bucket of water, and kept watered, it will hold its needles longer, remain green longer, and be slightly less of a fire hazard. And above all-warn the children.

Shrouded from the watchful eyes of the white man by almost impenetrable wasteland, the Indian hunts as he pleases, in a sort of fienzied sport.

G. W. Malaher, director of the provincial game and fisheries band as the most primitive people in Canada. "There is no question of waste," he said in an interview. "But you can't prevent it because the people are ignorant. They have no conception of our way of life. Their life is one of fear of starvation."

Mr. Malaher said the Indians take food whenever they see it. Each fall, using spears since rifles and ammunition are scarce and expensive, the Indian waits for the caribou herd as it follows traditional migration routes.

Court Tries To Blaze Trail | They'll Do It Every Time Through Cedar Boughs

"Graves of the dead are being decorated with stolen cedar boughs and it's happening all over." declared Mrs. Joseph Hamilton, Dummer township, testifying in police court Thursday.

"It's a racket," insisted Mrs. Hamilton who took issue with W. J. Arthur Fair who referred to the cutting and selling of cedar sprays used for funeral wreaths as a "business" during the preliminary hearing on a theft charge.

Mr. Fair was defending Kenneth McClure, R.R. 2, Lakefield, on a charge of stealing a quantity of cedar trees from the Hamilton farm on September 25 worth at least $25.

Every time a question about the cedar boughs was directed at Mrs. Hamilton she hedged. Instead of answering the questions of crown attorney John A. Alberta Pays Capital Expenditures Out Of Revenue Received From Oil

By FORBES RHUDE

Canadian Press Business Editor.
Alberta expects to be debt free within 20 years.

It would be convenient if one could sum up in such a sentence what oil means to the province and what it may mean to other western provinces.

what it may mean to other western prayinces.

It would be convenient, too, if there were some such sentence to express what it means to all Canada—in making Canada independent in oil, attracting foreign investment, strengthening the foreign exchange position, boosting the value of ber dollar, sending orders for equipment across the country and creating employment.

HARD TO ESTIMATE er, no such easy There are, h tabs, Oil is an amount unexpected natural resource, thrown into a vast bin of other natural resources—both a creator and a sharer of the prosperity of recent years. In the case of Alberta's dedining debt, for instance, the present total—less than $100,000,000 — is small potatoes in toting up the valu of its oil.

And Premier Manning and Al

of its oil.

And Premier Manning says Alberta's finances, in difficulties during the depression, were under control long before the oil era started in 1947. He told me:

"We would be the last to minimize the effects of oil, but we put Alberta on a pay-as-you-go basis in 1936 and since then have paid all capital expenditures from current revenue.

"We reduced the public debt by $22,000,000 from 1936 to 1947. It might be said that oil revenues enabled us to accelerate a program slicedy under way."

FURTHER REDUCTION
Since 1947 the public debt has been further reduced by about $50,-

Government revenues from oll royalties and sales of oil-develop-ment rights, because they come from depletion of an asset, are from depletion of an asset, are used to create other public assets—roads, irrigation, retirement of debt, etc. They do not, for instance, ge into social services, Mr. Manning adds, however:

"The fact that capital expenditures are being paid for out of oil releases other revenue for social services."

Municipalities also get a helping hand from the increased general revenues.

Alberta's estimated net revenue in 1952-53 will be $116,856,270, compared with $25,893,463 10 years ago. Of this, oil will provide $34,865,000 compared with $843,445. EXPENDITURES UP

EXPENDITURES UP
On the expenditure side, total municipal assistance including general and school grants will be $29,887,000, compared with $3,107,283, welfare expenditures, excluding municipal assistance, will be $15,567,650, compared with $3,601,973.

Highway maintenance and construction will be $28,288,325, compared with $2,279,733.

It is estimated, too, that each Albertan saves $25 a year in oil and fuel costs, due to lower prices than would otherwise obtain.

The government owns rights to minerals, including oil, on more than 90 per cent of the province's land. Some companies—such as the Canadian Pacific Railway, Hudson's Bay Company and Western Minerals—own minerals rights in substantial tracts, and here and there an individual farmer or landowner holds them.

In the early days the federal government sold both surface and mineral rights, except gold and silver, to settlers. However, under orders in 1887 and 1889, it retained all mineral rights and, in the late '20s, turned them over to the provinces. The 1887 order applied from mid-Saskatchewan west, and that of 1889 from mid-Saskatchewan east, including Manitoba.

An occasional farmer, especially in the Leduc area, has made a sizable fortune because he held an old title with mineral rights, but most farmers get a more modest return—a sort of additional cash erop.

In Leduc, a government board held hearings and made awards under which, in the first year, the farmer might get up to $1,500 for each well site—or up to $6,000 for four.

After the first year, at Leduc, he

Councillors Cautious Approaching Project Need City Population Subject Discussed Many Years; No Action Yet

A committee of the Peterborough County Council has been instructed to sound out the views of the City of Peterborough on forming a county health unit. The committee—consisting of Warden Dick Stewart of Otonabee township, Reeve Elwood Northey of Lakefield village, and Reeve Willard Waterman of North Monaghan township — will make this further investigation into the advisability of setting up Mrs. M. Holf a county health unit. Discussion began after an address by Dr. R. G. Struthers of the public health administration, Ontario Department of Health. Though interested and generally favorable, the county councillors were cautious about committing themselves to the proposed set-up.

They were told by Dr. Struthers that the county with its population of 21,400 was too small to bear the costs of the organization alone. It was necessary for the city to join before a county health unit could be a practicable proposition.

Le Devoir of Montreal, in a newspage story Nov. 22, said it had been a dv is ed by Consolidated Paper Corporation, Ltd., of the added $10 in price.

Consolidated, Price Brothers and Co. Ltd., and Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills, Ltd., all Quebec province producers, said Thursday they had "no comment."

Under a $10 increase the Canadian base-area price will be $122 a ton. Canadian publishers also pay a federal 10-per-cent sales tax on all but the transportation part of the price.

Accordingly, their newsprint cost with the increase, will be about $133 a ton in the base area, with higher prices in other parts of Canadia.

The United States price remains of Quebec and Ontario and west to Winnipeg.

However, Quebec province customgrs get a price of $3 below the base price, so that their price under a $10 increase would be $119 a ton, plus sales tax.

Customers in Quebec and Ontario towns where there are mills are charged $5 below the base.

Accordingly their price, with the increase, would be $117 a ton, plus tax.

Increase, would be $117 a ton, plus leaving the scene of an accident and two minor traffic charges.

These reductions are on the basis of freight differences.

Railway And Air Fares May Soon Be Similar

VANCOUVER (CP)—The man on the street may take to the air in greater numbers than at present. The reason? Air (ares in Ganada may soon be down with rait fares.

That is the prediction by Hugh Main, general traffic manager of Canadian Pacific Air Lines

Mr. Main has just returned from a meeting of the international Air Transportation Association in France, IATA sets international passenger and cargo air rates.

Mr. Main said that, just as an example, if rates were reduced 25 per cent on a Canadian trans-continental haul, the number of passengers could probably be increased 40 per cent.

That is why airlines today are buting bigger and faster planes which can haul a bigger payload and get it there faster.

CPA, for instance, next spring will be using new DC-6Bs on tist orient run and the Comet jet to Australia. With the DC-6B it will said Wednesday that a federal cobe able to fly from Hong Kong to Rio de Janeiro in five jumps, Tokyo, Vancouver, San Francisco, cial Credit "is conceivable" after the next general election.

Mr. Balcer, national leader of the Young Progressive Conserva-tives, was addressing their North Waterloo section. In reply to a question he said that if the Social Credit party sweeps the West in the next federal election, a coalition government made up of Progress-ive Conservatives from east of Ontario and Social Credit members from west of Ontario is conceiv-able.

He said he doubted the Conservative party will ever adopt Social Credit policies.

He said the federal government is afraid to call an election because Liberals lost the last six by-elections. Young Liberals, he said, are pressing the Prime Minister to call an election before the coronation "because they feel they coronation "because they feel they are slipping."

Hary 9. Silver X-RAY FITTING Peterborough, Ont.

Speaking on birthdays at the celebration of Peterborough Soroptimist Club's seventh birthday, Mrs. Arnold Mathews stressed the point of looking into the future happily, and offered as a help the quotation often referred to by her mother. "It's always better farther on." To emphasize she pointed to Winston Churchill whose 78th.

These references to older people were most apt for the Soroptimists whose project is old women. At this birthday dinner Thursday evening, president Miss Gene Clark announced with pride that the Golden Mile Club they organized in February, 1947, with just 5 members, now has an active membership of 37 ladies who meet twice a month for sociability and recreation they all enjoy. The Soroptimist Club received its charter November 19, 1945.

Mrs. Mathews congratulated the club on the project as being "very fine." She said, "You are meeting a vital need in other people's lives and looking forward to the needs of your time."

As women are so often reported to be hiding their true age, it may be of some help to them to know that there is a place in the Congo of Africa where it is "wicked to count," and therefore the people would never count birthdays. Several other places in the world have similar laws, Mrs. Mathews learned in her research on this subject.

She said she is perturbed by the Picture of Baby She Saved Appropriate Donor Gift

DEAR MISS DIX: Would it be sproper for me to give a picture of my baby to a lady I don't know very well? You see, last January my baby was in the hospital and needed blood transfusions. Her father and I had the wrong type blood, so this lady volunteered her blood My husband went to school with her boys and worked for her husband, but I don't know her too well. She wouldn't accept anything for the blood at that time. I feel I owe her a great deal. Could we give her a Christmas present? If so, what?

ANSWER: Wearing a wedding ring is a matter of personal choice. We would appreciate it. Do give to the woman who saved her life is a you way or may not leave it off, as you way or may not leave it off, as you wish. However, I hope the would appreciate it. Do give to five as a gift from the baby. There is no possible monetary enum for a gift of blood, and the gray way to show your appreciation is through any kindness you are reder, and prayerful thanks to your benefactor. As a Christonas gift, I would suggest somehing vey personal, rather than xpensive. A handmade gift, for pastance, would be fine. Even stance, would be fine. ANSWER: My general theme for homecoming is scorned by most young readers as being too strict. However, even I have moments of leniency. Proms are so important a part of school life that I would let the kids enjoy themselves without a time restriction. Local custom usually takes care of activities after the prom, and I think it's a good idea for one of the girls to invite everyone in her group to late supper, or early breakfast, at her home. This insures the young people being under chaperonage after the whereabouts of their young.

DEAR MISS DIX: Two years ago my brother-in-law, who was in the army and stationed at camp near home, brought a wonderful boy home to meet me. White thing and the became a good friend of the family. He came to our house every weekend for nearly a year. I was a junior in high school and not ready to be serious about anyone. He was 22 and I was 16. He told me he loved me and I made a joke of the matter. Now I realize I love him. He never has written during the past year, and I'd-like to get in touch with him again.

LONESOME

$\int \text{ANSWER: Since the boy is still in service, I'm sure he'll welcome any mall. Why not write a friendly ly letter for "old time's sake." However, don't overlook the fact that he may have become attached to another gal in the meantime.

French Made Leek Soup Most Appetizing Dish Now

Correll's

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Leeks are on the market again. In Toronto, housewives familiar with this vegetable are paying about 10 cents for three, and there is an increasing demand there and elsewhere.

Uncooked, it is a "strong" vegetable. But on the dinner table it is regarded as one of the mildest of vegetables, and there's nothing more appetizing in chilly weather than leek soup made the French way.

A bowl of leek soup and crisp French bread is practically a meal in itself. Here's how to prepare the soup. Quantities may be in Clean three good-sized leeks, leaving as much of the green tops on as are tender. Slice and put into pot together with two medium-sized potatoes which have been peeled and cut into smallish pieces.

Put just enough water in the pot to cover potatoes and leeks when these vegetables are pressed down.

When cooked, put the whole through a vegetable-strainer and you should have a thick, pea-green soup. Heat and add salt and pepper. Add a dab of butter to each serving.

Sea Traffic Charge

GODERICH (CP)—A charge of operating a veseal recklessly on the waters of Goderich harbor was dismissed Thursday by Magistrate D. E. Holmes. The case resulted from a collision between a sea-flea and an anchored yacht last June 1. The charge, against George Griffiths of Goderich, was laid under the Harbors of Canada Shipping Act by RCMP Constable C.W. Ross of Sarnia.

Jailed Seven Years On Robbery Charge

For Heir

Of $50,000

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A five-year search for the missing heir to a $50,000 legacy was officially written off in Middlesex county courthouse.

The money is a $45,000 legacy paid into court to the credit of William O'Reilly, grandson of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Lloyd, of London, plus interest of about $5,000 hat accumulated while lawyers and investigators searched the continent for its rightful owner.

Mrs. Lloyd died here in 1890, leaving a small fortune in property holdings and other assets totalling about $40,000.

The estate passed to nine grandchildren in 1947 on the death of her last surviving child. Eight grandchildren scattered a c r o s North America collected their inheritances of about $45,000 apiece.

But the ninth, William O'Reilly, has never been found.

Mr. Justice H. A. Aylen Thursday ordered the money paid back to administrators of the estate, on application of E. S. Livermore, who said the legacy will now be shared by the eight other grandchildren.

NEW YORK (AP) — A workman knocked out by gas fumes was rescued yesterday from a windswept chimney scaffold 262 feet in the air — the equivalent of 25 storeys — in a tense, 30-minute drama.

Hero of the rescue was 34-year-old Patrick McPartlan, a rigger. With one hand, McPartlan guided the inert body of Edward Glennon albe to make arrangements ac-

With one hand, McPartian guided the inert body of Edward Glennon would hold themselves available should the inert body of Edward Glennon—bound to pulley rope—so Glennon wouldn't be smashed against the brick stack by the 30- to 40-mile an-hour wind. With his other hand, McPartlan clung to a narrow iron ladder as he descended the chimney. Spectators could only watch helplessly.

Glennon, 26, a brick masonry foreman, and William Eckel, 26, his helper, had been working atop the coke oven stack of the Consolidate Edison Company in the Bronx.

ONE UNCONSCIOUS

A sudden blast of waste gas belched out of the towering chimney, Glennon keeled over unconscious. Eckel was partly overcome, but he managed to grab Glennon and lash him to a rocking four by 10-foot scaffold.

Eckel wobbily took the only path down—the iron ladder which under normal effeumstances takes about 20 minutes to descend. His cries for help went unheard, whipped away by the wind, Before collapsing on the ground, Eckel explained Glennon's plight.

It was then that McPartian queens resident and father of a 10-year-old girl, went into action. "I got up there and he (Glennon) was motionless and I thought he was dead," McPartlan said. "Then I poked him and he started to moan. I untied the belt, fastened him to the rope and started to lower Glennon from the stack.

Constitution Problems To Be Aired At Talks

LONDON (CP)—Subjects relating to the constitutional evolution of the British family of nations are expected to be aired by Commonwealth spokesmen as a preluid to their economic deliberations in London later this month.

Although summoned primarily to wrestle with the Commonwealth's major problems of trade and finance, the delegates, it is understood, will be afforded an early opprunity for informal discussion of other urgent issues. Among these is the question of hiller recognition to the place of the Commonwealth as a whole in the Coronation corrections whose privileges were not derived from any personal contributions made to the life of the matter of the commonwealth as a whole in the Coronation corrections are corrected to the life of the commonwealth as a whole in the Coronation correction and playing the chief roles in it, he said, were "a group of historical relics," whose privileges were not derived from any personal contributions made to the life of the commonwealth to something done by

They admit the proposal will involve certain departures from established tradition, but suggest the time has come when the Coronation service should be revised to express more faithfully new realities of the political situation.

The "Round Table," a periodical The "Round Table," a periodical devoted to Commonwealth affairs, took the lead in urging a change in the ceremonial ritual that would bring representatives of every Commonwealth country to the Queen's side when the crown—the unifying symbol—is solemnly worn by her for the first time. More Actual Voters?

There are 20,958 names on the voters list for Peterborough municipal elections on Monday, the largest number in its 102 years of incorporation. There were 20,344 names on the list last year. This will be a good year to assess whether or not citizens are increasingly accepting their democratic responsibility and going to the polls, because like last year, there is no mayoral contest. No candidate was nominated to oppose Mayor Waddell; this is a traditional Peterborough way of voting confidence and giving the Mayor a second term. Last year Mayor Waddell was elected by acclamation. In a year when there is a Mayoral contest the voting is always heavier; for instance, in 1950 fifty percent. of the qualified voters cast their ballots. In 1949 (no mayoral contest) only 36 percent. voted. Last year 38.9 percent. cast their ballots. If the percentage is higher this year it will indicate a more active electorate, or some subterranean issue to excite votes-an issue which has not appeared in the week since nominations.

The unusually large field of aldermanic candidates may stir up some otherwise indifferent voters. There are twelve candidates, five to be elected. Ballots must be marked for at least four. Candidates for the Board of Education are no more numerous than usual; six have qualified, and four are to be elected. An unusual aspect of this year's elections is that for the first time since 1907 there is a contest for seats on the Separate School Board; eight men have qualified, six are to be elected. This election slate has taken Separate School Board officials by surprise; no machinery for polling the vote had been considered or devised for 45 years. However, an impromptu arrangement has been made with the City Hall, and the Separate School Board votes will be taken at the regular polling booths. Legal niceties have not been allowed to interfere with practical necessity.

For the second time in eleven years there is a contest for the one seat on the Utilities Commission. Last year four candidates were warmly seeking it; this year only one is contesting the candidature of the retiring member.

Also for the second year in succession property-owning voters are not being asked to approve or reject a big money by-law. There are no by-laws at all by-law. There is no crucial issue before the voters except a continuance of good, solid and economic civic government. The lack of any major issue is a sign that the times are good generally and that all is reasonably well upstairs in the City Hall.

The Cases Of The Missing Bags

Five years ago this month Queen Elizabeth was married. The Canadian Prime Minister of course attended the wedding; by that time Mr. Mackenzie King was almost an uncle to the Royal Princesses, and a familiar of the Royal Household, Mr. King's Prime Ministerial Progress to England, and thence to Belgium and Holland was a triumphal procession. He was an elder statesman of Empire, the senior Prime Minister (in tenure of office) of them all, the legislative head of Canadians whose feats on battlefield had released the Low Countries from the heels of the oppressor. Mr. King was covered with honours by his King and with acclaim by the peoples of the countries he visited. Yet two events showed that the great man still walked the common earth. His Brussels, Mr. King's own trunks disappeared-or rather, they had been left behind in Paris. According to Bruce Hutchison, Mr. King said that he supposed he would have to greet the Belgian government looking like a scarecrow.

"He added pathetically that he had no other clothes, was dressed in his oldest suit, and wore a perfectly disreputable shirt. It was no matter, he repeated glumly at intervals, and let nobody worry about him. By the time the train reached Brussels he and his entourage felt practically naked King went stoically to bed, muttering that he would disgrace Canada by appearing at an official luncheon, and then accepting an honorary degree, in his present costume".

Disgrace was averted by his valet Nicol and one of his secretaries, who went out to an establishment in Brussels before Mr. King rose and rented, at weekly rates, a tail coat, striped trousers and accessories. They were greatly worried lest Mr. King refuse to wear clothes worn by other and nameless men. But of us sleep sitting up in chairs, with a handhe put them on, said the fit was perfect (except the collar, which Nicol slit with a razor blade), and went off happily to the ceremonies.

If Mrs. Gooch did not recover her trunk he was convinced that she would never again return to Laurier House and cook his meals. The situation was critical".

We cannot believe that the situation was as tense as Mr. Hutchison makes out; we believe that Mr. King—aloof from people as he so often appeared to be—was sufficiently human and kindly to do what any other employer would have done; to try to help Mrs. Gooch in her predicament. The difference between Mr. King's help and that of a lesser person, was that the Prime Minister had more agencies at his beck and call to give help. The trunk was not found before he had to take train for Tover and the Low Courties. He stide the sathering at which several ladies appeared in overshoes of a type new to me. They were not the honest old goloshes which they seve help test a mysterious air and which, when removed, looked like the ghosts of overshoes. Several ladies, I also observed, wore what appeared to be bedsocks under their goloshes, but upon closer examination I found that these were little bags which they wore to protect their shoes from being scratched by the (presumable) harshly abrasive linings of their overshoes. There is no enchantment in the spectacle of a woman unwrapping her feet; in my younger days girls wore heavy knitted bloomers over their fine silk step-ins when attending winter parties, but they always took them off in a room provided for that purpose. A room for foot-unveiling would save much coy belancing in hallways.

TUESDAY: "You should never lie down in your clothes, Mr. Marchbanks; after all, you can see what it does to your pyjamas", said a tailor to me today, when I complained that my clothes never looked as well on me as I thought they should. I had unwisely confided to him that I always snatch a nap after lunch. Now I have no intention of stripping for this little daily indulgence. For years it has been my custom to fling myself down as I am, and let the wrinkles come where they may. Sometimes I take off my jacket, but more often I pull it up over my head, for warmth. The after-lunch med itation has been a Marchbanks custom for several generations, and I believe it con-tributes to the longevity of the tribe. FLOOD IN EAST CITY

Sir: I was disappointed that in the report of the meeting in the City Hall on Tuesday evening, one very important matter was not mentioned, although His Worship, Mayor Waddell, stated he would ask the City Engineer to investigate.

It is more than 45 years since the Trent Canal was built and a culvert was placed under the Canal for the purpose of draining the water from the watershed East of the Canal. The water for miles gushes through this culvert and forms a flood, rushing along over the East Ward. Every Spring the par-ents are fearful that their children will be drowned. After the warm weather returns in the Spring, the mosquitoes are a menace.

I suggested to His Worship that the City Council contact the Department of Waterways of the Federal Government and have to travel, I think I could have made it in a drain dug running parallel with the Canal so that the water could enter below the Lift Lock.

A bridge has been built on Caddy Street

A bridge has been built on Euclid Avenue. and one is soon to be built on Euclid Avenue.

This expense could have been eliminated.
What will our Council do about this? Will the same conditions exist 45 years hence? Will it remain as it is until several children are drowned?

This is my first letter on this deplorable state of affairs, and I trust that His Worship Mayor Waddell will not delay in trying to get answers.

Yours truly,

Sir: What is there, you ask, 'about philos-ophy and especially about study of aesthetics which preserves men beyond the ordinary span of life'? Let me think.

As you recently said, 'philosophers are just getting into stride at the age of forty-five; there you have your explanations,—for just as the teenage is a decisive or testing time, so is the forties or fifties; they can-not arrive sooner, since it is of the second life or the philosopic age — but not phil-osophism. True philosophers know God and have the vision that comes from Him or by Him; from Him too, the gift of the second me a foothold: seeing as I was not at the accident which occurred late Saturday night, for the mind with Him is sexless even though although I wasn't very far from it (at the sexed soul loses, forfeits, by lack of,-cog

(From the Authorized Version)

The fear of the Lord is clean, enduring for ever: the judgements of the Lord are true and righteous altogether. . . Who can understand his errors? cleanse thou me from secret. faults. Keep back they servant also from presumptuous sins; let them not have do-minion over me: then shall I be upright, and

I shall be innocent from the great transgression. (Ps. 19:9, 12, 13.)

For we know that the law is spiritual: but I am carnal, sold under sin. . . For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh), dwelleth no great thing for a will in present with me. good thing: for to will is present with me: but how to perform that which is good I find not. For the good that I would do not: but the evil which I would not, that I do. . . . For I delight in the law of God after the inward man: but I see another law in my members, man: but I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members.

O wretched man that I am! who shall deliver me from the body of this death? I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord, So then with the mind I myself serve the law of God; but with the flesh the law of sin. (Rom. 7:14, 18, 19, 22-25.) 18, 19, 22-25.)

Another Stevenson

(A.R.F. in London Free Press) The grandfather of Adlai Stevenson was nineties. His name incidentally was also Adlai. He was making a whistle stop tour in the Northwest in the campaign in 1892. He found that a great issue in that section was whether the towering mountain in the district should be named Tacoma or Rainier. He could not ignore the controversy and he resorted to strategy in which he was assisted by the engineer of his special train.

"This controversy must be settled and settled right by the government," he would say. "I pledge myself that if elected I will not rest until this glorious peak is properly named. And I agree with those who say there is only one name worthy of consideration, and that . . ."

Here he would pull a cord which the engineer had secretly installed. His voice was in-stantly drowned by a mighty blast of the locomotive's whistle. Then before there was a chance to say another word, the train would pull out of the station.

Stevenson never completed the sentence.

No one ever learned what he thought the mountain should be named.

The speed with which people of importance in one generation pass from human memory in the next is perhaps inevitable, but it is none the less unfortunate. A man may have been accorded the highest respect of his neighbours, may have becupied with acceptance the most prominent offices in the gift of his community, yet the inhabitants of half a century later will know little or nothing of his existence: and when all his contemporaries have died there may be no knowledge of even his last resting-place.

A case in point is the difficulty experienced in assembling the salient features of the life of Captain George Arundel Hill, for nearly thirty-five years a prominent resident of the township of Dummer, Peterborough County. Born in 1796, he was a son of Arundel Hill and Catharine Bold, his wife, who lived on an estate By F. C. GUILLET, M.A.

A large amount of land in Upper Canada, as Ontario was then called, had been placed under the control of the Canada Company, an English emigration corporation under the presidency of John Galt, novelist. In December 1833, Hill decided to purchase 100 acres of bush land, the west half of lot 24, Concession 1, adjoining his farm. It belonged to the Canada Company and was offered for £2 an acre. Plants To Grow For Window Decoration

There are numerous house plants, very attractive for window decorations, that will grow in water without being potted in soil. hether they are grown in transparent or opaque containers makes no difference. Theoretical-ly, an opaque container is to be-preferred because, in general, roots tend to shun light.

On the other hand, the roots themselves are often decorative and when plants are grown in a transparent vase, and the vase is kept in the window, it is interesting to see how the leaves and shoots turn toward the light, while the roots grow away from it. Some plants suitable for water

The Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II. in London is likely to be the subject of the first big international television broadcast in Western Europe, and France, Western Germany (including Berlin), and the Netherlands hope to make use of facilities being given by the British Broadcasting Corporation who have agreed to provide transmissions as far as the English Channel.

The British transmissions are on the 405-line, definition system, while Germany and the Netherlands and France 819 lines. How many miles did you drive last summer with your family looking for a place to picnic and enjoy yourselves by the water? And did you find the few available places overcrowded? I'll bet you did and so did all of us.

The only solution, then, is to make a park of your own. And that is what a City and County group have been trying to interest you in for the past three years,

But, if you will keep your ears tuned to WORKING plans throughout the coming winter, you will be well acquainted with what is to be done. There will be public meetings to attend, speakers with a message to hear and quite a bit of news in the press about it.

Don't leave the work to Bill, and Tom because you are to busy to participate. Get in there pitching yourself.

Mutiny On The Bounty

County Councillors had quite a lively debate this week whether to pay the usual fox bounty this season or not. If it had not been for Reeve Gordon Fitzgerald of Smith breaking the deadlock the Issue would have been tossed out. North Monaghan's Reeve Willard Waterman called the bounty payments a waste of money, that it attracted a lot of amateur hunters to his township and that the bounty was ore or less a subsidy to sportsmen.

The issue went through, however. A $3 bounty payment, effec tive.Dec. 1, but to be paid only on the first Thursday of each month in December, January and February. Skins must be clean and dry before presentation to County Clerk Jenny Spurway.

Maroons, Mercurys Tied 4-4 After Painful Session

Hundred Million Gate

BOSTON (AP)—Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey predicts an era of $100,000,000 boxing gates via television.

"There are all kinds of possibilities in television we haven't even imagined," said Dempsey, here on his wrestling referee tour.

"Why, one drive-in theatre took in $55,000 for the Marciano-Walcott TV broadcast. With overseas hookings and charges on individual sets, I can visualize a $100,000,000 gate."

But he said the television industry would have to become promoters and develop talent to assure boxing such a fabulous future.

multed goalie Senior to allow an extra attacker on the ice.

The first period was goalless as the two teams roughed it up, and shots on goal were infrequent. The parade to the penalty bench began when Maracle, of Vies, was sent off for high sticking early in the game. Within two and a half minutes, Ullman of Kingston, and Gibson of Lindsay were jugged for roughing, and Cochrane of the locals got the gate for boarding.

Ullman drew his second sentence midway through the period when he combed goalie Rex Truax as he cleared a lose puck. Tempers began to fray at this point, as the locals fought to protect their netminder. Senior in the Kingston nets, turned aside several dangerous thrusts by Graham, Packer, Cochrane and Ron Teel during the next few minutes. Graham of the locals drew the next sentence for high sticking and the period finally ended.

In the second, Cochrane, the Port Perry speedster, playing centre on the third line, took a breakaway loose puck, and raced down the boards to open the scering on a wide angle shot.

Reid finally put the visitors back into the game at 6.56 of the period, on a pass from Doug Senior, a long shot which he deflected under Truax's falling body.

Truax turned in his best work of the night during the next few minutes and stopped Kingston three tims on point-blank shots. The teams stuck more to hockey in the middle frame, with only

Canadians Forget Troubles For Grey Cup Tilt By JACK SULLIVAN TORONTO (CP)—This it—the day when millions of Canadians forget their troubles and concentrate on the country's greatest sports spectacle, the Grey Cup football game. The eight big-league football teams from Eastern

about $2,000,000 annually building up contenders for the $50 trophy donated in 1908 by the late Earl Grey, then Canada's governorgeneral.

This year it is Toronto Argonauts, the New York Yankees of Canadian football, who have never lost in nine times out in this last-saturday - in - November classic. Against them are the Eskimos, the comeback kids from Edmonton representing a city that has sent two teams east in search of the cup. They returned home with nothing but sad memories.

IN FIRST FINAL

nothing but sad memories.

IN FIRST FINAL

It was Edmonton Eskimos and Too noto Argonauts in the first eastwist Canadian final in 1921. Argoneuts won 23-0 before a crowd of on y 10,000. In 1922 it was Eskimos against Queen's University at Kingston before 15,000 persons and the score was: Edmonton 1 Queen's 13.

Since then the Eskimos have the in the role as spectators in the grine that, to Canadians, has grown into the biggest attraction on the sports calendar, but only after some anxious times.

For instance, some eastern experts said in 1939 that the game should be abandoned unless certain conditions, headed by the use of American imports, could be arranged. That was the year that 18,408 fans paid '818,045 in gate receipts to see Winnipeg Blue Bombers beat Ottawa Rough Riders 8-7. 27,500 ATTEND GAME

Today 27,500 persons are to crowd into Varsity Stadium, while another estimated 700,000 watch the game on television sets in the 90-mile range of CBLT. Toronto, and another 3,000,000 listen to the play-by-play broadcast. The re-ceipts will be about $115,000 with a reported $12,000 added for the television rights:

Edmonton fans-nearly 1,500 are here—will pay approximately $500,-000 in transportation, lodgings, meals and other "incidentals" to see their Eskimos play. And they that Argonauts' skein of nine cup triumphs will be broken.

Thirty years has been a long wait for an Eskimo team to show its stuff on cup day and the Green and Gold fans are sure that this is it. They've been getting the odds fluctuating from 9 to 5 to 7 to 5—by which the Big Four champion Argonauts are favored.

The field should be in good shape for the 1 p.m. EST kickoff. The Canadian Rugby Union's $12,000 tarpaulin has covered the Varsity Stadium turf since Thursday and it won't be picked up until shortly before Trade Minister Howe makes the honorary kick-off.

German people's attitude towards Canadian, British and American troops in Germany has changed very little since the war years, according to two Peterborough soldiers, Lance Cpl. Maurice May and Sapper William Anderson. These men, both members of the 58th Independent Field Squadron of the 27th Brigade, have just returned after one year in Europe.

L/Cpl. May said that whether the Germans were friendly or independed upon the season. If there were festivals, the people preferred to be alone, wishing that the soldiers would stay away. The smaller towns, said May, were more friendly than the larger cities. Hanover in particular was most unfriendly.

"You had to keep an eye on them or they would short-change you every time," he said. This was most noticeable especially in the American zone; the British zone "was not too bad."

Anderson, a veteran of the Second World War during which he spet about a month in Germany, said that the German people are about the same as in war years, particularly the older people. The younger people were still "a bit Hitler-ish—youth movements and processing the spending a 34-day leave in Peterborough with list wife, Doris, and children, Elva and Bobby.

R. M. Fowler, counsel for seven fine paper manufacturers named in a combines report, also said he does not believe the Canadian law made price-fixing illegal unless it injured the public.

Justice Minister Garson promptly replied that the Canadian public would be shocked if Mr. Fowler's views were the views of Canadian

The public was entitled to the benefits of free competition and he was of the opinion that the ccurts had held that any "substantial elimination of competition" was detrimental to the public.

This clash developed Friday in the latest exchange of correspondence between the two men following a combines report in which the seven fine paper manufacturers along with 37 fine paper distributors were charged with operating an illegal price-fixing combine.

16 Forced Flee Homes

In Brockville Fire

BROCKVILLE (CP)—Fire forced 16 persons, including six children, to fiee their homes Friday night. It started in the centre of a row of six dwellings, two of which were badly damaged by fire and the others by smoke and water Damage is unofficially expected to run to $25,000. Cause of the blaze is believed to have been defective stove pipes.

As befits a town which boasts Britain's highest peak, 4 406-foot Ben Nevis, Fort William is pondering a proposal to have the loyal message of greeting broadcast in Gaelic from the top of the mountain.

The hitch is that the councillors of this Scots burgh will have to huff and puff up a rough five-mile track, considered the most punishing walk in Scotland. Their average age is put conservatively at slightly over 50.

Appropriately, the idea came from a councillor named A Challenger, Fort William cafe proprietor. He's under 40.

Program Music Case Adjourned TORONTO (CP)—An adjournment has been called in a case before the Exchequer Court of Canada to determine the validity of a ruling which may cost Canadian radio stations $200,000 more annually for the use of copyrighted music on their programs.

The many cost canadian radio stations $200,000 more annually for the use of copyrighted music on their programs.

The principals are the Composers, Authors and Publishers Association of Canada, copyright holders on much of the music used on radio programs, and the Maple Leaf Broadcasting Co., operators of station CHML in Hamilton.

The trial, before Mr. Justice J. C. A. Cameron, is a test case to determine validity of a ruling by the copyright appeal board which ordered the stations to pay 1% per cent of their gross revenue to CAPAC for use of music.

PLANS STARTED

Work on the plans has started stand.

Major Foote urged members of the Chamber of Commerce to assist in the housing arrangements for a possible staff of 75 families when the institution is ready for occupation. The superintendent's home would be provided, he said.

The guest speaker was introduced by Dr. J. W. Wright. Eleven new members of the chamber who were chosen for the coming year were:

Bob Cathcart, Eric Fallis, Alex Gilbert, Ivan Gray, Arthur Jefferey, James McMaster, William Moore, Frank North, Delbert Nolan, Douglas Sheppherd and G. A. Spicer. This group will choose their directorate from this number at an early meeting.

The meeting took place in the Sunday School of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and the turkey dinner was served by members of the Women's Auxiliary.

David McIntyre, deputy-reeve by acclamation, said there was a possibility the county rate might be lowered one mill (he is chairman of the county council's finance committee).

DECLINES

Mr. Dawson, who has long been active in township, county, and provincial politics, said he felt every man shuld donate a part of his time to public affairs. His share of time "and a few days more" had already been given, he felt.

Following are the newer of area the department can buy them out.

The land became infested with grubs and was no longer useful for pasture so Mrs. Lila Johnstone who lives on an adjoining farm, sold it to the township for $400.

The department will supply the seedlings, mainly pine, but also spruce on the low land.

"We are trying to reforest a large section of what is now waste land," said Reeve Peter Pearson.

"We started with 100 acres, and we intend to increase it to 1,000 acres in the near future.

"The district is being depleted of timber and much of it is now scrub land, not even good for pasture. This reforestation project will increase the value of the land, give some employment for local residents, and be a crop of some value to the next generation."

So, Monday becomes an annual day of challenge by statute to the municipal suffrage of the people of Peterborough, which in the plainest of phrasing means: vote as you like, but be sure you vote. This is the biggest ballot we have ever had," said City Clerk Outram who is responsible for the details of election lay.

SEPARATE SCHOOL ELECTION.

"For the first time since 1907, we have an election for the Separate School Board, with six of eight nominees to be elected. And, as has been reported, all those nominated for City Council, Board of Education and Utilities Committed the first local municipality to do so in the Trent district, and one of the few in Ontario.

They have purchased 100 acres of waste land on the Church Line, four miles east of the Bobcaygeon-Kinmount highway. And year by year they expect to add to it until dates for the aldermanic board.

Suppose the A-ray unit will move into Knox United Church to do the central zone of the city and will be there until Friday.

X-rays given to people in in-dustries and school students totalled 9,653. The east zone total was 1,1113, south zone 1,633, north zone 25,000 X-rayed.

Special attention was given to food handled in the city Approximately 46 different units, including chain and grocery stores and or estaurants, were approached and more than 400 personnel X-rayed.

The mass survey is being organized by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and sponsored by the moninees is another unusual fact of these elections."

Briefly, there are 12 candidates for the aldermanic board.

Forests Of Ontario Benefit Every Person In Province

An almost endless variety of wood products come from the forests of Ontario. Since 85 per cent of the province's 412,000 square miles is held "in the Crown" and administered by the Department of Lands and Forests, there isn't a person in Ontario who doesn't benefit.

Hundreds of sawmills pour out lumber for a wide variety of uses at home and for export. Lumber goes into the construction of buildings, railway cars, ships and harbor works; boxes and crates trucks, boats and furniture; shingles, lath, bridge and mine timbers, railway ties, telegraph and telephone poles. Some sawmills provide stock for spools and bobone CONCRETE

Wood pulp brings millions of dollars into the provinces. Pulps are of two kinds, mechanical pulp (or groundwood), manufactured by pressing wood blocks against the face of a huge grindstone, and chemical pulp, formed by cooking wood chips in certain chemicals.

Wood pulp in a very refined form is also used in the manufacture of rayon and cellophane. Wood fibre is used extensively in the manufacture of corrugated board and fibre-board for packing cases and in building and insulated.

There was a time, not so long ago, when painting with a roller rather than a brush was looked the results paint rollers are now giving in the hands of both program with ill favor. Some of this feeling has carried over to 1952 and some home owners still look askance at paint rollers.

This is partly due to what they called the "inefficiency" of many of the earliest rollers developed. But the situation—and the rollers whisked on with a roller."

Soap and sudar water will do the trick if you have used a roller with casein-type or latex-base coatings. A roller used in oil-base paints must, of course, be cleaned in a suitable solvent—such as turpentine or mineral spirits.

If you wish to leave your roller-coater cover soaking in a solvent.

Any type of paint coating that does not dry too quickly can be used with a roller. This does not include shellac or lacquer. Flat oil paints, enamels, latex-base paints and the casein types are all among those that can be used successfully.

Rollers come in various makes, types and sizes. The different coverings available for them make it possible to achieve various textured effects.

The simplest type is dipned in tured effects.

The simplest type is dipped in a paint-holding pan made especially for use with rollers. These work. Reorganization is now in ially for use with rollers. These come in widths that range from two to nine inches. Beginners visited this week by the District usually find the seven-inch roller best suited to their use.

A second type is a hollow cylinder that can be filled with a pint of paint, used until its paint supply is exhausted and then refilled. A third and more expensive type it attached by a composering the boys. Such is sive type it attached by a compressed-air feed line to a container holding up to five gallons of paint.

The type of covering material used on the roller determines the textured effect it is possible to obtain. There are, for instance, covers made of carpet-like materials and those of lamb's woof. Others are made of synthetic fibers such as orion or nylon.

When taking time out from a painting project, it is important to take extra good care of your paint roller. To keep them from drying out, wrap your roller and brush in cellophane or tinfoil.

To Quell Riots

PRETORIA (Reuters)—The government plans to seek new powers for dealing with riots and violence arising from resistance to South Africa's racial-segregation laws.

The measures are expected to be similar to those being used in Kenya, British East African colony, against the anti-white Mau Mau terror cult.

Justice Minister Charles Swart said Friday that when Pauliament opens its new session Jan 23 the government will introduce a bill outlining sweeping new powers.

Under the emergency in Kenya, measures to fight the Mau Mau include communal punishment of areas accused of co-operating with the terrorists, mass arrests of suspects and the suspension of the inceties of legal procedure. Swart did not indicate whether he was contemplating punishment of whole communities.)

Reverse Stand On Power Plan, Urge Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Great akes-St. Lawrence Association, oversing its 1950 stand, has asked develop St. Lawrence hydro-electric power.

New York is seeking power commission authority to join with Canada in the power project, originally designed as part of the over-all development of the St. Lawrence seaway. A similar application was rejected by the commission in 1950.

The association, formed primarily to support the seaway, had objected to the power project in 1950 because at that time there was no approved plan for seaway development.

DIFFERENT SITUATION

Now, it noted Friday, the Canadian government has decided to develop the seaway at least as far as Lake Erie whether or not the United States joins in. In addition, it said, New York state has changed its laws to provide for some allocation of electric power to areas outside its borders. The association, asking the right to intervene when the commission conducts a hearing, said it is representing especially the communities of Ogdensburg, Watertown and Massena, N.Y., and Jefferson and St. Lawrence counties in oorthern New York which would get primary benefit of the power output.

Britons All Set To Cheer Passing Of Food Ministry

LONDON (CP)—After nearly 13 uneasy years of rationing, austrity-conscious Britons are all set to cheer the passing of the most unpopular institution of government—the ministry of food.

The celebration may be deferred awhile, but the experts generally agree the giant organization, born of war and scarcity, is heading rapidly towards its unlamented doom. Their guess is that the end will come sometime in 1953.

Government spokesmen, however, are more sealing and possible to the last minister of food?" aked Conservative member Anthony Hurd.

"Hopes—and I am not speaking in any personal sense—must never be translated in to promises," churchill retorted.

FOLLOW THESE SIMPLE RULES

Read the WANT ADS carefully. From them select one full line of type (not just a part of one or more lines) from 3 or more advertisements. Combine the lines into one humorous paragraph. Cut from the paper the ads from which your CHUCKLE AD is composed, circle each line used in these individual ads. Paste or pin the ads on a sheet of paper, number the lines in order used, then write your "CHUCKLE AD" below the clipped ads. Submit as many entries as you wish. Mail or bring entries to The PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER CHUCKLE AD EDITOR. Winners must call at the EXAMINER WANT AD Department for their prizes not later than 3 days after publication of their names.

The knitting included cabled men's socks and children's sweaters with worked-in designs, also beautiffly finished babies' garments and knitted bonnet hats for little girls. There were also nicely made children's cotton dresses, some with a dress for dolly included, and approns and fancy work. Mrs. Donald Worboy was the convener with Mrs. D. F. Hillies, Mrs. Herbert Youngs, Mrs. Fred Darwin, Mrs. B. D. Holloway and Mrs. J. A. McGovarin assisting.

The case from that evidence, and arrive at a verdict.

The considers criminal cases only, but it is not a trial time to the British Garden in Europe. She urged the IODE chapter that justice in Ontario for both men and women should not be limited to the bounds set by the solely male experience and solely male experience and solely male acture of the wholly male jury. It is especially important that those of the few women summoned for jury duty accept our responsibility without regard for personal inconveniences. In jury service we will find both a challenge and an ennobling experience with Mrs. D. B. Holloway and Mrs. J. A. McGovarin assisting.

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a very unhappy woman. After twenty-six years of marriage, my husband is seeing a young woman of 25. I am 53 and he is 46. We have country home and a city house, car, tank account and he has a good position. I have lost him and nothing else seems to matter. He says I drove him away by nagging and because I kept the house tooclean and tidy. I can't help that, as I can't stand an untidy house. Can I ever win' him back? He says he wants to see the house warm and alive—not tidy and rock. Who is right?

I despair of my marriage and wonder if it is worth trying to keep together.

ANSWER: Perhaps there is more than a small clue in your first admission—that you are an old woman. Today a woman' of 53 is anything but old, in fact, women in that age group are foremost in most civic and church activities. Stop thinking of yourself as a "has been" and get into action as a "doer." Your own mental attitude has probably been transmitted to your husband who does regard you as an "old woman." Naturally, the fact that you are seven years older than he will contribute to that feeling, and it is up to you to overcome it.

mother to the child. A few evenings ago the child's mother gave haby shower to another woman, with no thought of my sister who is expecting at the same time. I feel if showers were in order, etiquette alone should have prompted my mother's friend to have one for my sister. Am I right?

A. M.

A. M. +++* ANSWER: You are most certainly right, but perhaps the friend will have a shower for your sister later. Ignoring your sister in the face of other factors involved certainly is a breach of courtesy.

QUESTION: we are having a weuging here in the near tuture ... we would like to know now many chickens we would need for creamed chicken for about 60 people . Mrs. Amos S.

ANSWER: me average boiling fowl of 5 lbs. yields about 2 lbs. of lean meat when cooked, and removed from skin and bonel. This amount will serve 8 people generously when made up into Chicken a la King (see below CHICKEN A LA KING (tor 60 people) kourteen los. lean chicken meat tourteen los lean chicken meat cut into cupes, 1 7-oz. tin pimienoes, drained and caoppea, 2½ tablespoons sait, 1 tablespoon pepper, ½ cup tinely caoppea parsiey, 1 ib. sinced mushrooms, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 quarts white sauce. Saute the mushrooms in the fat slowly for the mushrooms in the fat slowly 10 minutes. Add then with all re-maining ingredients to hot white sauce and heat through over boil-ing water. White Sauce: 14 cups whole milk (or milk and some cream); 1% cups flour, 1% cups butter or margarine. Melt butter, stir in flour until mixture is smooth, then stir in milk until thick. The stirring time will be shortened if milk is hot. Chicken fat may be used for sauteing mushrooms and for part of the fat in the white sauce.
